

POPE NOT SO WELL BUT THERE IS NO ANXIETY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—A cable to the Herald from Rome says:— In regard to rumors current in Paris concerning the Pope's health it is learned here that the general condition of the Pontiff's health has become worse recently. It is known that the Pope suffers from gout, and sometimes with cardiac complications. His physicians blame him for refusing their attentions, but at present there is nothing to warrant anxiety on his account.

The publisher of the best Farmer's paper in the Maritime Provinces in writing to us states:—

"I would say that I do not know of a medicine that has stood the test of time like MINARD'S LINIMENT. It has been an unfailing remedy in our household ever since I can remember, and has outlived dozens of would-be competitors and imitators."
