Business Improving

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—For the first time in many months, current economic reports to the Commerce Department indicate a betterment of business conditions in Great Britain.

In his latest official monthly summary, the Commercial Attaché at London declared that the "recent signs of improving industrial conditions in Great Britain were realized in the latter part of October." He cited a decrease of unemployment, a rise in the price of industrial stocks, and a general attitude of buyers towards closing transactions, as factors indicating the conclusion.

Joyson-Hicks Has Tilt With Member

LONDON, Nov. 10—The strength of feeling aroused over the drink question was shown today by a passage of arms between Home Secretary Sir William Joyson-Hicks and Sir Herbert Niell, M. P., one of the leading Conservative back-benchers in the Commons, and chairman of the Association of Conservative Clubs.

Niell's deputation he led did not get what they wanted they would advise Unionist club members to vote against candidates who declined to pledge to support them, and the Home Secretary replied that Niell's statements made it difficult for him to grant his request, and added: "Your speech was read. It was not a hasty remark. You are quite entitled to say that if you like, but it is not the usual tone which deputations adopt toward ministers of the Crown." Niell in returning thanks formally for the reception said that his observations from the written statement were a good deal minimized from those originally drawn.

The matter which roused all this heat is the law by which clubs are subject to the same regulation concerning the sale of drinks as ordinary saloons. That is, they may not sell drinks in the forenoon or in middle afternoon, and must close their bars at 11 o'clock in the evening.

Almost Married The Wrong Man

TORONTO, Nov. 10—A solemn comedy threatened a religious ceremony yesterday.

At a church attended by Polish people in West Toronto a Canadian Minister called in to marry two young Poles. Accompanied by two others of the same nationality, for bridesmaid and best man, they took their places before him.

Slowly and solemnly the minister began the service. "Do you take this woman?" the man before him seemed to nod assent. "Do you take this man?" the bride also nodded. Suddenly there was a commotion at the back of the church. An elderly man rushed down the aisle. Seizing the young man standing beside the bride, he shoved him to the left. Grasping the other young man, who stood near the bridesmaid he pulled him alongside the bride.

Then, in broken English, he explained: "You marrying not the right man. That man he's not you call the best man. They were not standing right."

The minister started the service again.

Gleanings From Tryon And Vicinity

Among the visitors at Tryon last week were Walter Crocker and wife from Truro, N. S., and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Coffin of Charlottetown. They were guests at the Baptist parsonage.

The Missionary Society and Ladies' circle of the Tryon Baptist Church held a joint service at the home of Mrs. Ross Boulter on Tuesday afternoon.

Potatoes soared to $1.50 per bushel on Friday of last week. A New York buyer is making his headquarters at Albany. He has one hundred cars bought up. And in the warehouse. He is having much difficulty in obtaining cars. He has a steamer to arrive at Summer side to load there, but is badly handicapped for cars to move his stock even that distance. Where are the cars? Have they all gone west to move grain? Some folks want us to believe there is no such thing as Maritime Rights. If the potato crop is not moved in proper time and shape, the people of the Island should demand a reason for it. And not let up until they know whether the reason is a legitimate one or not. Everybody should stand together. It's a vital issue.

Letters received from Mrs. Cunningham of Boston report her to be enjoying good health. Mrs. Cunningham spent the past two years at Tryon with her son J. A. Lyman. She recently returned to Boston to spend the winter with her son. Walter I. Triggs, a student here, she made many friends, who wish her all good things in the evening of life.

We regret that Miss Irene Smith of Bonshaw is about to join the exodus to the U. S. A., she goes to Boston this week.

Fall ploughing is well under way. The wet weather has made excellent ploughing conditions.

Albany Station has another change of agents. Mr. McClosky was removed on Friday last and Mr. MacDonald is now in his place. Overnight seems to be about a School as an agent stays at this station. We do not know whether the fault is the agents or the people. A permanent agent would be very acceptable to the most of the patrons of the C. N. R.

Allie Foy recently purchased a fine blood driving horse. It will now be a lively show down between Allie and George of Argusville Cove. For some time George has had the right of way. It is now being seriously questioned.

Mrs. Robinson of Augustine Cove has been seriously ill at the home of her son, J. Robinson. She is now slowly improving.

MALPEQUE

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lockerby, Hamilton, returned on Saturday, October 24th after a few days visit with friends in O'Leary.

Miss Sophie Simpson of Hamilton, who has been visiting friends in Alma and Elmsdale for three weeks returned to her home on Saturday, October 24th.

Mr. C. M. Dickie, representing the International Harvester Co., was a visitor to Malpeque on Monday, November 2nd.

Mrs. D. S. MacNutt of Malpeque left on Thursday afternoon for Amherst en route to St. John where she will spend the winter with her daughter Mrs. H. Montgometry Jones of that city.

Misses Ross and MacFarlane, teachers of Fanning School, Malpeque, left on Friday evening to spend the Thanksgiving holidays at their homes in Charlottetown.

A Halloween party was given the teachers and the pupils of Fanning School on Friday evening, October 24th at the home of Miss Mary Jones, when there were about twenty in attendance. Some of the scholars were costumed to represent little red riding hood, ghosts, witches, etc., and all played their parts in a creditable manner. After the serving of supper the young people dispersed to their homes, well pleased with the evenings enjoyment.

Mrs. Geo. F. Bearstoe returned to her home in Malpeque on Wednesday, after several weeks visit with her daughter Mrs. Geo. Thompson, Montague.

Mrs. Silliker who has spent the summer at her brother's, Mr. Walter Owen Malpeque, returned to Somerville, Mass., on Wednesday, November 4th. Mrs. Silliker has many friends here who were glad to renew their friendships with her.

Mr. George MacKay has recently installed a radio in his home. The radio is recognized as a profitable form of entertainment especially for the country in the winter evenings and as it becomes perfected it will doubtless become more popular.

Mr. John B. Young, Malpeque, has sold his house and his farm consisting of seventy five acres to Mr. Wm. Johnston of the same locality. Mr. Young has rented the residence of Mr. George Thompson who lately removed to Summerside. Mr. Johnston who has been a capable employee in the firm of Peter MacNutt and son has sold his home situated near the store to Mr. Sinclair MacDougall of Lower Malpeque. Mr. and Mrs. MacGowan have always resided in Lower Malpeque and will it be believed be very much missed there, but they will be cordially welcomed by their friends in the upper part of this district. A pleasing feature of these changes that have been mentioned is that none of these friends are leaving our countryside and it is earnestly hoped that their new ventures may prove congenial and profitable to all concerned.

Miss Helen Ramsay, teacher at Fernwood is spending her Thanksgiving holidays at her home in Hamilton.

Mr. Erwin Taylor student at Prince of Wales College is spending "Thanksgiving" with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Taylor.

Miss Elma Stewart was a visitor to Summerside on Wednesday.

Halloween has come and gone from us and it always affords satisfaction when it passes as it is intended it should. It is a time for friendly harmless sports and forms as it were an outlet for frolicsome natures to roam at their will. It is regrettable however that inconvenience to some was occasioned as the result of last Saturday's fun and it is hoped that henceforth care will be taken by parents and guardians so that in future all that will remain of Halloween and its spirits will be pleasant memories.—M.

Armed Men Make Raids In Dublin

DUBLIN, Nov. 10—Three raids by armed men were carried out in Dublin today these being attributed to a recrudescence of Republican activities brought on by the preparations to celebrate Armistice Day. The Republican agitators believed a pro-British political color may be given to the celebration.

Seven armed men this afternoon entered a motion picture show, where a film of the Battle of Ypres was being shown and seized eight reels, the manager being forced to refund the audiences money. Six men raided the offices of the British Legion, an organization of ex-service men, and seized some books, presumably with the intention of obtaining names of collectors for the "Flanders Poppy Fund."

This morning Patrick Sheehan, once a supporter of De Valera, but now a member of the Free State Prisons' Board, was kidnapped and held for an hour as a protest against the treatment accorded republican prisoners. Civil guards are scouring Dublin and its suburbs but so far have made no arrests.

Prices Low In Leverhulme Picture Sale

LONDON, Nov. 10—The sale of some of the late Lord Leverhulme's art treasures at Bolton, one of his summer homes, began this afternoon. Several hundred rare etchings and drawings were offered, and the prices, in the estimation of experts, ruled low.

A Gainsborough landscape sold for 90 guineas. Rossetti's "Magdalenae With Pot of Ointment" brought 40 guineas. Twenty-six pictures of Windsor Castle by Nash were purchased for 320 guineas and 111 engravings from Nash's "Mansions of England" for 470 guineas.

Moose Fights Bear

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Nov. 10—Reginald Anderson was out hunting a few days ago when he heard the bellowing of a moose. Coming closer, he saw a strange sight. The moose was fighting with a giant black bear.

Bruin had obtained a hold on the neck of a great bull moose, while the bull drove at him with his fore feet. Eventually the bear brought the bull to his knees. Anderson fired twice. The bull moose toppled over on his side and the bear collapsed dead.
