CANADA WAS TRICKED IN THE ALASKAN DISPUTE

Premier, in Self-Defence, Makes Public Correspondence—It Shows That the Government Protested to Britain Against the Personnel of the American Commissioners, But it Was Useless, and They Were Not Notified When the Treachery Was Completed.

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—The correspondence between the dominion government and the British and United States governments regarding the reference of the Alaska boundary to a tribunal for a decision was presented to parliament today, at least all of it that the imperial authorities would allow. However, the premier told the house that in the course of time all the correspondence would be made public and published in a blue book.

The correspondence brought down today shows that after some negotiations a case was agreed upon. When then the American commissioners were named, Canada protested, on the ground that the tribunal was to be composed of independent jurists of repute. The result, however, was that the treaty was ratified without the sanction or knowledge of the Canadian ministers, other than from what they saw in the newspapers.

On January 21, Lord Minto cabled as follows to Mr. Chamberlain: "My ministers, whilst still regretting that the proposal tribunal will not be constituted so as to insure a final decision being reached in the reference, and being satisfied with the terms of that reference, will agree to accept the treaty as contained in the draft submitted to them. With regard to composition of the tribunal, my ministers are of the opinion that it is premature to adopt any final arrangement. It is sufficient now to have it clearly understood that members of the committee to be appointed by his majesty shall be jurists of repute and British subjects. They will be quite satisfied if London is elected for the sittings of the court."

On February 18 Lord Minto was notified of the appointment of Mr. Root, Senators Lodge and Turner as the American members of the commission, and Mr. Chamberlain asked for the views of the Canadian government as to the British commission.

On February 21, Lord Minto cabled as follows: "Supplementing my last despatch, my ministers call attention to the fact that they agree to a court of six members on the stipulation conveyed in the treaty, that members of said court would be impartial jurists and in the hope that judges of the highest courts in the United States would be appointed as American commissioners, my ministers also agreeing that the British commissioners should be judges of the highest standing. My ministers most strongly represent that this consideration, having been material in causing that assent to the treaty, should be made good. Otherwise the ground upon which they based their assent would be changed, and it is feared the whole situation would require to be reconsidered. The despatch ended by saying that until this was satisfactorily disposed there was no need of referring to the British side of the commission."

In replying to this, Lord Onslow cabled on February 27 that the selection of the American commissioners was as much a surprise to the British government as to the Canadian, but the situation was full of difficulty, and the British government earnestly desired the concurrence of the Canadian authorities. The letter added that it would be useless to press the United States government to withdraw the names and to put forward arguments as to the fitness of those selected. The British government would have to choose between breaking up the negotiations altogether or accepting the American nominations and appointing as their colleagues representatives who will meet the altered circumstances of the case. The first would be a grave misfortune to the interest of Canada, and they would prefer that the inquiry should proceed. In the event of failure, much information would be obtained and placed before the public, and a reasonable settlement at some future time facilitated.

On the 6th of March Canada was notified from Sir Michael Herbert that Messrs. Root, Lodge and Turner were officially appointed. On that day Lord Minto cabled the colonial office, emphasizing Canada's position, and added: "The appointment to the tribunal by the United States government of gentlemen who are not judges and whose known views leave no room for expectation of a judicial consideration of the question changes the whole situation. If the whole question were now open to be dealt with entirely from the point of view of Canadian interests, my ministers would hesitate to advise any further participation in the proceedings. My ministers have observed from the public press and have also been officially informed that while the matter is still under their consideration, the treaty has been confirmed by his majesty's government and an exchange of ratification has already taken place at Washington. It is presumed that this fact precludes further discussion, and my ministers will therefore proceed to do whatever is necessary on their part to make good the engagements of his majesty's government, but they must reserve the right to submit to the Canadian parliament the whole correspondence or such statements of the case as will fully explain the whole matter, especially the manner in which the assent of Canada was obtained. My ministers do not agree with the suggestion that the altered circumstances justify a departure on the British side from the disposition previously manifested respecting the composition of the tribunal."

The cable ended by saying that only impartial jurists of repute should be chosen on the British side.

On March 7 Lord Minto was advised from London of the ratifications of the Alaskan boundary treaty on March 3. The appointment of the British commissioner, etc., followed.

IS YOUR STOMACH ON A STRIKE?

There is nothing to prevent you employing a substitute to do its work.

There is such a thing as forbearance ceasing to be a virtue even in the case of one's stomach. There is no question but that some stomachs will stand a great deal more wear and tear than others, but they all have their limit and when that limit is reached, the stomach must be reckoned with as sure as fate. The way and really the only effective way to treat your stomach when it rebels is to employ a substitute to do its work. This will give the weakened and worn-out organ an opportunity to rest and regain its strength and health.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets relieve the stomach of its work by taking up the work and doing it just as one set or shift of workmen relieves another. They actually digest the food in just the same manner and just the same time as the digestive fluids of a sound stomach do. In fact when dissolved in the stomach, they are digestive fluids for they contain exactly the same constituents and elements as the gastric juice and other digestive fluids of the stomach. No matter what the condition of the stomach is, their work is just the same. They work in their own natural way without regard to surrounding conditions.

The stomach being thus relieved by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, is restored and renewed by Nature and the rest of the human body does not suffer in the least by reason of its failure to perform its work.

A Wisconsin man says: "I suffered the pangs of dyspepsia for 10 years. I tried every known remedy with indifferent results until I was told of the remarkable cure of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I bought a box, began taking them and forgot I had a stomach. Three boxes cured me completely. I have had no trouble whatever for a year and have an appetite like a harvest hand and can eat anything that is set before me without fear of bad results."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50c a box. The druggist never fails to have them in stock because the demand for them is so great, and so pronounced that he cannot afford to be without them. People who could not get them of one druggist would go to another and would get in the habit of buying their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

WEDS UNKNOWN ACTRESS.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Another union between the peerage and the stage took place privately in London last week, when Lord Ninian Stuart, the 20-year-old brother of the Marquis of Bute, married Miss Wood, a young unknown actress in a provincial company. Lord Bute is the wealthiest member of the British peerage. His estates, which are principally at Cardiff, in South Wales, are valued at $50,000,000.

SPEAKERS SORE THROAT.

Public speakers and singers know how useless and sickening are cough mixtures, anisprays, lozenges, etc., for irritable or sore throat, and state that the most satisfactory remedy is Catarrhose—the advantage of which is that it acts quickly and is convenient to use in public places. Catarrhose relieves congestion, allays inflammation, and affords a protection to the membrane. As a safe guard against colds and catarrh it has no equal. Rev. Mr. McKay, Go. Terlich, says "Catarrhose is an excellent remedy for throat irritation." Physicians, ministers and singers recommend Catarrhose, and suggest to sell it for $1. Small size 25¢. By mail from Pilsen & Co., Kingston, O.
