SIR EVELYN WOOD

One of Wolseleys Generals Who Did Good Work For Army

A correspondent in the London Times writes:

"The death of Sir Evelyn Wood removes the last of the brilliant body of officers whose names are associated with Lord Wolseley in the great changes which made the modern British army what it is. Sir Redvers Buller, Sir William Butler, Sir Henry Brackenbury, Sir Frederick Maurice, Sir John Ardagh have all passed away, but their legacy to their country covered the personnel, as well as the training, of the force whose immortal retreat from Mons saved Europe in 1914. The 'Wolseley clique' were no 'carpet knights,' but their struggles with the conservatism of the War Office were Homeric—and would have deterred less doughty champions.

From the day Lord Wolseley became Adjutant General in 1882, the old traditions were doomed. "If," write the Adjutant General, with more intrepidity than tact, on receiving an adverse decision from the Secretary of State, "the future of this army is to be regulated by the opinions of bow-and-arrow generals, this army is doomed." One by one he called to his aid in the War Office or in the highest commands the comrades of his past expeditions, and Evelyn Wood before he was 35 found himself at Aldershot.

He bore many traces of his 35 years of service from midshipman to major-general. He had suffered wounds and fever; he had lost most of his hearing from sunstroke and privation in the Mutiny; he was a bad sleeper, and appeared to think by fits and starts. His promotion to the Aldershot command in 1888 was achieved in the teeth of much opposition, and a new era of training was at once inaugurated. Three years later, after a field day, the German Emperor, who had seen the Aldershot Division at the first Jubilee, said he would not have believed troops could have so improved by one man. It was no holiday. The writer once rallied the G. O. C. on his habit of taking coffee four times a day, he being already such a bad sleeper, and one of his family who had suffered from his incessant night manoeuvres gasped out "He keeps the camp and all of us awake all night."

From 1893 when he became Quartermaster General, to 1901, when he ceased to be Adjutant General, he was the life and soul of the War Office. It is not too much to say that no department in which he served ever gained under any chief as it did under Evelyn Wood.

As Adjutant-General under Lord Wolseley as Commander-in-Chief from 1897 to 1900, Evelyn Wood did perhaps his finest official work. The records would show that his estimate of the probable Boer resistance was far sounder than that of his colleagues; he delighted to recall that three generals whose appointment he had deprecated had all been sent home; and his sadness at being for the first time in his life out of a campaign was mitigated by the proposal of the Government to send him to command in the Cape Colony in 1901, and Lord French's rejoinder that no better choice could be made, but he must resign the chief command to him and and serve under him. He remained at the War Office after Lord Wolseley's retirement, and proved himself acceptable to Lord Roberts who had never before served with him.

Of his last command at Salisbury Plain (1901 to 1906,) no better commentary can be made than to repeat Lord French's observation, when his Aldershot force was pitted against Sir Evelyn's in the manoeuvres of 1903. "If he beats me, it will only prove what everyone knows that he is our best fighting commander. If I beat him, it only proves he is our best instructor, for I have learned most of what I know from him."

Truly, no better example of public spirit and self-sacrifice was ever furnished to young officers than by Evelyn Wood. Courageous to a fault; devoted to his profession; a candid critic; a constant friend; hospitable to the utmost limit of his resources; those who knew him best learned to discount his eccentricities and placed in proper perspective his random utterances, which prejudiced him with chance acquaintances. His ability enabled him to triumph over physical infirmity, and his genial temperament made the path of duty pleasant, while giving all that was best in him to his country."

He says freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

The largest and most enthusiastic assemblage of the members of the Presbyterian Church, Kensington was present in the Manse there on Tuesday evening, January 6th, to do honor to their pastor, Rev. T. W. Goodwill. More than two hundred members and adherents were in attendance and Mr. J. W. Stewart was chairman and introduced the occasion by appropriate remarks. Mr. J. M. Leard read the following address.

Rev. Thomas W. and Mrs. Goodwill
Kensington:

Reverend and esteemed pastor and wife,—We, members and adherents of your congregation here, wish to approach you during this festive season and to tender you our sincere felicitations and the message, Peace on Earth to men of good will, is most appropriate and we invoke for you the fullest measure. We actually realize that the life of a clergyman, though to the ordinary observer it seems easy and secure, is actually one of the most strenuous in existance. You must always be prepared to answer, at the briefest possible notice, calls to minister to the needs of your congregation, collectively or individually, and your ability and your will to do so have been amply demonstrated. Personal security or ease have not received from you the faintest consideration. You have always endeavored to direct your cause by following in the footsteps of the Master, and, in thus doing, you have set an example that is worthy of imitation. In civic and in social circles you have been equally efficient. Your works demonstrate what words but faintly assert. The monument that such works have erected will endure when human memory will unkindly forget.

Be assured, then, that we will ever be mindful of the many good lessons that you have taught, and of our firm purpose to persevere in keeping the laudable resolutions that you have induced us to form.

Mrs. Goodwill, you have been a valuable and effective personality in your sphere of action, and your power for good has wielded an influence that is at once evident. Be convinced, then, that the ultimate reward for this faithful discharge of duty must be the Master's crown.

We would ask you to accept the accompanying gifts as a proof of our sentiments thus expressed, and we trust that the Divine Master may spare you many years of service among us, and we wish you both, and family as well, many blessings in life.

Signed by 108 members and adherents.

Mr. John Bernard, in the name of the members and others, presented the gift to Mr. and Mrs. Goodwill, a purse of $300. Mr. Goodwill, for himself and Mrs. Goodwill acknowledged the address and purse in language fitting and delectable. He lauded the generosity of the congregation and in most concise and convincing terms, expressed Mrs. Goodwill's and his own gratitude.

Short and pointed speeches were made by Rev. C. N. Niche, Messrs. G. R. McMahon, J. F. Profett, J. M. Laird, Mr. Carew, Robert Agnew, John Stewart, J. Jardine, Hugh Morrison, Samuel Benard, J. W. Fraser, W. B. McArthur and Gordon Glover. All eulogistic of the congregation's appreciation of Mr. Goodwill and his effective work. Special mention was made of the general prosperity of the congregation, the evident increase in membership, and of the re-assuring condition of their financial states. The speakers were eloquent in their laudation of Mr. Goodwill's ability as a preacher of the Gospel, and of his solicitude for the multiple needs of the soul intrusted to his care. All foresaw continued satisfactory progress for Mr. Goodwill in his ministrial labors.

Vocal solos were given by Messrs. T. N. Sempe, G. W. Profitt, Harold Leard, and a reading by Miss Champion. Supper was prepared and served by the ladies of the congregation and it pleased the physical man in as highly a satisfactory degree as the musical and literary delighted the intellectual being.

The event was finally finished by "God Save the King.—Y.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

A very pleasing event took place at the home of Mr. William Robbins Midgell, R. R. No. 1. when Mr. Lewis J. Moore and Mr. Alexander Cobb and Mr. James E. Dingwell in behalf of the box holders assembled together and presented him with a well filled purse, the presentation being made by Mr. Lewis Moore. The folowing address which was read by Mr. James E. Dingwell shows the high esteem in which the mail carrier is held.

Mr. Wm. Robbins, Midgell;

Our dear friend and mail carrier; We, the people of Rural Route No. 1. take this opportunity to address a few words to you tonight for the second time since becoming our mail carrier.

We wish to express, in a small measure, our appreciation of your faithfulness and zeal. We have not gathered here tonight to offer you vain flattery or empty words of praise, but rather in this public way to acknowledge our gratitude for the competent and agreeable way in which you have always performed your duty as mail driver, a duty which you have always carried out with the greatest integrity, never failing to bring us the daily news. We are fully aware of the onerous duty devolving upon you as mail-driver but with that successful tack which is necessary in every vocation, you have met every difficulty with a cheerful smile ever ready to lend a helping hand when needed.

In recognition of your faithfulness and other good qualities, which you possess and the invaluable services you are rendering towards us, we ask you to accept this small token, not for its intrinsic value but to show the high esteem in which you are held among us. Words fail to express our sentiments but in conclusion we all join in wishing you and yours a Happy and Prosperous New Year and that you may continue in your good services for many years more.

Signed in behalf of Rural Route No. 1.

Mr. Robbins then made a fitting reply thanking the box holders for their kindness and generosity. Supper was then served by Mrs. Robbins in her usual good style, after which they departed to their homes after spending a very pleasant evening.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT SOUTHPORT

On the night of Friday, December 19th a large number gathered at the Southport School to listen to one of the finest concerts ever held in this part of the country. Those who were lucky enough to attend were all exceedingly well pleased and spoke in the most commenatory way of the manner in which each part was presented.

The following is the programme: Chorus, O Canada; Recitation, A Christmas Greeting by Mary Smith; Flag Exercise by the little folks; Recitation, The Deacon's Courtship by A. Garvatt; Drill and Song In Grandma's Day; Recitation, Curfew shall not ring tonight by Mildred McDonald; Chorus, Songs of Gladness; Exercise, What I will do; Lullaby, by eight little girls; Dialogue, Uncle Hiram's Cold; Song, Golden Hours by Janie Smith; Recitation, Erin's Flag by Katie Alyward; Chorus, For the Glory of the Grand Old Flag; Recitation by Marjorie Mutch; Recitation by Emma Smith; Recitation, Lasca, by Laura Yorston; Patriotic Exercise by four girls; Dialogue, Practical use for Peddlars, encored; Motion Song, Our Flag; Recitation, A Garden of the Brave, by Annie Kelly; Dialogue, The Sick Doll by Janie Smith, Adeline Cahill and Russel Wood; Recitation, by Mildred MacDonald; Drill, Manners Class, encored; Recitation by John Alyward, encored; Recitation by Albert Garveatt, encored; Aunt Dinah on Matrimony by W. Crossman; This Way Kriss, song; Distribution of gifts from Xmas Tree; Song, Christmas All Year Long; Recitation, Good night, by Katie Alyward; God Save the King.

It is perhaps superfluous to particularize but special mention might be made of the recitations of Mildred MacDonald and Laura Yorston The singing was al lthat could be wished for in fact each and every part was excellently carried out. To Wallace Crossman who so beautifully and artistically decorated the school room the thanks of all are due.

But especially to Miss Katheline McDonald, the teacher who with great sacrifice of time arranged the programme and trained the children, are the thanks due for a pleasant and profitable evening. A beautifully decorated Xmas tree on which many and varied presents were hung and from which prizes and presents were distributed was one of the nicest features of the concert.

After the singing of the National Anthem the audience left with firm conviction that there are few if any school districts in Prince Edward Island who could present so varied a programme so faultlessly.—(Patriot please copy.)

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

The semi-annual examination of Webster's Corner school took place on Monday night, Dec. 22, in the presence of Rev. A. J. McDonald and a large number of visitors and ratepayers. The school was artistically decorated for the occasion, and a well-loaded Christmas Tree stood in the corner. The pupils were examined in the different subjects—English, writing, spelling, arithmetic and history—by Rev. Father McDonald, assisted by their teacher, Mrs. Emma McDonald and the quick and correct answers showed that they had been well trained. After the examination the following program was well rendered by the pupils:

Welcome, by Mary Grant; recitation, Annie McEachern; recitation, Hugh Cummiskey; recitation, Frances Garland; recitation, Æneas McDonald; recitation, Jas. Beard; dialogue, five pupils; recitation, Mary Simpson; recitation, Mildred J. Smith; recitation, Mary Garland; recitation, Walter Simpson; recitation, Mary Cummiskey; dialogue, two pupils; recitation, Annie Laverty; recitation, Thos. Garland; recitation, Cecelia McGuirk; recitation, Rosella Cummiskey; dialogue, five pupils; Good-night, Reggie Smith.

After the program, Annie McEachern in behalf of the pupils presented their teacher with a beautiful Christmas gift, while Mary Grant read the following address:

Dear Teacher,—I have been requested by the pupils of this school to offer you a slight token of our affection and regard. I cannot tell you how delighted I am to be the means of conveying to you the expression of our united love. What we offer you is a poor symbol of our feeling, but we know you will receive it kindly, as a simple indication of the attachment which each of us cherishes for you. You have made our lessons pleasant to us, so pleasant that it would be ungrateful to call them tasks. We know that we have often tried your temper and forbearance, but you have dealt gently with us in our waywardness, teaching us by example as well as by precept, the advantage of kindness and self-control. We will never forget you. We shall look back to this school in after life, not as a place of penance but as a scene of mental enjoyment, when the paths of learning were strewn with flowers and whenever memory recalls our school days, our hearts will warm towards you as they do tonight. I have been requested by my school mates not to address you formally, but as a beloved and respected friend. In that light, dear teacher, we all regard you. Please accept with our little present our earnest good wishes. May you be always as happy as you have endeavored to make your pupils, and may they be as faithful in their duties to others as you have been in your duties to them. Signed in behalf of the pupils, Mary Cummiskey, Annie Laverty, Thos. Garland, Walter Simpson, Annie McEachern, Cecelia McGuirk, Mary Grant, Æneas McDonald, Reggie Smith, James Beard.

Santa Claus, personated by Dennis Shea, then arrived, and distributed the presents to the pupils. Father McDonald spoke in hearty praise of both teacher and pupils. The teacher then thanked the audience for their presence, and also the pupils for their beautiful gift. The singing of the National Anthem brought the very enjoyable night to a close.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On the evening of the 31st inst. a large number of the youth and beauty of Lower Newton, Prunell Cove and vicinity assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin, and surprised them with a beautiful kitchen cabinet in recognition of the happy union which they had recently entered into. Mr. Michael Griffin was elected chairman, and Miss Annie Griffin on behalf of the people read the following address:

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin;

Dear friends;—We, your neighbors and friends, assemble here this evening to express to you in a few words the esteem in which you are held. You have always lived among us and shown your hospitality in many ways, and by your kind deeds and genial temper, have endeared you to all who had the good fortune to meet either of you. We trust that the happy union which you have recently entered into may be a source of pleasure, and happiness to yourselves, and to the whole community. In conclusion we ask you to accept the accompanying gift, not for its intrinsic value, but as a small token of your esteem among us, and unite in wishing you both a long and happy wedded life.

Singed on behalf of the people of Lower Newton, Prenell Cove and vicinity.

AUBREY MCLELLAN,
GEORGE NICHOLSON,
MARTIN GRIFFIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin although taken completely by surprise thanked the people most heartily for their valuable gift, and did all in their power to make the evening a success. Supper was served in Mrs. Martin's best style to upwards of seventy guests. Dancing, vocal and instrumental music, was indulged in till the wee sma' hours of the morning, when all dispersed well pleased with their night's amusement, and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Martin a happy and prosperous journey through life.

ON WHO WAS PRESENT.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION TO REV. JAS. A. MURPHY

On Christmas day Rev. Jas. A. Murphy, who has recently been raised to the dignity of the Holy Priesthood, celebrated his first Solemn High Mass in St. Onn's Church, Hope River. An eloquent and impressive sermon was preached by Rev. P. D. McGuigan. At the conclusion of the ceremony an address was read to Father Murphy by Mr. Leaming Murphy on behalf of the parish, congratulating him on his elevation to the Sacred Ministry and conveying to him the warm sentiments of the parishoners of his native parish. At the same time a well-filled purse was presented to the Rev. gentleman by Mr. Lewis McGuigan. The following is the address:

Rev. and Dear Father:—On this, your first public appearance amongst us, after your ordination to the Holy Priesthood, we feel it is fitting that we should convey to you, though in a feeble manner, our sincere congratulations on your elevation to such a high and holy calling.

It is always a source of great joy to the members of Holy Church to see a young man ordained to the Holy Priesthood, and to assist at his first Mass; how much more must we rejoice when the newly ordained priest is a native of our parish. The unaffected and predelection, for high ideals, which characterized your boyhood days, induced us to believe and hope that you were destined for some high and noble calling, and now we rejoice in the realization of our desires.

As words fail us to give an adequate expression of our feeling on this occasion, we most respectfully assure you, that our sentiments of esteem and our good will towards you are none the less sincere.

In conclusion we hope you may be spared many years in the Holy Ministry and it is our sincere wish that you may be our ornament to the Holy Priesthood. We humbly ask you to accept the accompanying gift, not that we expect you to accept it for its material worth, but as a visible token of the inward feeling we entertain towards you.

Father Murphy gracefully accepted the address and presentation and heartily thanked the good people of the parish for the esteem and affection they manifested towards him. He also thanked the Rev. Pastor Father Gaudet for the many acts of kindness he had extended to him. He solicited their prayers, that his work in the "Vineyard of the Lord" might be fruitful. In conclusion he assured them that he would not be unmindful of their needs while offering up, as a sacrifice the spotless victim of man's salvation.

PRESENTATION TO ORGANIST

On the evening of Wednesday, Dec. 24th, at the close of Christian Endeavour in the Presbyterian church at Hampton, Miss Freda MacKinnon was waited upon and presented with an address and well-filled purse. The address and presentation was made by Mr. Ernest Holm one of the elders of the church. Although taken by surprise Miss MacKinnon in a few well-chosen words thanked the people for their kindness and thoughtfulness.

Following is the address:

Dear Friend,—We take this opportunity to express to you our appreciation of your kindness in consenting to be organist in the choir of our church at a considerable sacrifice to yourself; and we ask you to accept this small gift as a definite token of our appreciation of the services you have rendered to us in that position.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and may you long continue to give honor and praise to the glory of God through the gift He has given you.

Signed on behalf of the session and congregation of the Hampton Presbyterian church.

Glass of Salts If Your Kidneys Hurt

EAT LESS MEAT IF YOU FEEL BACKACHY OR HAVE BLADDER TROUBLE

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfats for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT.

The Christmas entertainment of Hazelbrook School took place on Monday evening, Dec. 22nd.

The school room was very artistically trimmed, and was crowded with ratepayers and visitors. In one corner of the room was a beautifully trimmed Christmas tree, laden with presents for all. Mr. Anson Jones acted as chairman and the best og order prevailed.

The following was the program: Chorus, Welcome, O' Welcome; Recitation, A Greeting, Henry Jones; Dialogue Down East, William Jones, Harold Carver, Mrs. Alfred Coady, Pearl McGilvary and Amy Myers; Recitation, Lloyd Jones; Chorus, Christmas Chimes; Dialogue, Edith Wood and Vernor Jones; Recitation, Freddy Coady; Letter Exercise, nine pupils; Solo, Gates of Gladness, Pearl McGilvary; Recitation, Roland Monaghan; Dialogue, The Schoolmaster Abroad, seven pupils; Solo Till We Meet Again, Mrs. Alfred Coady, all the girls joining in the chorus; Recitation, Edith Wood; Dialogue, Leight McEachern and Kent Jones; Song, Smiles, the boys; Recitation, Julia Myers; Violin Selection, William Jones; Recitation, Alvin Myers; Harmonica Selection, Alfred Coady; Recitation, Helen Chandler; Chorus, O' Canada. Mrs. Anson Jones kindly furnished the music. Then Santa Claus appeared in his usual jolly manner and striped the tree of its heavy load. The teacher received from her pupils a beautiful umbrella, handkerchiefs, books and other things, and she likewise gave a little present and a bag of candy to each pupil. The teacher, Miss Belle Coady, deserves great credit for the admirable way in which the pupils performed their parts; and also credit is due all who helped to make the concert such a success. The singing of God Save the King brought the pleasant evening to a close.
