

The Paper That Covers Prince Edward Island
Like The Dew

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

The People's Paper Read by Everybody

All The News
Worth While Printing
All The Ads.
Worth Reading

Charlottetown, Founded, Three Cent.
Morning Guardian, 1857.

CHARLOTTETOWN, CANADA THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1921

Annual Subscription, delivered $5.00.
By Mail, Canada, $3.00. U. S. $4.50.

Immense Stores Of War Stocks

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Nov. 16.—Surplus war stocks valued at 675,000,000 pounds sterling have been disposed of by the government since the armistice. Practically the only stocks still awaiting disposal are in Egypt.

Saskatchewan to Float $3,000,000 Debentures

(Special to The Guardian.)
REGINA, Nov. 16.—The Saskatchewan government is offering a loan of $3,000,000, tenders for which will close here at noon Friday. The issue which will be twenty-five year debentures will bear five and a half per cent payable in Canada or New York, with an alternative of six per cent payable in Canada only.

BEER CAN BE BREWED HOME

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—Legal authorities at the Ontario parliament buildings confirm an announcement made today by the collector of inland revenue, that it is legal for a citizen upon notifying the department to brew beer upon his own premises. There is nothing in the inland revenue act, the Ontario Temperance Act, or the Scott Act to prohibit the manufacture of beer for home consumption. According to explanation advanced today the inland revenue act is a law solely to protect the revenue sources of the government.

CONDENSED SPECIALS

WANTED, PARSNIPS, CARROTS, beets. R. E. Mutch & Co.

WANTED—MAID FOR GENERAL housework. Apply 29 Fitzroy St.

WANTED—Show case. Apply Guardian office.

WANTED—An experienced maid, general housework in small family. Apply 146 Pownall Street.

HORSE FOR HIRE FOR WINTER months. Sound, steady, quiet animal. Apply Guardian office.

WANTED—Maid for general housework. Country girl preferred. Apply 49 Orlebar St.

WANTED—SIX NEWLY FRESH eggs. Write or phone at once H. Guernsey, Victoria Hotel.

SCHOOL SECRETARIES. Have you got the new map of P. E. I. Get it now before they all go. For sale at the School Supply.

AUCTION SALE—THERE will be an auction sale of standing fire wood and lumber on the premises of John A. McDougall, Canoe Cove, Saturday, November 19th at 1 o'clock p. m.

STRAYED—Has been on my premises since last June 1 black and white heifer with mark on right ear. If not claimed before the 21st of November will be sold to pay expenses. James J. McInnis, Ashton, P. E. I.

WILL SELL CHEAP or exchange for driving horse, a cart mare. If not sold privately will be auctioned on Market Square Friday at noon. Phone 777 or write P. O. Box 486.

THE MONTREAL FUR REMODELING CO. have all the latest and quickest methods of Remodeling, Cleaning and Dyeing and Repairing Furs that is sure to give satisfaction. Also a number of ready-made electric seal (No. 1) coats will sell at wholesale prices, trimmed with Beaver and Fox. We specialize in made-to-order fur coats for men and women. Twenty-six years experience gives us confidence in asking for your business. The Montreal Fur Remodeling Co., Riley Building, Queen St. Phone 924. Open evenings.

SALESMEN—THE AMERICAN Art Works, Coshocton, Ohio pioneers and leaders in specialties, the fastest growing branch of the whole field of advertising, have attractive openings for high grade, experienced salesmen. We manufacture and control exclusively complete line of copyrighted art calendars, commercial calendars, monthly advertising service and a wide range of quick-selling specialties in celluloid, leather and paper. The extensive scope of our three lines of sales volume the full year around. Liberal commissions, weekly remittances; look up our rating in Dun or Bradstreet, and write us direct, giving age, experience and references first to letter. The American Art Works, Coshocton, Ohio.

Japanese Opinion On Disarmament

Opinion Prevails That Japanese Navy Should Equal That of Either United States or Great Britain.

(Special to The Guardian.)
TOKYO, Nov. 16.—Although Japan has accepted the American naval disarmament plan in principle, the never feel safe until the United States and Great Britain grant enthusiastic in their approval of theirs. The proposal to limit to 10,000 tons ships against eighteen, puts us both the foreign and navy offices, and you will find that many have the same level as Japan.

NOTABLE QUEBEC APPRECIATION OF PREMIER

Mr. Active Catholic, an independent paper of Quebec of Nov. 9th, 1921, has the following fine appreciation of Premier Meighen on the occasion of his recent visit to the province. The paper is full of praise for the success that crowned their efforts, for the outcome far surpassed their highest expectations, and it was all due to him who was the hero of the demonstration, Honorable Mr. Meighen.

Close upon eight thousand people had invaded the hall, when the Prime Minister made his appearance, accompanied by his wife and a large number of his followers. The band from the garrison played "God Save the King" amidst the applause that greeted their entrance. Mr. Laliberté of Atholville was the first speaker, and during his speech Mr. Meighen leisurely studied the audience.

When the Prime Minister rose to speak, he was received with courtesy by the entire multitude, and with warm applause on the part of his political friends.

This thoughtful consideration continued throughout his whole discourse. There were, it is true, occasional interruptions, but they were only questions politely put, and which he met without any sign of impatience. Indeed, he seemed glad of them, for to them is due a large measure of the success of his discourse.

Mr. Meighen is not what one might call a popular orator. He is a dialectician of wonderful brain power, who reasons his way along, with the logic of a true master. His voice is far-reaching and in certain places reminds one of Henry Bourassa's but his notes are softer and deeper, his language clearer, with an even an appeal to the flowers of rhetoric. What he has to say, he says clearly, and on occasions underlines his words with a gesture that adds to their energy.

As he began his address in French, and thereby created an excellent impression. He speaks the language much more readily and with a far better accent than did Sir L. Borden on a similar occasion in Quebec.

As we have stated above, his style is clear and his pronunciation faultless, and these qualities never fail to appeal to a crowd, and while his language in English his wit is purely Celtic. This was particularly evident in his manner of treating the interruptions levelled at him from time to time during his discourse and this is how his interrogators contributed to his great success. Scarcely was the question put when the answer was given clear, precise, brief and excessively plausible, so that indeed, with the energy of profound conviction, but always courteous and sincere.

The speaker himself did not fail to realize the effect produced by his apt answers, nor was he slow to appreciate the volume of real sympathy he thus acquired, and content of his strength, in this regard he seemed to court interruptions, that served only to bring forth into the limelight, the best that was in him.

In referring to the marine he mentioned his remarks to the Merchant Marine, and entered not into the question of naval affairs, and when from the audience there came a reference to his last journey to England, he was able to side-step the question with consummate cleverness. Thanks to these inter-ruptions he was able to do this, to deliver an address full of life and originality to which the audience listened not only without fatigue, but rather with pleasure and interest that went on increasing to the end. Had he been permitted to make his speech without these interruptions it would have been far less interesting and its effect would have been small compared to the reality.

Another thing that contributed to Mr. Meighen's success is what we may call his "action under fire" productive industrial work rather than a man, who courts the destructive side.

When the Prime Minister rose to speak, he was received with courtesy by the entire multitude, and with warm applause on the part of his political friends.

This thoughtful consideration continued throughout his whole discourse. There were, it is true, occasional interruptions, but they were only questions politely put, and which he met without any sign of impatience. Indeed, he seemed glad of them, for to them is due a large measure of the success of his discourse.

Mr. Meighen is not what one might call a popular orator. He is a dialectician of wonderful brain power, who reasons his way along, with the logic of a true master. His voice is far-reaching and in certain places reminds one of Henry Bourassa's but his notes are softer and deeper, his language clearer, with an even an appeal to the flowers of rhetoric. What he has to say, he says clearly, and on occasions underlines his words with a gesture that adds to their energy.

British Columbia Hopes For R.R. Lumber Contracts

(Special to The Guardian.)
VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 16.—British Columbia lumber interests state that several large orders for the railway material are pending for the Canadian railways. Both the C. P. R. and C. N. R. are said to be in the market for ties, car siding, flooring and roofing bridge material, and lumber to be used in the repairing and building of sections included on the special location sheets recently issued. It is expected that this business will be divided among the smaller firms in British Columbia, spreading the work over as large a territory as possible.

Chinese Consul General Arrives in Ottawa

(Special to The Guardian.)
OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—The newly appointed Chinese consul general to Canada, Dr. Chien Thur has arrived in this city and has taken charge of the affairs of this consulate. General Dr. Thur received his education in Edinburgh University, Scotland and was Chinese consul at New York before he was appointed to his present post.

Manitoba Appeal Case Before Privy Council

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Nov. 16.—Hearing of the Manitoba appeal case known as the Attorney General of Manitoba versus Kelly was commenced by Sir John Simon appearing for the Attorney General, contending that the province had overpaid the demand to the extent of at least $376,000.

British Woolen Trade To Visit Canada

(Special to The Guardian.)
MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—It was learned today that a delegation of twenty members of the Scottish Woolen Trade Mark Association, Edinburgh, will visit the United States and Canada in January and February to four important centers. Arrangements for the Canadian visit are now being discussed with the British Governments trade representatives in Montreal and Toronto.

Sir Andrew MacPhail Is Shot in Shoulder

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—Suffering from monomania in a form of violent hallucinations described by his brother as having been "queer" for some time and to have been obsessed with the idea that some "terrible monster" was following him, Louis Ozulnik, aged 33, son of S. M. Ozulnik, a prominent tailor of this city shot Sir Andrew MacPhail, Professor of Medicine at McGill University, through the right shoulder at latter's office, 216 Peel Street yesterday afternoon. Immediately after the shooting Ozulnik turned the revolver on himself pulling the trigger twice, one bullet lodged in his chest and the other in his brain. Death was almost instantaneous.

Professor MacPhail is not seriously hurt, being able to phone for the ambulance himself. A few minutes later he was on his way to the Royal Victoria Hospital where the bullet was extracted.

Naval Disarmament Will Benefit Canada

(Special to The Guardian.)
OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—The program of naval reduction proposed by the United States Government and assented to in principle by the leading nations at the Conference which, if carried out of some effect, will result in a saving of $1,000,000,000 a year. Some two millions of this has to do with the maintenance of the squadron ships presently in the service. The whole question of the part to be played by the overseas dominions in relation to the Imperial Navy was debated by the Premier's Conference last summer, till the outcome of the arms parity was known and considering the present outlook Canada will benefit proportionately from any agreement to which the Mother Country is a party. The troublesome naval question may to a large extent be shelved. Another beneficial effect foreseen is the increasing surplus of steel products to such an extent as may operate a reduction of all commodities such as railway equipment, structural work or agricultural or other machinery into which iron and steel enter.

An English M.P. On Naval Holiday

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Nov. 16.—Commander Carlyon Bellaire, M. P., a naval officer for eighteen years in support of the Hughes proposal today announced the objection of British critics who fear the ten year holiday, because of its possible effect on the naval dockyards. As a matter of fact the primary duty of the great government yards is to keep the ships in repair, and they will be able to do this. The Germans in their manufacture of material they deliver an address full of life and originality to which the audience listened not only without fatigue, but rather with pleasure and interest that went on increasing to the end. Had he been permitted to make his speech without these interruptions it would have been far less interesting and its effect would have been small compared to the reality.

OUR MRS. PARTINGTONS.

A Splendid Meeting At New Glasgow

Conservative Candidates Dealt Convincingly With Trade and Other Policies of Respective Parties.

The joint meeting at New Glasgow last night was one of the largest and most orderly of the series of public hearings. The hall was filled to capacity and all the speakers being given a most attentive hearing.

Blazed Her Way Into H. R. H. Box

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Smith Wilkinson, hailed in Paris and on the Riviera as the world's greatest spender, transformed herself into tonight the famous Victoria Ball at Albert Hall.

The Weather, Temperature, Tide, Moon, Etc.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Northerly winds. Mostly fair, and much the same temperature.

Noozie the Sunshine Kid

WHAT'S THE USE OF RAIN AT THIS TIME OF YEAR? IT DON'T GROW ANYTHING.

Members of Royal Family, peers and peeresses, and Europe's most famous fashionables stood agape at the marvelous display of wealth on the gown of the stout Nottingham matron.

The gown was manufactured by Reville, the famous dress-maker and was insured this afternoon for five million dollars. It contains more than 75,000 diamonds and pearls. She wore a curlicue of fine diamonds over a skirt of silver lace embroidered in pearls.

Her shoes were of silver cloth with high Louis XV heels covered with tiny yellow diamonds.

The most startling feature of the whole bizarre costume was the headpiece, which was thirty-six inches high. It was a loose cap laced with diamonds, with three ropes of wondrous pearls of graduated length draped from the end of the cap at the ears and falling below the chin. From the top of the diamond cap stood three white peacock feathers studded with diamonds. These were guarded on either side by wonderful birds of paradise.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

Manitoba Appeal Case Before Privy Council

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Nov. 16.—Hearing of the Manitoba appeal case known as the Attorney General of Manitoba versus Kelly was commenced by Sir John Simon appearing for the Attorney General, contending that the province had overpaid the demand to the extent of at least $376,000.

British Legion Representative in Ottawa

(Special to The Guardian.)
OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—Guest of the G. W. V. A., at a luncheon here today Col. George Crossfield, was chairman of the British Legion and outlined the aims of the Legion and gave brief statement of what he had so far accomplished. Only 20,000 disabled soldiers in Britain had been provided with work.

Blazed Her Way Into H. R. H. Box

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Smith Wilkinson, hailed in Paris and on the Riviera as the world's greatest spender, transformed herself into tonight the famous Victoria Ball at Albert Hall.

The Weather, Temperature, Tide, Moon, Etc.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Northerly winds. Mostly fair, and much the same temperature.

Noozie the Sunshine Kid

WHAT'S THE USE OF RAIN AT THIS TIME OF YEAR? IT DON'T GROW ANYTHING.

Members of Royal Family, peers and peeresses, and Europe's most famous fashionables stood agape at the marvelous display of wealth on the gown of the stout Nottingham matron.

The gown was manufactured by Reville, the famous dress-maker and was insured this afternoon for five million dollars. It contains more than 75,000 diamonds and pearls. She wore a curlicue of fine diamonds over a skirt of silver lace embroidered in pearls.

Her shoes were of silver cloth with high Louis XV heels covered with tiny yellow diamonds.

The most startling feature of the whole bizarre costume was the headpiece, which was thirty-six inches high. It was a loose cap laced with diamonds, with three ropes of wondrous pearls of graduated length draped from the end of the cap at the ears and falling below the chin. From the top of the diamond cap stood three white peacock feathers studded with diamonds. These were guarded on either side by wonderful birds of paradise.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

After the crew landed, the vessel was driven ashore right in the lead wash, about 100 yards from the bank. After striking the schooner caught fire from the stove in the cabin and part of the stern was burnt away. The men saved very little, except a few clothes, the fog horn and compass.

The Captain's brother, Leo and Simon V. Landry were on board with him. Messrs. Boudreault formerly belonged to Charlottetown, but are now residing in St. Peters, Cape Breton.

Leo Boudreault and Landry, are now aboard the schooner "Virgin Belle," owned and commanded by Captain J. Boudreault, which is now at China Point, loading with produce for Sydney, awaiting a favorable wind to sail.

Express, Mail or Bring Your Furs to W. CHESTER S. McLURE