The following is the address: Mr. Fred Duffy, Victoria Hotel, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Dear Fred:

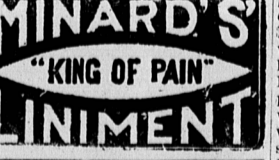

The salutation is informal, but this is an "informal gathering" of guests, management and fellow workers, gathered to bid you farewell and Godspeed, and we know "Fred" means more to all of us than Mr. Duffy.

During your time as head waiter at the Victoria Hotel you have endeared yourself to all who have had the pleasure of meeting you and also to those who have worked with you. Your unfailing courtesy, pleasant sense of humour—plus your willingness to render a song whenever called upon, has made you a favorite among all of us.

In the wider field to which you are about to enter with great success and our good wishes and hopes go with you. We feel you will never forget "The Island" and those friends who have made during your time here.

As a tangible expression of our esteem we ask you to accept this gift with the best wishes of those whose names are appended.

H. While here they visited the New London Cemetery where their parents are sleeping and were proud of how nicely the graves are taken care off. They were guests of their brother Andrew G. ### ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On the evening of the 24th inst. a large number of church members and adherents of the Peter's Road Section of the Murray Harbor North Presbyterian Congregation assembled at the home of Mrs. John M. Johnston, and presented Mr. William K. Batty, Theological Student with an address and purse of money.

A sumptuous repast was spread by the ladies of the Congregation, to which special attention was paid by all present.

The address read by Mr. W. L. McLean was as follows: Dear Brother, Realizing with regret that the eve of your departure from the Congregation of Murray Harbor North and Peter's Road is at hand we, the members and adherents of the Peter's Road Section take this opportunity of expressing our deep regret that in the course of events it seems necessary for you to leave us. But there is a guiding star in the life of every person, whose course we must follow if we would achieve the best in life.

Since you came into our midst to minister unto us in spiritual things, you have endeared yourself to all, both young and old, by your faithful preaching of the "Word."

Your kind visitations throughout the Congregation, and your readiness to acquiesce in everything pertaining to the welfare of the people.

Be assured that we have valued and shall not forget your ministry here, which we believe has resulted in much good.

Wishing you a successful career in your "Holy calling," we would welcome you at some opportune time to honor us with your presence.

In conclusion as a slight token of appreciation, please accept this gift on behalf of the Peter's Road Section of the Congregation.

Mr. Batty in reply thanked the donors for their kind consideration on his behalf, and reviewed the work in the Congregation for the past four months.

He commended the people for the good feeling exemplified, and for the hearty co-operation with him in spiritual matters.

He endeavored to preach, not with the enticing words of man's wisdom but in demonstration and power of the Spirit, and sought most of all to exalt Christ even to the lessening of the human instrumentality.

He hoped at some future time to again visit the people of Murray Harbor North and Peter's Road, and urged them to cherish high ideals in the Christian life.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Johnston and family for the use of the spacious rooms required for the reception.

Mr. Neil B. Johnston being called on made some very complimentary remarks on the occasion.

After prayer by Mr. Batty the reception was brought to a close by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."—Corr.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS AMELIA PEARL CREED.

On August 5th, 1925, at the Detroit Sanitarium, there passed away, very peacefully, Amelia Pearl Creed, at the early age of 31. She was a beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Creed of Albion, P. E. I. Her death came as a terrible loss to her parents and friends but to dear Pearl it was a blessed relief after about fourteen months of untold pain and suffering. She had been operated on for appendicitis on June 7th, 1924, and shortly after took an abscess on her lung. She stayed with her sister, Mrs. Conrad before she passed to the Great Beyond where there is no more pain or suffering.

All that loving hands and medical skill could do was done, but all in vain, for when God's call came she was happy to go and resigned to his Holy Will, knowing that God knew what was best. While living she served God and He was her strength and comfort during her long illness. Through all her suffering she kept cheerful trying to uplift those about her.

The funeral was from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Conrad at 2330 Clements Ave., Friday at 2 p. m. Interment at Grand Lawn Cemetery. Her flowers were numerous beyond description.

Mr. Matthews sang (at her request) at her funeral, "There'll be no Dark Valley When Jesus Comes" and "The Glorious City." She leaves to mourn a heart-broken father and mother, besides five sisters and two brothers, namely E. Victor, Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Helen Spencer, Royal Oak, Mich.; James H. of Albion, P. E. I.; Mrs. Clara B. Irwin, Royal Oak, Mich.; Mrs. Mary J. Conrad, Detroit, Michigan; Lily T. of Albion, P. E. I., and A. Laura, Detroit, Michigan.

Dearest Pearl, thou hast left us And your loss we cannot tell, But we know that up in Heaven Jesus doeth all things well. (Patriot Please Copy.)

Place Names Of Prince Edward Island

Conway; inlet and river, lot 12. Also Conway settlement with post office, lot 11. Conway inlet and cove on Holland, 1765. After Field Marshal the Rt. Hon. Henry Seymour Conway, secretary of state 1765-66. The Micmac name of the inlet is Chochek-chiboocheech.

Corrwall; settlement with post office, lot 32. A post office in 1855.

Corranban; settlement, lot 35. The name goes back to 1772 or 1773, when the place was settled by Scottish Highlanders. Corranban is Gaelic for "white sickle" and refers to the appearance of the froch covered shore line in the fall of the year. We read in April 1831, "that a bridge over the Ferry called Corran Ban at the confluence of the Winter river with Tracadie bay is a most desirable and necessary object."

Corraville; settlement, lot 35. County Line; railway station, lot 67.

Courtin; island and shoal, Malpeque bay. Not Curtain of modern maps nor Little Bunbury. Speaking of the islands in the bay, de la Roque says: "To the west-south-west of the Ile aux Sauvages (Bunbury) lies a second isle, which had been granted to the late monieur Courtin, priest and missionary to the Indians from which fact it bears the name of Ile a Monsieur Courtin" (Canadian Archives reports for 1905 Vol. II, p. 150). The Abbe Courtin, a priest of the "Missions Etrangeres" of Paris was sent from France to Quebec in 1723. The following year he proceeded to Louisbourg to assist Antoine Gaultin who taught him Micmac. He returned to France in 1730, coming back in 1731 and wintering at Malpeque bay, where he ministered to the Indians after Gaultin's departure. He was drowned on the way to Louisbourg according to a letter written by Leonard de Mesy June 30, 1732.

Cousins; pond, lot 20. John Cousins came to the island in 1780, moving to lot 20 before 1798, the census in which year shows him a settler on the lot.

Covehead; bay, lots 33 and 34. Also settlement, lot 34. Petit Raccot de la Riviere, 1762, Harrington bay, with Petit Raccot as a secondary name on Holland may 1765. Refer to Harrington settlement and Rustico bay. There was a post office named Covehead in 1855. A plan 1811, shows "road from Cove Head." The bay was settled in 1770 and 1790. The name seems to have been applied first to describe a settlement at the "head of the cove" or bay.

Cow; creek lots 42 and 43. Lake, 1863.

Crapaud; roadstead and settlement with post office, lot 29. A plan of Crapaud road, surveyed by Bayfield, 1842, was published in 1850. The name applies to the anchorage off the mouth of Brocklesby river and between the eastern part of Tryon shoals and the land. The settlement name was in use 1864. The name Crapaud which means "frog" comes from the French name of Brocklesby river—riviere aux Crapauds. Brocklesby cove on Holland, 1765. Westmorland harbour in "Prince Edward Island Register," 1826.

Crapaud Corner is also a settlement. In 1767 lot 29 fell by ballot to Admiral Sir Charles Saunders (1717-75), commander in chief of the fleet which cooperated with Wolfe in the siege of Quebec. The lot came to the Westmorland family by the marriage of John Fane (1759-1841), 10th earl of Westmorland, who in 1800 married Jane, daughter of R. Huck Saunders, M. D., a military surgeon, who was granted a portion of lot 53 in 1767 and Jane, niece and heiress of Sir Charles Saunders. The doctor's other child, Anne, married in 1796 Robert Dundas, second Viscount Melville a family also associated with the island. Compare Lady Fane school district and Westmorland school district, also South Melville settlement.

Crawford; point, lot 53. Chart 1850.

Creed; point Livingston bay, lot 59. After Wm. Creed, whose name appears as a settler in lot 59 in a return dated July 21, 1789, Chart, 1850. Ellis Creed, of Sturgeon, lot 61 states that Benjamin Creed was the first settler on the point. He came from Ireland.

Creed; point, mouth of Kildare creek, lot 4.

Crooked; river, lot 44, plan, 1832. This is a small stream.

Crooked; creek, lot 24. Meacham, 1880.

Crosby; point, lot 32. Census, 1798, shows Wm. Crosby settler.

Cross; creek, Ellis river, lot 14. The source of this creek is near Arlington on chart, 1850, and on Wright and Cundall, 1874. Meacham applies the name Hill to this creek and applies the name Cross river to Macdonald creek rising near MacDougall both streams flowing into Ellis river at the same place. Meacham shows Cross River post office on Macdonald creek. An early plan, undated, applies the name Cross river to both Cross creek and Macdonald creek. Also Cross River settlement, Wright and Cundall, 1874. Hereabouts 1775 and 1794 maps show Ellensborough.

Crossman; creek, lot 17. Crossman, 1880.
