'It's Wonderful,' Says Physician

DECLARES TANLAC IS BEST RE-CONSTRUCTIVE TONIC FOR INFLUENZA PATIENTS.

The following letter from Dr. J. W. Sandlin, one of the most prominent physicians of Southern Texas, was recently received at the Tanlac offices in Atlanta, Ga., and gives indisputable evidence of the value of Tanlac as a reconstructive tonic for people who are recuperating from the after-effects of Spanish influenza.

"Humble, Texas, Nov. 5, 1918. 'Dear Sir,—Just a few lines in reference to Tanlac. I have found your preparation to be a wonderful reconstructive tonic, and in my opinion it has no equal in its line. I have found it the best tonic to have had to build up my patients who have had Spanish influenza. I have treated within the past month about 1,400 cases and have never been able to get sufficient Tanlac to supply our people.' (Signed) 'Yours very truly, 'DR. J. W. SANDLIN.'"

Dr. Sandlin not only enjoys a very large practice as a physician, but he is also a man of wide influence, and ranks as a leading citizen of the enterprising little city of Humble, Texas. As a practising physician of sixteen years' experience, Dr. Sandlin was quick to recognize the superior tonic properties of Tanlac over other remedies, and unhesitatingly and voluntarily gave Tanlac his unqualified endorsement.

Although the influenza epidemic has greatly subsided, it is still prevalent, and is breaking out anew in many sections of the country, and continues to claim its victims by the thousands. Persons who have had influenza are oftentimes left in a very weakened, rundown condition and unless the greatest care is taken both as to habits and diet, serious complications are apt to follow. Persons who have had it are more apt than ever to have it the second time. If you are in this condition, nothing on earth will build you up and strengthen you like Tanlac, which contains the most powerful tonic properties known to science.

As a reconstructive tonic and body-builder it is without an equal, and contains the very elements needed by the system to restore you to your normal strength and weight. First of all, Tanlac begins its action by creating a good healthy appetite for wholesome, nourishing food, and assists the vital organs which have been weakened by disease to perform their natural functions, thus helping to build up health and strength in the natural way.

This statement is easily proven by the fact that Tanlac is now having the greatest sale of any system tonic in the history of medicine—in four years' time over twelve million bottles have been sold and the demand is constantly increasing. In connection with the Tanlac treatment it is necessary to keep the bowels open by taking Tanlac Laxative Tablets, samples of which are included with every bottle of Tanlac. Tanlac is sold in Charlottetown by Reddin Bros. (Adv.)

SANDRA THE JEALOUS By Jane Phelps

THE WEDDING AND HONEYMOON CHAPTER X.

I was married at home. We had trimmed the living room prettily with autumn leaves and flowers. The pastor of the church, we always had attended, married us. The same one who had christened me. I felt awfully solemn. I almost broke down and cried. I had to swallow a lump in my throat every time before I made the replies. And I am sure no one a foot away could hear when I promised to love and obey Everett—yes, that was in the service when I was married. But it was over at last, and everyone was kissing me and calling me 'Mrs. Graham.' Then we had refreshments. Just chicken salad and dairy sandwiches, cakes and coffee. Afterward I changed into my blue serge tailored suit, and the next thing I knew we were on the train. The reason I didn't realize anything much until then was that I was crying so hard at leaving mother, dad, and the boys, that I didn't know what happened.

"Dry your eyes now," Everett said as he helped me off with my hat and then turned on the spigot for me. We had the drawing room so no one saw my red eyes—no one but Everett. After I had bathed my face—we talked a little, then it was dinner time. I wanted awfully to go into the dining car. I never had eaten on the train. But when I timidly suggested it, he paid no attention but ordered it served in the drawing room.

After dinner he was real nice and kind, but he didn't say much about being happy because I belonged to him, or about loving me. I hardly spoke. I felt strangely embarrassed—thought perhaps he did also. Although he wouldn't. He had been on a wedding trip before, and I hadn't. We went to a lovely hotel in New York. I was perfectly delighted with everything. Yet sometimes my pleasure was just a little spoiled because Everett would correct me for showing my feelings too plainly; or because he in a way ignored me.

One evening we remained in the hotel. Everett had a slight cold, so had ordered dinner served in our room. We had been to a play the night before, and had shopped all day. Everett had bought me loads of pretty things to wear; dresses, wraps and hats. I know he was ashamed of my country-made trousseau, although he did not say so. I didn't see where I was going to wear all the things he gave me, but he told me not to worry about that.

I was also tired from our strenuous shopping, and glad to stay quietly in the room with him; but I was excited and wanted to talk of what we had bought, of the wonderful shops, etc. When Everett settled himself in a big arm chair after the waiter had taken the dinner table away, I climbed upon his lap. "Don't be undignified, Sandra," Everett said.

"Don't you want me to sit on your lap?" I felt the tears coming. "Not particularly. I wish to read. Neither do I want to see you cry. Red eyes and swollen faces aren't attractive to a man." I drew in my breath in little sharp gasps. His tone, more than his words had seemed to stab me. It hurt me so. The tears dropped in spite of all I could do to hold them back. As I rose unsteadily from his lap, one fell on the back of his hand. He brushed it off angrily.

"For heavens sake Sandra stop crying. If there is one thing I hate more than another it is a crybaby. When you feel that you must shed tears, please take yourself where I cannot see you." He unfolded his paper and commenced to read. In all my eighteen years I never had been spoken to so harshly. I tried desperately not to cry, but I could not hold back the tears, and sobbing loudly I rushed into the bedroom and closed the door. I thought Everett would come in and try to comfort me when he saw how terribly I felt, but he didn't come near me. I had made him too angry. I was asleep when he came to bed. But I had heard the clock strike twelve before I sobbed myself to sleep.

Tomorrow—Everett is unreasonable.

G. W. V. A. MEETING The meeting held in the Town Hall, Georgetown on Thursday night, July 3rd for the purpose of organizing a branch of the G. W. V. A. proved a decided success. The meeting was called to order at 8.30 p. m. with Mr. F. B. Conrad in the chair. After explaining the object of the meeting the chairman then called on Mr. Frank Tierney, Secretary of the Charlottetown branch of the Association who in a very neat speech explained the aims of the Association, and the great need of all returned men to join this Association, whose object is to perpetuate the close and kindly ties of mutual service in the great war; to preserve the records and memories of those who died for the Nation; to impress upon its members that they are to continue in their services to Canada and the Empire as citizens, the same spirit of sacrifice and loyalty which they have shown as soldiers; and to remain as members of the Association Non-Sectarian and partisan. At the conclusion of Mr. Tierney's address, the meeting then proceeded with the election of officers: Following is the Executive: Pres. Conrad R. R. MacLean, 1st Vice-Pres. Comrade F. B. Conrad 2nd Vice-Pres. Comrade R. L. Hewitt Sec'y and Treas. Comrade J. C. Yost. Executive Committee Comrades R. Aitken, L. MacDonald, A. Stewart. The following committees were appointed to carry on the work of the Association. Investigation Committee Comrades H. Barnes, J. H. Clarke, F. B. Conrad. Bye-Law Committee Comrades N. MacDonald, M. Bourke, C. A. Conrad. Entertainment Committee Comrades M. Dalton, J. Fairchild, E. Vatcher. After the election of officers the meeting carried on a general discussion in regard to the advancement of the Association all present being much impressed with the earnestness and dispatch with which the business was conducted. Over seventy returned men were present and at the call of the Secretary, fifty two came forward and enrolled as members; the remainder expressing their intention of enrolling before the next meeting. It is the desire of the Georgetown Branch of the G. W. V. A. that all returned men in Central King's district of membership in said branch should communicate with the Secretary, who will gladly supply them with application forms and any information desired. The branch expects to open a Club Room immediately; for the use of members at all times. It is also their intention to form a branch of the Ladies' Auxiliary to act in conjunction with the G. W. V. A. Branch. The next meeting will be held in the Georgetown Hall on Friday July 11th at 8 p. m. sharp. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Comrade Tierney for his kind assistance in the organizing of the branch, and the meeting then adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem. D. A. MacKINNON, Hon. Treas. P. E. I. Branch, Charlottetown. July 9-31

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS AT YOUR DOOR The Iona Gypsum Co., Ltd., is disposing of $100,000 worth of cumulative 8 per cent. preferred stock. Island investors would do well to consider the following facts: 1. The company has a well-built plant located at Iona, Cape Breton, a few feet from the waters of the Bras d'Or Lakes and connected by a two-mile branch line with the I. C. R. Railway. 2. The quantity of the gypsum is inexhaustible and lies at a distance of a few feet from the plant. 3. The quality of the gypsum is superb, it being, according to the analysis of experts, 98 per cent. pure. 4. The demand for the bye-products is almost unlimited. Already a large trade has been established in Canada, United States, New Zealand and Australia. 5. The possibilities are bright, in that the new issue of stock will provide the company with the shipping facilities necessary in order that it may accept and fulfill large contracts with the minimum of cost.
