Wartime France Boosts Prints On West Front

PARIS, May 8 —(CP) —The war has greatly increased the number of newspapers published in France but no reference to the war as such is found in any of them. The editors and staffs of the several dozen new-born since last September are at the Front.

Every French unit wants its own and it is not difficult to find illustrators, cartoonists, caricaturists, poets and moralists to fill the sheets Most of them are mimeographed and circulate in the camps and trenches as did another set of war gazettes 25 years ago. A number of them reach Paris.

"Le Tortillard" (The Twister) announces itself "Comic-tragic-climatic." An advertisement on the front pages of a recent edition offers "To counterfeit 10-day permissions (passes) in return for enough straw to make a comfortable bed."

Another is known as the "Anti-Cafard" and its slogan under the title is "In the beginning God created the Blues—these morbid insects have been responsible for many of the catastrophies which afflict humanity." Old soldiers of any country will appreciate the vigorous "anti-cootie" policy of this sheet.

Majority of the newspaper names are impossible in translation but among them are to be found "The Vagabond Duck," "The Echo of Cementville" the "Alert."

The "Little Bridge" says, "We are somewhere working at something which demands a certain amount of talent. These pages are meant to maintain a certain good humor in the uncertain life of the soldier."

Humorous Ads

While the "Balloonet" describes itself as the "least puffed-up of the war front newspapers." Its advertisement section offers: "One bronchitis almost new; one lung congestion slightly used but solid and one cough guaranteed to resist any cough cure yet invented— for sale to anybody behind the lines who has the leisure to enjoy them."

A work brigade offers generously —20 shove's, 18 picks, 14 wheelbarrows, 10 pails and four nails to the collectors of old iron. Another regiment advertises for "Young and beautiful stenographers to look after personal correspondence. Quick, discreet and capable of entering by the windows."

Short stories, poems, cartoons fill the pages —there is special space given to promotions, decorations and "permissions." Not the slightest reference to the war is to be found in any of them.

SUSPECTED SPY ARRESTED

AMSTERDAM, May 6 —(AP) — Military officials today arrested C. Kloosterboer, a member of the municipal council of the village of St. Pancras, on suspicion of giving information to Germany regarding ship sailings. His son is under arrest on a charge of espionage.

PRESENTATION AND KITCHEN SHOWER — On Tuesday evening April 30th the members and choir of the Hazelbrock Baptist Church assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil MacKinnon to honor Miss Bertha Wood in view of her approaching marriage.. To the strains of the Wedding March played by Mrs. M. W. Wood the bride-to-be was escorted to the seat of honor in the beautifully decorated drawing-room by Mr. Neil MacKinnon. Mr. M. W. Wood gave the address and a beautiful mahogany chesterfield table and parlor mirror were presented by Miss Isabel MacKinnon and Mr. Russel Farquharson. A kitchen shower was also tendered Miss Wood by the young people of the district. A heavily laden basket was carried in and gifts were opened by Miss Mary Jenkins and the verses read by Miss Pearl Jones. Mrs. Boswell Jenkins arranged the gifts on the table. Miss Wood then thanked everyone present for their kindness and all joined in singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow." The evening was pleasantly spent with Orchestra music by Mrs. Jack MacRae, Spur Jenkins and the Coady brothers. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess. (Patriot please copy).

BELGIUM REOPENS HER SHOW WINDOW

BRUSSELS, May 8—(CP)—With a large section of Europe embroiled in war the annual International Fair of Brussels has again been inaugurated at the Palais du Centenaire and in spite of adverse circumstances the exhibition has attracted many producers both in Belgium and abroad.

It is realized throughout the Belgian nation it was a daring challenge to carry on in wartime a commercial fair which at first sight is exclusively a peacetime enterprise. The exhibition's o ganizers followed the advice of King Leopold on Sept. 6 last, at the opening of war: "The economic life of the country must be maintained. It is my wish that every citizen go on working and fulfilling his daily task with the utmost care."

The economic structure of Belgium has many points of interest. In order to satisfy the needs of 8,000,000 inhabitants on the most thickly inhabited area of Europe she must import both food and raw materials and pay for these imports by selling abroad the products of her hand labor. For example, she buys wheat in Canada for an amount up to $15,000,000 yearly while she sells to Canada various kinds of finished products: glass, diamonds, textiles, metallurgical products, etc. Free trade—which makes these exchanges of goods possible—is for Belgium not only a condition of prosperity but a condition of her very existence.

In the present war, the Allies had to enforce various restrictions on that freedom of trade. Belgium was therefore faced with the difficult program of adapting her economy to the new situation. As an example of the difficulties encountered it may be pointed out that the activities of the Port of Antwerp have been reduced to one third since the beginning of the war.

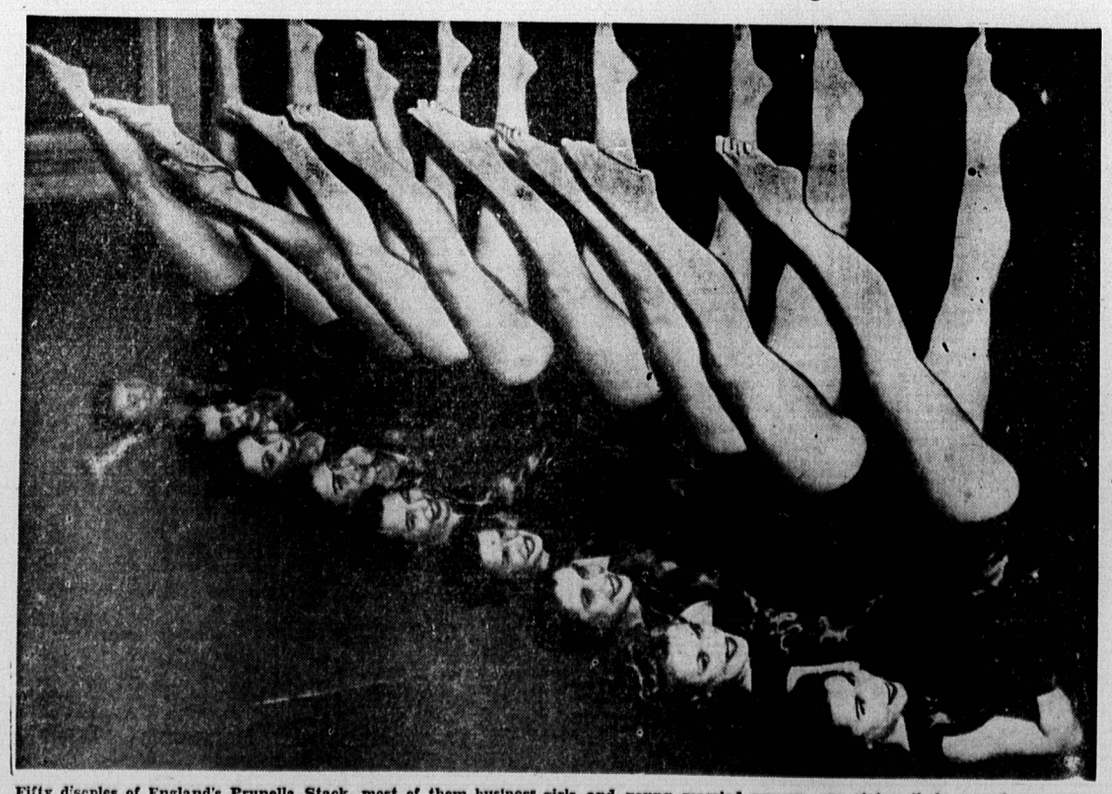
Ripping Rhythm Helps To Keep Their Figures Thin



Fifty disciples of England's Prunella Stack, most of them business girls and young married women, are giving their second annual demonstration of "health through rythm" in Toronto shortly. They are members of the Canadian Women's Keepfit movement, led by Natalie Platner, who believe that stretching and bending to music will keep them in good trim. Here are a group of the girls in one of the fluid, rippling exercises developed by Ted Shawn, world-famous dancer.

"SPRING FEVER"

The need of a spring medicine seems to be universal. This is due to the fact that during the winter months the blood becomes clogged up with impurities owing to the amount of heavy food eaten to supply bodily warmth, and to the lack of sufficient exercise.

Is it any wonder, then, when the warm days of spring approach, that the sluggish blood protests and causes that tired, listless, all-gone, don't-care-to-work feeling which is so prevalent at this time of year?

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Purifies and cleanses the blood of the accumulated impurities by acting on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys.
