Island Hospitals Take High Standing

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The fifth annual announcement of the Approved Hospitals of the United States and Canada was made this morning at the Hospital Conference of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons here in session at the Congress Hotel by Franklin H. Martin, M. D., Director General.

In making this official announcement Doctor Martin highly complimented the hospitals of both countries which had taken the steps laid down by the College as necessary to merit such well-marked recognition "By your action," he said, "you have pledged yourselves to see that the best care possible is given to the patients in your hospital."

The report is based on a detailed survey made by experts through a personal investigation of all general hospitals of fifty beds and over in the United States and Canada. This investigation is made for the purpose of appraising the service rendered the patient, based on the definite requirements set forth in the Minimum Standard. 1785 hospitals with a bed capacity of 237,946 were included in the survey this year. Of the group 1176 or 65.9 per cent for both countries met the standard. In the province of Prince Edward Island the following hospitals, 3 in number, on 100 percent merit a place on the Approved List.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND
50 to 100 beds

Charlottetown Hospital, Charlottetown.
*Prince County Hospital, Summerside.
Prince Edward Island Hospital, Charlottetown.

The asterisk indicates that certain hospitals have accepted the requirements which result in the best scientific care of patients but have not yet, for lack of time or other acceptable reasons, carried them out in every detail.

General hospitals of fifty beds and over on the approved list have met the Minimum Standard, which includes the following requirements: proper professional organization; satisfactory medical case records; adequate laboratory and X-ray facilities; and the enforcemen of a ruling which prevents certain surgeons who carry on the pernicious and inhuman practice of fee-splitting from operating within the hospital.

M. T. McEachern, M. D., in charge of hospital activities for the College, in addressing the hospital meeting today said: "This is the greatest hospital movement the world has ever seen or perhaps ever will see. It strikes right at the root of things that have a vital bearing on human life. It is a movement destined to lesson the number of days stay of patients in the hospital through better service—to reduce complications and infections to a minimum through better supervision—to lessen the incompetent and unnecessary surgery through better diagnostic facilities, more consultations, and closer check-up—and, finally greatest of all to lessen the hospital death rate. These things are noticeable in standardized hospitals. What a great thing it is to industry to realize that the stay of the industrial patient in the hospital can be reduced one or two days for each individual. What a great comfort it is to a person obliged to go to the hospital to know that his case can be more thoroughly and accurately studied and not infrequently an operation avoided, or done with Maximum safeety.

How gratifying is is to realize that in the highly standardized hospital the former usual death rate of forty, fifty, or even sixty per thousand patients can be reduced to thirty, twenty, or even less, under the influence of this program. There is not a hospital on this continent than can turn a deaf ear in the future to the movement. It is entirely in humanity's interest.

Defective Vision In Public Schools

Statistics recently compiled show that an average of 25 per cent of the school children in the United States have defective vision. The principal eye defects, according to authorities, are hypermetropia (far-sightedness), myopia (near-sightedness) and astigmatism.

Defective vision, chiefly myopia, is found to a large extent among older children in schools, as it is progressive. Near-sightedness is the most prevalent eye affliction, beginning primarily from congenital astigmatism and the subsequent strain upon the accommodation of the eye in an effort to see.

Another great asset to the Maritimes will be the tourist trade and now is the time to prepare for this he declared. Rotarian Jas. A. Robertson presided yesterday, the guests present being Messrs. Nelson Rattenbury, Fred Morris, Charlottetown and A. Milligan, Halifax. The musical programme included a solo by Mrs. Frances Trainor, who was heartily encored. Rotarian C. H. Land Sale At Emerald

To Commissioner—The lot is about a mile from Emerald. I cannot say who owns the land the lot was on.

There was a point argued that Mr. Mitchell should be represented by Counsel. Mr. G. S. Inman, K. C., claimed he should be cabled, to give him at least a week to obtain counsel It seemed to him the investigation developed into a case showing the grossest fraud.

Mr. John Mollison (sworn): I live at Summerside. Am land surveyor. I made a survey of land near Emerald some weeks ago—in August. I was out twice but it was the same thing. I understood I was surveying the lands of Wm. Mayne, Geo. Mayne and Peter Sinclair. The land was in Queens and Prince Counties. Between 500 and 600 acres were involved. Land was laid off in four acre (rectangular) lots; (plan produced and described by witness). I delivered the plan to Mr. Wm. Mayne and he issued a check. Mr. A. F Mitchell and Capt Dudley met me at Mr. Maynes I understood it was Mr. Mitchell who was employing me to make the survey. In August of this year, Mr. Mitchell gave me to understand whatever the surveying cost it would be paid. Capt Dudley and Mr. Mitchell were together the first time.

To Atty. Gen.—The plan from London was altogether wrong. It could not have been prepared on the ground.

To Mr. Gaudet—Hon. John E. Sinclair furnished me with the English plan. I think I saw the same plan with Mr. Mitchell—or one similar.

Maynard Schurman (sworn): I built a cottage on the land surveyed by Mr. Mollison. Finished it two weeks ago. (Witness described house and gave a description of the bungalow. The work was done by contract. Mr. Mitchell first negotiated with witness, the early part of August about the work. He asked to have a plan made. He didn't wait for the price but asked the rest of the business to be completed by Harry C. Thompson and Captain Dudley. They were in office of witness on August 7th. The plans and price were submitted to these officers by correspondence—(Mr. Schurman quoted from his correspondence). They accepted the offer. The price was $1075 with $6.50 additional for extra window. Capt. Dudley wrote the letter of acceptance, dated August 25th, Queen Hotel, Summerside. The work was then proceeded with. Mr Thompson paid on different installments. The whole amount is now paid. The last payment was made by cheque on October 19th.

Witness had a cable from Mr. Mitchell dated Sept. 20th, asking witness to commence construction of second house at Emerald at once, and stating that all payments would be made. Mr. Mitchell had previously told him that a number of houses would be built.

Norris Sinclair, (sworn) Springfield testified that his farm was not included in Mr. Mollison's survey. He had nothing to do with Mr. Mitchell.

Peter Sinclair, testified to having negotiations with Mr. Mitchell as to the sale of his land on January last. He met him at witness' house with Hon. J. E. Sinclair. Mitchell said he was trying to secure land to establish a colony of retired army officers from India. He wanted a block of land about 500 or 600 acres. Witness gave Mitchell an option on his property, including the farm buildings, reserving only a five or six acres for himself. The option was for twelve months. The purchase price was stipulated at $100 an acre. Witness did not know if anyone else was associated with Mitchell in the transaction. He had received no payment.

W. H. Mayne and George Mayne also testified that they had given options on their land to Mr. Mitchell for the purpose of building an immigration colony. They understood the Anglo Indian immigrant were to be men of considerable means, who might take up fur farming or vegetable gardening in a small way, more as a hobby than anything else. There had been no money received.

Mr. Inman objected to the questions appertaining to Mr. Mitchell's business transactions with witnesses.

Adjournment until Nov. 4th was made in order to have Capts. Duthie and Butler present and to give Mr Mitchell the privilege of retaining counsel if he so desired.

It is understood that Mr. Mitchell is in England.

Fishermen's Union

The movement to establish an association, to be known as the Fisherman's Union of Prince Edward Island, is gradually gaining strength and laying the foundation of a powerful organization. At the initial meeting held at Tignish during the latter part of July an Organization Committee was appointed composed of Messrs Cletus Gavin, Joseph A. Arsenault, Charles Gavin, James Bernard, Henry Doyle, Thomas Myers and Richard Mosher. This Committee, under the direction and with the assistance of Mr. C. P. McCarthy Barrister, of Tignish drew up a Constitution and code of regulations for the government of the association to be submitted to the fishermen for their consideration, at a future date. Meetings have been held at Alberton, Palmer Road, Miminigash to date and organizing committees appointed. Those meetings will be continued throughout the fall and winter at different places until the fishing centres all over the Province have been organized. The objects of the Union as set forth in the preamble to the constitution are as follows:

1. To procure information as to the best methods of curing and preparing fish for market, the transportation and marketing of fish and fish products, and the purchasing of fishing material and supplies upon a co-operation basis at wholesale prices.

2. To take united action upon all matters in respect to the welfare of the fishermen and the regulation of the fisheries and to make representations and furnish information to the proper authorities upon all matters pertaining to same.

3. To take such action in respect to the protection of the fisheries, and particularly the lobster fishing, as shall enable the Government to dispense with the services of fishery protective officers and patrol service in connection with same.

4. To improve and elevate the material, intellectual and social welfare of its members.

The development of the live lobster business and the new regulations for the standard equipment of canneries, which must eventually eliminate the small packer as a competitive factor, have given rise to an entirely new condition of affairs in the lobster business and render the necessity of a Union or Co-operative Association amongst the fishermen most imperative. The meeting to be held at Tignish on Saturday 27th inst, will be addressed by Mr. S. T. Gallant, Inspector of Fisheries, and other speakers. All fishermen are urgently requested to attend.

The bridal couple, attended by Mr. and Mrs. John Norton, stood under a pretty arch of Maple leaves while Rev. E. Aitken performed the marriage ceremony. Miss Underhay presided at the organ, and sang the bridal hymn. "The voice that breathed o'er Eden." The bride, who is one of Annandale's fairest daughters, looked charming in a dress of Jap blue, crepe-de-chine. The bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. W.H. Underhay of Bay Fortune, and is a progressive young farmer of that place. We wish the young couple many years of happiness together.— Patriot Please Copy.

Greater Co-operation in all matters of vital interest to the Provinces, was the petition of Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec, in his address to the Canadian Good Roads Association, which has just closed its Interprovincial conference at Quebec City. The Association, he claimed, has lead the way to bringing the sister provinces into closer relationship, understanding and discussion of differences of laws and customs of the provinces. He mentioned succession duties and competitive bonusing of companies as matters of interprovincial concern on which confirmity of legislation in action was desirable.

Seven Canadian provinces were represented at the conference, four by their Prime Ministers, and the others by cabinet ministers. A banquet was given on the night preceding the session by Hon. J. L. Perron, Minister of Roads for Quebec, to the delegates, who were welcomed by the Province Premier. Assurances of a desire to reflect the spirit of the Quebec Leader's appeal were expressed on behalf of their provinces by Premier G. Howard Ferguson, of Ontario, Premier J. D. Stewart of Prince Edward Island, and Premier P. J. Veniot of New Brunswick.

As a result of the conference, definite decisions were reached on several important points, while others, after being considered from several viewpoints, were left for fuller study by a committee composed of the members of the highways departments of all the provinces. The committee will meet at the call of the Good Roads Association for the purpose of harmonizing road and vehicular legislation as far as may be possible.

Traffic control, lights, tourists' camps, speed, reduction of fatalities, compilation of historical data in regard to highway development are among the many items coming under the scope of the committee.

While fully cognizant of the value of through roads, the conference again expressed itself in favor of building highways where they would best serve the local and interprovincial interests of the public, and of using a type of construction best suited to the traffic to be carried. In this connection, opposition was reiterated to the promotion at present of a trans-Canada highway, and the opinion was expressed that such a highway cannot possibly be considered a practical question at this time.

Rising costs of construction and maintenance of roads led to the intimation on the part of various Government representatives that further levies on highway traffic would be necessary and concurrence was expressed in the suggestion that a tax on gasoline consumed in motor cars would be the fairest method of raising increased revenue, as being a metered tax.

Following the conclusion of the business session of the conference, the visiting premiers and officials were the guests of the Quebec Rotary Club at luncheon, and were later taken to view various interesting and historic portions of the Ancient Capital.
