TO-NIGHT—Teachers' Institute at 8 o'clock. Teachers meet at 7.30 for discussion of questions.

The funeral of the late Archibald Macmillan will be held on Sunday at eleven o'clock, instead of today, as at first announced.

The Stanley is yet at sea, just where she is, is not known by those on shore as the thickness of the weather yesterday prevented seeing very far.

The trains were delayed yesterday by the snow drifts, the eastern arriving here about 12.30 o'clock. The train from Tignish stuck in a heavy drift near DeBlois and is still unable to make any further headway.

The GUARDIAN sympathises with Mr. E. M. Sipprell, General agent for the Maritime Provinces of the Ontario Mutual Life Insurance Co., and Mrs. Sipprell, in the death of their infant daughter which is recorded in another column. Mr. Sipprell has many friends in this city who will regret his loss.

At Souris on Thursday six Scot Act cases were disposed of by Stipendiary Magistrate Blanchard. M. J. Foley, John D. Lavie, Catherine Johnston and H. Hooper were convicted and each was fined $50 and costs or two months imprisonment. The summons against Roderick Macdonald and James Moynagh, were dismissed.

By way of variation, THE GUARDIAN publishes in place of the regular weekly sermon, a symposium on church union by a number of the prominent ministers in the different denominations in answer to a question submitted by the Christian Guardian asking what would have to be changed or removed in the leading churches ere union between these bodies might be brought about.

The C. B. C's of this city spent a most enjoyable time last evening in the Parlor of the W. C. T. U. The parlor was turned into the form of a car and the route supposed to be traveled was from Charlottetown to Rossland. At each station they stopped, a part of the programme was rendered. Prof. Hawley's solo called for an encore to which he responded. When they reached the end of their journey refreshments were served, and they closed by singing the national anthem.

The death of Mr. George Jackson, Brackley Point Road, will be heard with much regret by the friends of the bereaved wife and children. Deceased was a well and favorably known farmer and his demise being somewhat sudden, is especially sad. He took ill with pneumonia on Thursday, the 2nd inst., and lived but till last Wednesday night at 10 o'clock. To the mourning relatives THE GUARDIAN extends its sympathy.

The hearing of Mr. J. H. Bell's preliminary objections to the petition filed against him was to have taken place yesterday morning before Judge Fitzgerald. Mr. Stewart, Q. C. and Mr. Wyatt appeared for the petitioner, while Mr. Bell, Mr. D. A. McKinnon and Mr. Richard Johnson appeared on Mr. Bell's behalf. Mr. Bell made an application to postpone the matter owing to the illness of Mr. F. L. Hazard, his attorney. The application was strongly opposed by Mr. Stewart, who pointed out that the objections were put in by Mr. Bell and he should be ready to sustain them. The judge granted the application and adjourned the hearing until Monday. Mr. Bell wanted a much longer adjournment but this was refused.

In a recent issue of the Monetary Times, there is a picture of the Canadian Board of Commerce in Dawson City. In front of the building among a number of officials and residents Mr. Brent Dawson of Charlottetown is easily recognized.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—At 8 o'clock this evening in Y. M. C. A. parlor. Mr. F. B. Messervey will give a paper on "The Theory of Public Speaking." The public, who heretofore have taken a deep interest in this society, are cordially invited to be present.

The P. W. College Debating Club was opened at 7 o'clock last night by the President Mr. D. S. McLeod taking the chair. The subject for discussion was "Which gives the more pleasure, Anticipation or Realization." The attendance was small, owing to other attractions. The decision of the members was in favor of Realization. The subject for next night is "Which has done the more for a country, the statesman or the soldier?"

In a copy of the Halifax Nova Scotian, published in 1839, there is an advertisement that is of some interest to the people of New Glasgow, but especially to the very few remaining that connect the present with the past of sixty years ago, says the Eastern Chronicle. New Glasgow N. S. The Mr. Metcalf referred to did business on the stand now occupied by James S. Fraser. We give the advertisement as taken from the Nova Scotian, observing at the same time that human nature was much the same three-score of years ago as now; and also, the catch word, cheap goods, was so seemed as common then as now: "Thom's Metcalf, of New Glasgow, Pictou, will have for sale in May, an extensive supply of every description of British Goods. Also in casks port wine, and brandy, &c. &c. The goods will be sold in any quantities and at prices unprecedented. T. M. is enabled to sell extraordinary low from the fact that the goods are imported direct from the warehouses of his relations in London. Under these great advantages T. M. invites those Merchants who get their supply from Halifax to inspect his prices. Gentlemen from Prince Edward Island are particularly invited for the great facility [he] locality of New Glasgow presents to the Island compared to the time, trouble and expense of visiting Halifax. The Public are informed that the goods will be sold by retail at wholesale prices." &c.

A Mistaken Idea.

Some persons have an idea that the TALCUM POWDER we are selling at 10c a tin is no good, on account of the low price. This impression is speedily removed the first time it is used. It is a good Talcum Powder in every respect, and we are giving our customers the benefit of the low price we obtained, by buying a large quantity of it. Think of it as a 25c package for 10c.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL.

Public Meeting in St. Paul's School Room Last Evening.

The ladies of the Local Council had reason for congratulation in the large assemblage which quite filled St. Paul's Schoolroom, notwithstanding the most severe weather last evening. The proceedings were full of interest, opening with a piano duet by Miss Amy Moore and Miss Burbidge.

The address read by the President, Mrs. Anderson was full of information as to the inception of the Women's Council movement, its introduction to Canada, the formation of the first local council at Toronto, the institution of the National Council, the spread of the organization throughout Canada, its aims, methods and the work it has already accomplished.

After a well-executed instrumental number in which Miss H. Palmer, Miss B. Anderson and Miss M. Palmer took part, Dr. James McLeod read a valuable and instructive paper on sanitation as a preventive of disease with special reference to consumption. He treated of consumption as an admittedly infectious disease, the germs of which may be received from many sources, contact with infected persons, infected houses, dust, the use of the milk of tuberculous cows, &c. He gave alarming statistics showing how very large a proportion of the total mortality arises from tuberculosis. The tuberculin test when applied to cows in England and Germany showed from 40 to 50 per cent of infected cows, and these in many cases to all outward appearance healthy and in good condition. Careful inspection of milk offered for sale in sections of England had shown that 25 per cent was from tuberculous cows. All this went to show that tuberculosis was largely preventable. The infection derived from diseased milk might attack the brain, the lungs, the glands or the alimentary canal. The necessity of keeping the herds uncontented, the inspection of milk, the better ventilation of houses, and the isolation of tuberculous patients, together with the good results from sanitariums for consumptives were touched upon. Dr. McLeod regretted that this province has no machinery for the collection of vital and mortality statistics. We have no means of knowing how many of our people are yearly dying from preventable diseases. In this respect we are behind almost all civilized countries. In civic affairs we are just as bad, with a medical officer paid a mere pittance, no inspection of houses, and no provision that a house shall have even one faucet for water. He thought the Women's Council had here a great field for originating their influence to bear on the government and City Council, and he felt sure that the Mayor, a medical man, would heartily co-operate with them as would the profession generally.

A pleasing vocal duet by Miss Winnie Cotton and Mr. McLeod followed, after which Mrs. Robert Campbell read a valuable paper in favor of appointing women members of school boards as had been done with advantage in other cities.

Judge Warburton in speaking to this question said the matter had been brought before him while he was Premier and had then received his favorable consideration. He suggested that it might be better to deal with it in a comprehensive way by a general law applicable throughout the province.

Rev. Mr. Fullerton followed, speaking in favor of the proposal, on which it was intended the Presbytery of P. E. Island should give an expression of opinion. He thought it desirable that the womanhood of P. E. Island should be represented not on the city school boards alone, but on the provincial Board of Education as well.

Before the singing of the National Anthem, which closed the highly interesting meeting, the President announced that a meeting of the executive of the Local Council will be held this afternoon at Prince of Wales College.
