BLUENOSE AND THEBAUD TO RACE AGAIN

GLOUCESTER, Mass. Feb. 8.—(A.P.)—Plans were laid today for a resumption of the international fishing races between the Canadian champion Bluenose of Lunenburg, N. S., and the schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud of Gloucester.

LUNENBURG, N. S., Feb. 7.—(C.P.)—"The proposition is all right, but the time is all wrong," said Captain Angus Walters tonight as he declared the Bluenose would be very, very glad to match tacks again with Gloucester's Gertrude L. Thebaud, in an international series.

Bluenose is going fishing in the spring, her rugged little skipper said tonight. "We can't break up a trip to race in August," he said, "it wouldn't be worth it, and it wouldn't be fair to the crew. We are going to get under way in March, and they can't expect us to come in here and fit out for a race, cutting the trip off at the end of July when ordinarily we'd stay out until late in September. But October—yes, we'll take them on then."

Emyvale

Miss Eileen McCarville, Kinkora, is spending a few days in Emyvale, the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Callaghan.

The dance held in the hall under the auspices of the C. W. L. was a huge success.

Messrs. Peter and Amos Callaghan drove to Kinkora last Thursday on business.

We tender our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McGinn on the birth of a baby boy.

Among those from this vicinity who were in the city this week were: Rev. A. L. Herrell, Messrs. Joseph Costello, William Griffin, F. J. Trainor, F. L. McQuaid and Frank McQuaid.

Mr. Gerald Griffin has recovered from the effects of a nasty gash over the eye, received in hockey practice at Wiltshire.

Rev. C. Pitre, Kelly's Cross, was a visitor to Emyvale Friday last.

The strong wind accompanying the snow storm of about a week ago, carried the roof off a barn belonging to Mr. Thomas McCloskey, Emyvale.

Mr. Frank McEroy, New Haven, paid a short visit to Emyvale recently.

Mr. Amos Callaghan held a very enjoyable raffle on beef, last week, thus affording the many card playing experts an opportunity to demonstrate their ability, and at the same time to succeed in stocking the family larder.

The excursionists from this vicinity who journeyed to Boston over the week end, have returned after having a very pleasant trip.

The 1933 edition of the Emyvale "Shamrocks" hockey team has not yet made its debut to the public. We anticipate an early appearance provided the weather is favourable.

SPRINGFIELD AND VICINITY

Mrs. Philip McNally and Mr. John McNally, Summerfield, were in Summerside last week.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. Alfred McEwen, Bradabane, in the death of his wife on Tuesday last. Mrs. McEwen was taken to the City Hospital Monday and died a few hours later. Her funeral took place Thursday morning to St. Ann's Church, Hope River, and was largely attended.

The dance, which was held in Emerald Hall on Friday night in aid of the hockey club was fairly largely attended. A dainty lunch was served by the ladies and the dance was enjoyed by all present.

The death of Mr. William Campbell at his home in Graham's Road on Friday evening, January 27th, at the advanced age of 85 years.

SUGGESTS NAME, GETS AUTO—George Macdonald of the preventive Service Division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had an idea. It proved to be a profitable one. Out of the 120 odd million people in the United States and the 10 million or so in Canada, he was the only person to think of it. He was reading in his home in Georgetown, Prince Edward Island, when he came across an item about the Continental Motors Company building a revolutionary light and low-priced car. He noticed the story failed to mention the name of the new auto, so he thought he would suggest one. He wrote to the company, putting forward the name "Beacon". He received a reply thanking him for the suggestion, saying that no one else had suggested a name, and that his proposal had been placed before the Directors and had been favorably received. And in conclusion, the letter declared that the company would like to make some little gift to him in return, but that the officials, not knowing his station in life, didn't know what would be suitable. So if Mr. Macdonald would name his choice, the letter said, the company would be glad to send him a gold watch, a marine engine, or one of the new autos. Macdonald picked the new car.—Halifax Herald.

O'Leary and Vicinity

The severe north easterly storm over the last month's end badly disrupted all forms of communication in this section of the province, roads, mail and telephone service being out of commission for a few days. A heavy covering of ice over everything, which presented a marvelous spectacle when the sun rose on January 31, nevertheless caused a considerable amount of damage to telephone wires, poles and trees.

Every vestige of ice was blown out into the straits from the western shore during the prolonged north easterly recently but is now slowly struggling back into its former position.

The sympathy of this community is extended to the family of the late Mrs. George Yeo of Knutsford, who passed to the Great Beyond on Jan. 26th. A life long resident of Knutsford she was loved and honored by a large circle of relatives and friends.

The heroic rescue by an eight year old boy, Gerard Dalton, of his 16 year old brother, from the icy waters of the Straits, which occurred a couple of weeks ago, should not pass unnoticed. The two boys, Stanley and Gerard, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Dalton of Burton, Lot 7, were skating on the ice near their home and ventured out to where the herring nets are usually set, when the older brother suddenly crashed through some thin ice. Gerard went valiantly to the rescue and did his best to save his brother, but in vain, then decided to go for help, but upon the pleas of his brother returned again and at last succeeded in his efforts, Stanley having gained a frail foothold upon some rough ice, was at last pulled to safety by his rugged and heroic young brother. Stanley was none the worse for his icy dip, but owes his life to the undaunted courage and heroism of his little brother Gerard.

Belfast and Vicinity

Another old resident of Belfast passed away at his home in Ocean View on Thursday, January 26th in the person of Mr. John Ross, aged 90 years. The funeral was held on Saturday, Jan. 28th, the service being in St. John's Church. Although the day was stormy, a good crowd attended the service to pay their last respect to one of the oldest members of the session.

Many more would have been present had the day been better; some had to turn back on account of the storm. His pastor Rev. W. L. Griffiths officiated. Interment Belfast cemetery.

Good news continues to come from Mr. Dan MacPherson and will be pleasantly received by his many friends.

The good record of the weather man was badly broken with the arrival of the recent week end storm. No damage of any importance is reported. The storm was just bad enough to spoil the roads and then give people the idea that breaking the roads was not a necessity, forgetting that our rural mail carriers are supposed to have passed when we are ready to go to the box for our mail. Now that cars are apparently stored up for the winter our popular M. D. must resort to Dobbin, so we trust the roads will be kept open so that he will not experience any more hardship than is absolutely necessary.

Mrs. W. N. Ross, Roseberry; Mrs. W. A. MacQueen, Wood Islands and Miss Jean MacInnis, Roseberry, returned this week from spending the week end in Boston, Mass.

Several new radios have been installed in Belfast homes recently and proved very pleasant on Sunday last during the storm, it being almost an impossibility to attend church on that day.

Friends of Mrs. John R. McWilliams, Eldon, are pleased to learn that her recent slight indisposition has been only temporary.

Some splendid smelt catches have been reported but the warm weather interferes to some extent with the shipping. Inspector Johnson, Peter's Road, was in Pinette recently in the interests of the fishermen.

Friends of Mrs. Martin Kelly, Newtown Cross, are pleased to learn that she is doing nicely under the doctor's skillful care.

The farmers are taking advantage of the recent fall of snow and getting their firewood hauled home. The weather has been ideal for cutting in the woods but good roads are a necessity to have a large pile at the door. Still human nature is always hankering after what we have not.—H.

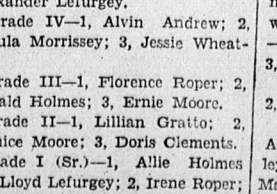

Mr. MacKinnon shall be greatly missed in the community in which he was a successful farmer and interested in every good work. In the Church of Scotland congregation at DeSable he was a consistent and devout member. Some years ago he was mentioned for the office of the eldership, but with characteristic modesty he declined. By his presence and support he did much to uphold the cause of the church of his fathers.

The funeral took place on Saturday, the 21st of January and was largely attended. The services at the house and grave were conducted by his pastor, Rev. Ewen MacDougall and the remains were interred in the family plot in Argyle School Cemetery. The bearers were: Chester Shaw, Malcolm MacPhail, Hector MacKay, Duncan MacKinnon, John D. MacPhail and Walter MacPhail.
