CARNIVAL on Shrove Tuesday Feb. 27th, do not forget.

Rev. G. R. WHITE will address the Men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday at 3.45.

An interesting short story entitled "A Pupil of Stahlmann" by Ruth Whitney will appear in the special Saturday Guardian of 24th.

CHARLES MASTERS representing Wells, Richardson & Co. is in the city and has been making the tour of the Island in the interest of that firm.

Ever Roberts says "seek your joy in what you give, not in what you get." That Y. M. C. A. mortgage fund needs only $500 to save the building to the young men of this Province. Isn't it worth while for all to try and share in this free will offering gift. Kindly act now, your example will influence others.

JOHN AND MRS. LAMB of Springfield recently celebrated their golden wedding and this hearty congratulations of their friends who assembled to do honor to the occasion and present the venerable couple with a purse of gold containing $50. Mr. Lamb came from Ireland in 1840 and first settled in Fort Augustus, where the condition of the country differed very little from that which confronted the early pioneers. In 1856 Mr. Lamb married Miss Mullin a sister of the late Peter Mullin of Kensington.

THREE Prohibition cases occupied the attention of Stipendiary Magistrate Macdonald yesterday morning. That of Jenkins vs McDougall, in which the defendant was charged with procuring liquor was reserved for decision; James Morgan, on prosecution of Jenkins, was convicted of first offence and fined $100, or 3 months imprisonment and the case against Newberry and Egan was held over pending the analysis of the beer upon the finding of which the prosecution was laid.

A SERVICE in memory of those who fell in the African War will be held in St. James Church on Sabbath morning next. The "veterans" will be present in a body. The officers, non-commissioned officers and men in uniform of the various militia corps of the city are invited to assemble with the veterans in St. James Hall at 10.50 on Sabbath morning. Any who have been in South Africa who may not have uniform will kindly meet with the others, wearing the decoration. As there will be no celebration on "Paardeberg Day" this year it is very fitting that the South Africans should show their respect to the memory of their fallen comrades by a church parade.

H. M. DAVISON, general manager for Prince Edward Island, for Eastmore & Lightbourne, Limited, Toronto, accident and plate glass insurers, has sent The Guardian the firm's Calendar.

A REGRETTABLE accident happened to Mrs. Mary Ann O'Far on Wednesday evening. In rising from her chair she fell breaking her leg. Her age, eighty-six years, makes the accident particularly trying in her case.

The store clerks won the game of Basketball with the P. W. C. last night. The game was fast, throughout and a very little roughness was shown. In many respects the P. W. C. boys showed themselves fully equal to their opponents but missed a number of close shots for goal. The store clerks have won three games now and lost none. The interest in the games increase as the league progresses.

The funeral of the late Gabriella H. Gallant will take place this afternoon from the residence of her brother in law, Adrian Peters, Lower Kent Street, at 2.15 by train to Kinkora.

COME to the "Central" Christian Church tonight and hear Rev. R. Pegram lecture on Wordsworth. Reading and music. Admission 10 cents. All wishing a pleasant evening should come.

WORD has been received from the Phonographic Institute, Cincinnati, O., that Miss Hazel H. Andrew, St. Eleanor and Miss Clara McKinnon, Summerside, have been successful in their examination for shorthand teacher's certificates, and have been awarded same by the institute. Miss Andrew and Miss McKinnon are the first ladies outside of Charlottetown, to be awarded these certificates. They received their shorthand education at the Union Commercial College and of late have been undergoing thorough training in the art of teaching, under the direction of Principal Moran. The results of the examinations, as shown to The Guardian, are certainly a credit to them. There is a large and growing demand for first-class, practical, teachers of shorthand and we have no doubt but that those young ladies will be successful in their profession. Miss Andrew is a daughter of Thomas Andrew, St. Eleanor and Miss McKinnon, a daughter of Capt. D. McKinnon Str. "Brant" The Guardian, in common with their many friends, extends congratulations.

A DECIDEDLY sociable and pleasant atmosphere pervaded St. Paul's School-room last night. There was a generous attendance, which left no unoccupied spaces. The program was carried out very smoothly and much to the pleasure of those present. The different items were so arranged as to relieve the monotony of that monotonous demand for the enjoyment of an audience. The platform speakers were the Rector, Revs. J. Simpson, Fullerton, Sedgwick, Dobson (who spoke for the members of the Ministerial Association) White and Lodge who told of the pleasure which they felt in assisting at the celebration of the opening of the splendid new schoolroom. During the evening a charming little musical program was rendered as follows:

Vocal Solo—Miss Murray.
Vocal Solo—E. H. Mitchell.
Sextette—"The Parting Kiss."
Vocal Solo—Miss Stanway.
Duett—Miss MacDonald and Mr. Bremner.
Chorus—Choir Boys.

After this the excellent good things provided for the comforting of the inner man were discussed with critical appreciation.

On Thursday evening Feb. 23rd, Rev. Fr. Gregory the esteemed pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, Little Pond, delivered a lecture on The Roman Catacombs, in the parish church. Needless to say, coming from such a source, the lecture was of the highest order and from beginning to end held the attention of the audience. In scholarly language, the Reverend lecturer described the Campagna, its formation and underground passages, containing the remains of so many of our early Christians who suffered martyrdom in defence of their glorious faith. A graphic account of the terrible persecutions they underwent, was followed by lucid explanation of the different signs and symbols found in the mural decorations of the Catacombs. A number of photographs, showing different scenes in the Catacombs completed the excellent pen picture. To those who had the privilege of attending the lecture, the history of suffering and sacrifice must certainly prove inspiring and of greater interest in the study of the early Christian Church must of necessity be awakened. At the close of the lecture suitable selections were rendered by the choir. The proceeds are for recent church improvements.

The American students of St. Dunstan's College celebrated right worthily yesterday by a banquet at the Revere Hotel the birthday of George Washington. After the banquet, the students went to the office of the American Consulate where they enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon. The Vice Consul, J. T. Crockett, taking the place of the absent Consul, treated the students in a very generous manner. The afternoon and evening were spent in merry making and song. Mr. Williams of the Bank of New Brunswick spoke of the great benefit St. Dunstan's College is to Prince Edward Island. Donald Nicholson, President of the Board of Trade, gave as his toast the United States. D. O. M. Reddin, C. C. ably dealt with Our Canada. The Vice-Consul paid a worthy tribute to the father of the American Republic. The speeches were responded to by the members of the Columbian Society of St. Dunstan's College, J. E. Quinn, President; D. B. McDonald, Vice President and Leo M. Graham, Secretary and Treasurer. To Vice-Consul Crockett, and the gentlemen associated with him who so generously helped them to celebrate the birthday of the Father of their Country the students expressed their gratitude for another anniversary of the day pleasantly and profitably spent.
