AIR MAIL—In yesterday's issue an article appeared in regard to the new air mail service between Montreal, Quebec City, Moncton and Saint John, which will be inaugurated on Monday next, the 8th instant and the Post Office Department has also given the information to the press that this is to be one link in a proposed extended all-Canadian Air Mail Service, which will stretch from coast to coast. For the present it is expected that the air routes will reach as far as Calgary, Alberta, because there are difficulties to contend with in extending the route over the Rockies, but it is anticipated that a gain of two days will be made in the delivery of letter mail in Calgary and points west. It is therefore to be hoped that the people of this Province will take full advantage of this Air Mail Service when the connecting links are authorized and put in operation.

TUBERCULOSIS DIAGNOSTIC CLINICS

A consideration of the problems growing out of tuberculosis is definitely encouraging and should be sufficient stimulus for greater effort. Encouragement comes from the fact that while this disease continues to take a heavy toll of human lives—over 7,800 in Canada during 1928—it has been conquered to a considerable extent, and year by year its ravages are being lessened. A resolve to persevere, and determination to make a greater effort have come as the result of seeing that past and present efforts have been and are effective, and that the only limit to their effectiveness has been the extent to which the work done has been limited. While it is true that many factors have indirectly contributed to the reduction which has occurred in tuberculosis, it is equally true that the greatest reductions have taken place, one might almost say, in direct proportion to the extent of the anti-tuberculosis campaign.

More and more attention is being focused on the need for early diagnosis. In order to ensure a fair chance for recovery, treatment must be started in the early stages of the disease. In order to control and prevent the spread of tuberculosis, it is necessary that cases be recognized early and that patients be educated and trained so that they will not pass on the infection to others. To attain these two desirable aims, it is necessary that early diagnosis be made. This fact has been recognized, and scattered across Canada, are centres where examinations are made and the disease detected in its early stages. This is desirable not only for the case, but for the public; because it means control of the spread of the disease and public protection. These diagnostic clinics are maintained by some Provincial Governments and by the tuberculosis sanatoria. Like everything else of that type, the clinics cost money to equip and maintain. A reasonable opportunity to assist the sanatoria in this work is provided through the Christmas Seal sale, which is commended to our readers.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letters.

'O CANADA' SUNG IN FRENCH

TORONTO Dec 6—About 250 members of the Canadian Literature Club of Toronto rose to their feet when the President, John W. Garvin, asked them to sing in French the first stanza of Hon. Judge Routhier's "O Canada," at a meeting of the club in Casle Memorial Hall last night. Mr. Garvin has a pleasing voice.

Before he sang, he informed the audience, the majority of whom were ladies, that the chant embodied noble sentiments, and that it would be ideal if it were sung in the language of its author.

"There may be a few of you who do not know French," he said, "but if four lusty singers will lead the way, the rest will follow," and Mr. Garvin lifted up his voice, and it rose to the raftered ceiling of the hall, and waited for the arrival of the others, which came not.

"We shall now sing the English translation," he requested, and 250 voices accepted the challenge.

Lady Willison read extracts from the works of the late Mrs. Isabel McKay, including the poems, "Love Is Like a Rose" and "The Wood Voice," lyric touched with sweetness and tenderness.

Just the Thing For Christmas

Giving is a pleasure. But as Christmas after Christmas rolls by it becomes more of a problem to make gift selections. It seems as if every one has everything. However, it is quite easy to select gifts which are unusual. Yet practical, and just what people want.

Christmas Time is Coleman Time.
