Future Educational Needs Sought By College Survey
(United Press)

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 7.—A sweeping educational inventory of Northwestern University will be made by prominent educators of sister universities. President Walter Dill Scott has announced. Every department and school in the colleges will be inventoried, the first attempt of its kind made by a major institution, he said.

"The public is aware that the number attending institutions of higher learning has increased, and that the cost of education has increased at an even faster rate," said President Scott. "These changes are, however, among the least significant of those that are occurring. We are altering our view as to the ideals and aims of education, and we are modifying our methods as the approved practices of attaining the desired aims."

"Educational administrators are attempting not only to adopt approved methods, but to forecast the future in an attempt to make the educational institution perform the greatest service to the students, to the community and to the advance of civilization. We have undertaken a survey that in thoroughness and in breadth of view will compare favorably with any survey made by any industrial, commercial or educational institution."

The list of "auditors" includes: Prof. John J. Coss, Columbia University; Dean E. P. Lyon, University of Minnesota; Dr. W. J. Geis, Columbia University; C. R. Mann, American Council on Education; Dean Charles M. Thompson, University of Wisconsin; Prof. J. M. O'Neil, University of Wisconsin; Prof. Frank Scott, University of Minnesota; Dr. Alfred Z. Reed, Carnegie Foundation; Dean James Hayden Tufts, University of Chicago; and Dean F. J. Kelley, University of Minnesota.

ADDRESS WITHOUT COUNTRY SPEEDS LETTER PROMPTLY

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Pierre Wertheimer, owner of Epinard, was the only address on a letter postmarked London, which recently reached the Paris central postoffice. M. Wertheimer found it on his desk when he returned from America last Wednesday.

An employee of the postoffice, a close follower of the turf, had without hesitation sent the letter to Eugene Leigh's training quarters at Malsons-Laffitte, whence it was transmitted to M. Wertheimer's office in Paris.

There must have been similar cooperation in the London post office as the missive was not even marked for the country in which M. Wertheimer lived.

BLUE CLOTH COAT IS TRIMMED WITH GRAY SQUIRREL

Blue broadcloth makes the girl's coat shown here. The model is built on the perfectly straight lines that are so smart and fasten with one button at the side. Narrow gray squirrel trims the collar, cuffs and hem and an unusual note is seen in the strips of material that loop back to form a border over the squirrel.

The little hat is of blue felt with a black velvet crown.

ENJOYS EVERY MEAL
SAYS MONTREAL MAN

Leocalier Gives Tanlac Full Credit

Another well known Montreal business man pays high tribute to the merit of Tanlac. This time it is Hector Leocalier, dairy and grocery merchant, 390 Beaubien St. Mr. Leocalier resides at 1922 Chateaubriand Avenue, Montreal.

Here is what he says: "I am now enjoying my three square meals a day, sleep good at night and feel fine, but that is vastly different from the condition I was in before taking Tanlac I used to have indigestion so bad I dreaded to eat and could hardly keep anything down."

"Besides, I was troubled with bronchitis, dizzy spells and upset nerves. My tongue was coated white, my energy gone and I felt worn-out all the time. Seven bottles of Tanlac has stopped my troubles and now I am a new and different man."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

RURAL COMMENT

OTTAWA, Oct. 30.—The fine open autumn which has prevailed throughout Eastern Canada has permitted farmers to get ahead with fall work. On the other hand, it has been against much movement in hay and grain from the farm, and the buying of feeding stuffs.

With the exception of Prince Edward Island, there is not much movement at present in hay and grain. In Prince Edward Island, however, farmers are said to be taking advantage of the present navigation situation to ship all the hay and oats which they may sell. Thrashing is general throughout Eastern Canada, and judging from reports received, the total yield of cereals will be normal, and much more evenly distributed throughout Eastern Canada than last year. In Ontario there has been considerable movement of fall wheat, on account of the prevalent high price of wheat. In this province the several clover seed crops are being threshed also. With the exception of red clover, which crop has proven a real failure this year, some excellent yields are reported. The present interest of Ontario farmers is in filling silos and fall ploughing, while in the corn countries of Western Ontario the harvest of this crop is in full swing, to other fall work.

Tree Rings May Aid Weather Forecast
Scientist Believes

(United Press)
TUSCON, Ariz., Nov. 7.—The tree as an accurate and reliable assistant in the task of long-range weather forecasting may be the outcome of more than 20 years of study by Dr. A. E. Douglass, director of Steward Observatory and professor of astronomy at the University of Arizona here.

A definite connection between the annual rings on trees and rainfall has been established. Dr. Douglass said. The first inkling of such a possibility occurred to the scientist 20 years ago while he was working near Prescott, Ariz. He discovered that the annual rings on pine trees there corresponded, by showing rapid or slow seasonal growth, to the average rainfall over the past 40 years.

From the tree rings Dr. Douglass worked out the probable variations of the sun during the past four or five centuries. He received striking corroboration of his theories and work more than two years ago in a letter from Dr. E. W. Alder, an English astronomer, who has been studying the sun's spots historically and found a dearth of them from 1650 to 1715. Dr. Douglass' further studies have indicated that such a condition can be traced through the annual rings of the pine trees.

Dr. Douglass' pamphlet on the subject, "Some Aspects of the Use of the Annual Rings of Trees in Climate Study," recently was selected by the Smithsonian Institution as one of the scientific classics of the year. The Arizona scientist has been invited to speak on the subject before the Carnegie Institute at Washington, D. C., in December.

He hopes to aid materially in increasing the accuracy of long range weather forecasting through his discoveries. At present he is investigating the giant Sequoias, some of which have been pronounced the oldest living things. He hopes to obtain data for a period extending probably 3,000 years back.

Washington Likely To Be Business Meeting Center

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Washington may soon add to its other attainments that of the business meeting center of the country. The recently opened auditorium in the new home of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, its officials here say, will soon become the rendezvous of special lines in the commercial world. They point to the gathering of the Chamber of Commerce secretaries from over the country in the auditorium as the forerunner of similar conclaves, where business men of kindred interest will discuss their common problems in a home of their own.

As evidence of the diversification of these special units within the national chamber, the organization's roster reveals the varied scope of the activities of Mr. American Business Man. The American Cotton Waste Exchange, the American Spice Trade Association, the American Tack Manufacturers' Association, the National Selected Morticians, the International Acetylene Association, the Hydraulic Society, the Better Bedding Alliance of America, the National Aircraft Underwriters Association, the Compressed Air Society, the National Association of Taxicab Owners, the Plate Glass Insurance Exchange of New York and the United States Trade-Mark Association appear in the lengthy of business units.

The national chamber's officials expect that organizations such as these will gather in the auditorium on the first floor of the new "workshop of American business." Thus, they think, will Washington take leadership as the focus point for commercial discussion.
