The Guardian has received sample copies of "Setanee" or the MicMac Messenger, a monthly publication for Indians. This little magazine is published entirely in the MicMac tongue.

One of these contains a paragraph reprinted from The Guardian of Nov 5 last, (marked as such else none of the staff would have recognized it) on Michael Thomas or, in MicMac, Misel Toma. At the same time The Guardian received a copy of the National Chant of the MicMacs which is set to music with words in French and MicMac. The fact that this race has a newspaper of its own speaks well for the advance in intelligence which the Canadian Indian has become characterized by in recent years.

Dan McDonald, the Cape Breton wrestler, well known in this city, is evidently thought very much of through the New England States. Will McNulty, who conducts a column of "sport dope" in the New London Daily, recently had the following in column: "The query has been frequently propounded, who are the leading middleweight wrestlers of America? The middleweight grappling division is somewhat in the background, precedence being accorded the heavyweights and lightweights. The weights of the mat middleweights range from 150 to 170 pounds. For several years Jim Barnes of Springfield presided over this class, but now the title is in doubt. Some of the principal middleweights are as follows: Sam Anderson, Boston; Jim Barnes, Springfield; Dan McDonald, Sydney, N. S.; Harvey Parker, Worcester. This classification of Dan will be read with interest here where he has many friends."

The Truro Citizen of recent date has the following with reference to a colored party who is well known in this city having had a bootblack stand here some time ago and on one occasion posing as a bicycle driver possessing speed. Emmanuel St. Ommer, a West Indian who at one time made his home in Truro, did a shoe-black business here, and married here is again in town. His wife is a most respectable colored woman. She makes her home in Truro. However, every little while "Mandy" persists in coming to see her. It will be remembered he came last summer, he alleged, to see his wife. He was followed by a white woman with whom it is said he lived in Halifax. He tried to give her the slip at the I. C. R. station by jumping off the Halifax train after it had started. She followed suit but fell on her head and was picked up unconscious and carried to the hospital. "Mandy" was looked up, but the woman quickly revived, and "Mandy" was released. Wednesday night he arrived in town again, and it is charged went to Zion Church after prayer meeting and made threats against his wife, who attended the prayer meeting. W. H. Taylor took the matter up and issued a warrant charging him with causing a disturbance in Zion Church. "Mandy" pleaded guilty and was fined five dollars and costs, and left for Halifax. Mr Taylor warned him that if he ever came before him again on a similar charge he would give him the full punishment, $50 and costs, or in fact if he came before him on any charge he would give him the full penalty.

The last issue of the Amherst News to hand has the following:—Young Murphy who has figured so prominently in the Prince Edward Island romance to which the News made reference some days ago, ended his honeymoon rather disastrously before Stipendiary McKenzie yesterday. As readers know, he was arrested for perjury shortly after his marriage and the case was brought to a close yesterday afternoon. Sufficient evidence was produced to have Murphy committed to jail pending his trial by a superior court.
