Adriatic Question

(Special to The Guardian.)
 LONDON, Dec. 5.—An agreement which it is hoped will solve the Adriatic question has been prepared in Paris by the British, French and American peace representatives for submission to Italy, according to private despatches today.

Italian regulars will occupy farms and territory included in the treaty, and London signed in 1915 by representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy and Russia, according to a Rome despatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. Captain Gabrielle D'Annunzio's volunteers will withdraw from Fiume, it is said, under the terms of an agreement reached as a result of the negotiations between London and Paris.

Rebellious Outbreaks in Italy.
 Paris, Dec. 5.—The disorders at various places in Italy have assumed revolutionary aspects according to despatches received here. During a demonstration at Turin Lt. Col. Rossi was seriously stabbed in the back and 15 other persons were injured.

NATIONAL COSTUME IN FRANCE TO COMBAT THE H. C. L.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—"The National costume," for men manufactured by the Government to combat the appearance of clothing made its appearance on the Paris boulevards on December 1, as promised by the authorities. The suit is not such as to draw the attention of promenaders either by its elegance or its shabbiness and but for a little strip of linen inside the coat marked "national garment" one would never know that the suit had anything different from others daily turned out of the so-called fashionable tailoring houses.

Wearers of the suits, however, seemed proud to exhibit the inside of the coat to friends and strangers in the cafes and theatre lobbies. There is one thing alone in which the national garment differs from others, and that is the price, as the suits sell for 110 francs. Andre de Fouquieres, the well known literary light, has not yet appeared in his, although it is reported he bought one on December 1, when they appeared on the market.
