Ramsay Cannot Afford Auto

(Special to the Guardian)
LONDON, June 24.—Ramsay MacDonald, the new Labor Premier of Britain, had to travel home in the subway after the Pilgrims' dinner to General Dawes, because he cannot afford an automobile owing to his inadequate salary as Premier. This spectacle is being exploited by the newspapers which are advocating an increase in the emoluments of office. Mr. MacDonald receives $25,000 a year for holding Britain's government, but the position cost his predecessor, Stanley Baldwin, $45,000 a year. Naturally, Prime Ministers are reluctant to raise the question, but it is believed that this session will see a move by opposition parties to get the salaries paid them increased.

CATHEDRAL CHURCH NOW A BASILICA

Arrangements An- nounced for Consecration of Basilica on Wednesday.

The opening ceremonies in connection with the celebration of the centenary of St. Dunstan's Cathedral take place at 7 p. m. this evening, when there will be recitation of Matins and Lauds before the relics that are to be inserted in the altars to be consecrated. The service will be followed by a reception of the clergy at St. Joseph's Convent. The consecration service begins tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

In connection with the celebration of the centenary and the consecration of St. Dunstan's Cathedral the following announcement was read at the morning services on Sunday:

"What has been hitherto called the Cathedral may be referred to as the Basilica of Saint Dunstan's for it has pleased the Holy See in view of the faith and devotion of the people of the diocese in erecting so beautiful a Home of God of the fact that Charlottetown is the first Diocese of the Maritime Provinces, of the zeal of the Island Diocese in sending forth so many missionaries and of the occasion of the centenary celebration to confer upon our Cathedral the title and dignity of a Minor Basilica with all its privileges. The Brief conferring this dignity has not yet arrived but we have received word that the title has been conferred and the documents are now on their way in the mail.

"We should all be most grateful to The Holy See for this wonderful and gracious mark of appreciation of our efforts and should manifest our gratitude by more frequent and sincere prayers for the welfare of our Holy Father. We would request all the faithful of the city to do as much as possible to decorate their homes and grounds on this festive occasion.

"The Pontiff directs that in connection with the ceremony of the consecration of a Church the congregation be exhorted to fast and abstain on the day previous. There is no obligation under pain of sin but we would like our faithful to participate in the religious function by fasting and abstaining on Tuesday and by receiving Communion on that day if possible.

"The first part of the ceremony will take place outside the Basilica on the front steps and as the clergy will have to form processions around the Church three times before entering. It we request the faithful who attend the ceremony to remain somewhat removed from the steps and the building in order to afford facility for these processions and when the procession forms around the Church they can follow behind the clergy.

"When the Church is opened to the faithful it should be remembered that a part of the ceremony of the blessing is still to be completed and all the aisles and the space at the door must be left free for the Apostolic Delegate to encircle the Church as required. When the pews are filled therefore the remainder of the people should remain in the vestibule until the Church has been entirely blessed when they can enter for the Pontifical Mass and for the sermon which is to be delivered by His Grace Archbishop O'Leary of Edmonton.

"During the blessing of the Basilica outside the interior must be entirely empty and even when the Clergy enter the faithful must not enter with them as the Clergy are to return to the threshold for further ceremonies. It is only when the signal is given for entering the Church that the pews can be filled with the aisles free as above stated. We request the ushers to see that these directions are followed to the letter and we ask the faithful to co-operate with the ushers in every way in order to avoid confusion."

Prince Spends Quiet Birthday

(Special to the Guardian)
SUNNINGDALE, Eng., June 24.—The Prince of Wales spent his thirty-fifth birthday quietly at his country house, "Middleton," here. He motored over to Windsor Castle during the day to see his Royal parents, and in the evening gave a private dinner to a few intimate friends. Congratulations from friends and members of the Royal Family arrived all day. Official congratulations from the Dominions and abroad were sent to York House, and will reach the Prince when he returns to London.

time of the dedication of the Cathedral in 1919, will be of interest: The design of the exterior is of pure Gothic of the later fifteenth century type, flanked on the east front by two Gothic towers rising to a height of 200 feet. Over the ceiling of the transepts and the nave rises a third spire to the height of 140 feet or 60 feet above the main roof. The front is of massive Gothic carved in stone, adorned with many turrets. The building, which is the largest cathedral in the Maritime Provinces, is in the form of a Gothic cross, 271 feet in length and 120 feet in width at the transepts. The nave is 200 feet in length by 90 feet in width, and the front is 180 feet wide, including the tower. The foundation of the building is of Wallace stone and the upper structure of Miramichi free stone.

The interior design is based on the works of the decorated period of Gothic. On entering, the vestibule immediately commands attention. The roof is vaulted, the whole structure being of carved stone with green Vermont marble dados and caps with dark Tennessee marble bases. Among the ornaments in carved stone, which are all very artistic, are to be noted the medallion figures of four of the great doctors of the church, St. Gregory, St. Augustine, St. Ambrose, St. Jerome. The floor of the vestibule is of Terrazo marble panels. In the two towers from which the concrete steps lead to the organ loft or gallery are two niches destined for shrines and flanked on both sides by Connemara marble columns. The main doorways, three in number, are double, constructed of massive oak with brass turnings and open immediately into the vast nave. The view from the rear of the nave affords to the spectator a rare scene of architectural beauty. The pleasing lines of the vaulted roof replete with delicate and intricate ornaments, the vast pillars of beautiful marble blending with the varied colored marbles of the dado. The Sanctuary railing, the altar stalls and ornaments present a scene unique in the architectural beauties of the Dominion. The extensive decorations made to the church last year have added much to the beauty of the interior.

The main piers in the nave of the Cathedral are finished in Skyros marble, the main shafts from these carrying up to the ceiling and supporting the vaulting. Moulded arches spring from the capitals of the piers along the full length of the nave carrying the clerestory.

Electric Storm Causes Death And Destruction

(Special to the Guardian)
MONTREAL, June 24.—Montreal and vicinity, as well as the mountainous district to the north and the eastern townships to the south, today began counting the cost of damage done when an electrical storm which at times assumed cyclonic proportions, swept down from the north late yesterday and for about an hour spread death and destruction in its path. Six lives were lost, according to available reports early today, but the death toll may be higher when communication with outlying points is restored and final reports of the storm damage reach the city.

Property damage will run well into the millions, a loss of $1,000,000 being sustained at Sault Au Recollet alone, where the Convent of the Sacred Heart was totally destroyed by fire which was started by a bolt of lightning.

Funeral Will Be Held Wednesday

(Special to the Guardian)
OTTAWA, June 24.—Following a conference of relatives and intimate friends today it was decided that Right Hon. W. S. Fielding would be buried in Ottawa. The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 3 p. m. No decision has been reached as to whether it will be a state funeral. Announcement as to which will probably be made later in the day.

The death of the great statesman which occurred last night, has cast a gloom over the city where he had lived through so many years of his political activity.

The flags are flying at half mast and tributes to his life and work are many. It had been suggested that the remains of Mr. Fielding be taken to his native province of Nova Scotia, but the family chose that the last resting place be beside the resting place of his wife and daughter, (Mrs. J. A. Cameron) who were buried here. Telegrams pouring in today bear witness of the widespread mourning over the passing of Canada's great Finance Minister of former years.

DAWES SPEECH CAUSES STIR

(Special to the Guardian)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—The recent speech of Charles G. Dawes, United States Ambassador in London, on naval armaments, which has given fresh impetus to the discussions of the problem, was submitted prior to its delivery to representatives of other nations, apparently with a view of encouraging co-operation among the powers and preventing the question becoming strictly an Anglo-American affair. Canada was one of the nations which was given full details on the speech Japan, Italy and France also received copies.

"Whoopee Ride" Ends In Death

(Special to the Guardian)
TORONTO, Ont., June 24.—One death has resulted and another is feared from the accident in a "whoop-pee ride" at Sunnyside on Friday night. John Kempthorne, 30 year old visitor from Paris, Ont., died in St. Joseph's hospital Saturday evening, 2 1/2 hours after he had been impaled on a fence picket in a 15-foot fall from his seat in an aerial car. His sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Ballene of 376 McCroberts Avenue, is believed dying, suffering from fractures of the skull and pelvis. Frank and Jack Ballene, husband and son of Mrs. Ballene, are recovering.

Official investigation is to begin at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Chief Coroner Dr. M. M. Crawford will conduct a jury through an inspection of the "whoop-pee" machine. After this inspection, the inquest will be adjourned for a few days, possibly long enough to permit the presence of Ballene and his son to testify.
