Indian Warrior Dies At 94

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask., April 7.—Death of Basil Favel, 94 year old Cree Indian of Poundmaker's reserve near here, became known here today, and with his death passed a colorful link with native Canada of a century ago. A mighty warrior in his day, Favel roamed the prairies from the Red River in Manitoba to the Rocky Mountains. He was born in 1843 on the banks of the Red River, not far from where Winnipeg is now situated.

Privy Council And Dominions Status

LONDON, April 7.—The diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Herald, commenting today on Monday's constitutional debate in the Canadian House of Commons, says: "What disturbs Canadian opinion is not merely the bar against Dominion legislation on social matters. It is that in a number of recent judgments the Privy Council has tended to change the whole character of the constitution by interpretations which increase the powers of the provinces and restrict those of the Dominion."

On Monday the House of Commons at Ottawa debated the recent judgments whereby the Privy Council found ultra vires a number of the reform measures passed during the last Bennett Administration.

Scottish Bank Clerks To Strike

LONDON, April 7.—(CP-Havas)—New recruits joined Britain's potential strikers tonight as clerks in Scottish banks voted to walkout unless their demands for increased wages and union contracts were met.

The guild of English and Welsh bank employees discussed the possibility of solidarity strikes in support of their Scottish co-workers at a meeting Sunday. The minister of labor is expected to intervene in the dispute.

Meanwhile M. A. Wall, secretary of the London Trades Council, notified hotel and restaurant proprietors of the minimum wages that would be demanded of them during the crowded weeks of the coronation ceremonies.

These include a $4-a-day scale for waiters, kitchen help and other "temporary workers," and $230-a-day for porters and elevator boys.

Strikes continued to balk the rearmament program as hundreds of shipyard apprentices in Glasgow joined the thousands of shipyard workers already on strike.

GIVES KIND WORD FOR CHORUS GIRL

NEW YORK, April 7.—(CP)—The average 1937 chorus girl is no flibbertigibbet headline hunter, but a young woman who works for her money and has seen the inside of the "stage-door Johnnies" according to Mrs. Dorothy Bryant, executive secretary of the Chorus Equity Association.

As guardian of the working conditions for those who are allegedly responsible for the presence of rows of nude pates in Broadway theatres, Mrs. Bryant in an interview destroyed some popular notions about her charges.

"I think that 90 per cent of what people think of chorus girls is the result of press agents," she said. "It's easy to believe. You can't make a very good story about Jennie Doakes working hard and living quietly."

"There are few orchid-toting girls who wear mink coats, have Park Avenue penthouses and have just been out with a pal of a gangster. As a class, I think the chorus girls have had unfair publicity because you can find exceptions among any group, signorinas, trained nurses or office workers."

"Most of the girls take their work seriously, and work hard. These huge salaries are something I never knew about. The minimum for a chorus girl in New York is $30 a week, and on the show, $35. For a first-rate musical show on Broadway a girl gets $40."

Radio Censorship Firmly Upheld

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, April 7.—Censorship exercised by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation on religious addresses containing attacks upon other religions, and all other offensive forms of broadcastings, will continue and is in complete accord with the radio act, Transport Minister Howe told the House of Commons tonight.

The minister was replying to protests launched by Hon. J. Earl Lawson (Cons. York South) against deletions made by the corporation from an address prepared by Rev. Morrice Zeldman of Toronto.

Mr. Lawson also referred to refusal of the corporation to permit an address on "voluntary sterilization of the feeble minded," prepared by Dr. J. T. Hutton, medical health officer of Brantford. He could not understand why such addresses could not go on the radio when they were printed in the newspapers.

Potatoes In Daily Menu

The potato is pre-eminent among the vegetables used for food. Not only does it furnish considerable nutriment but supplies it in an easily digestible form, because the starch in potatoes is more readily digested than the starch of some other starch-producing foods. The mineral contained in potatoes is relatively larger in proportion to other foods. The potato contains vitamins A, B, C, and G and modern science has shown that it is less fattening than many of the ordinarily used foods. However, the potato is somewhat deficient in protein and fats and should not be used exclusively in the diet but should be combined with lean meat, eggs, or other protein or fat-supplying food.

The best way to cook a potato is to bake, boil, or steam it in its jacket, because much of the protein and mineral matter lies directly under the skin. A potato quickly boiled is a potato quickly spoiled. The following are recipes with potatoes as an ingredient: Cream of Potato Soup: 1 to 2 cups chopped, cooked, boiled or steamed potatoes, 2 cups potato water, 3 cups hot milk, 1-2 oz. butter, 1-2 oz. flour, 1 small onion chopped finely, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, salt and pepper to taste.

Place potatoes in a saucepan. Add potato water and chopped onion and parsley. Cover and simmer for 20 minutes. Melt butter in another pan, stir in flour, oil the heat, and when flour is smooth, stir in hot milk by degrees. Return to heat and stir till boiling. Add the potato broth which may be whisked or sieved. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add parsley. Enough for 5 to 6 persons.

Potato Fish Pie: 3 cups hot mashed potatoes, 3 cups left-over baked, boiled or steamed fish, 1-2 pint white sauce, well seasoned; 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley. Flake the fish into the sauce. Add parsley. Pour the fish with the sauce into buttered fireproof dish. Cover with the potato. Ornament with a fork. Sprinkle with melted butter. Bake in moderate oven (400 degrees F.) until brown on top and well-heated through. Enough for 6 persons.
