

SHOTS FIRED AT NORWEGIAN STEAMER

(Special to The Guardian)
BALTIMORE, Md., April 8.—The Baltimore Sun, in a copyrighted story today, said two of six shots fired on the Norwegian-registered banana boat, Juan, by a coastguard boat narrowly missed striking the ship as it steamed up Chesapeake Bay on Friday morning. Capt. Karl Anderson, the master of the vessel, and Paul E. Kesterson, the pilot who brought the Juan from outside the capes into port in Baltimore, has protested to the Norwegian consul, the newspaper will say.

Kesterson is quoted as saying the last shot fired by the boat marked CG-189, passed over the stern of the ship and struck in the water about where the Juan would have been had the pilot not swung sharply to starboard after hearing the preceding shot. He saw the cutter when he boarded the Juan outside the Capes, and at one time it was within talking distance, he said, but gave no sign and made no effort toward boarding the ship while following it about an hour.

After the shooting, Kesterson said, the commanding officer of the coastguard boat did not appear, but sent aboard two men who asked to see the ship's papers, and queried whether she was bound. They intimated they thought the banana cargo was a camouflage, but after peering down into the hold seemed satisfied there was no liquor aboard, Kesterson said. After being permitted to proceed, the Juan continued to Baltimore and unloaded her banana cargo here on Saturday. She is chartered by the United Fruit Company.

making satisfactory progress under the management of the following teachers, Miss Eileen Morrissey of Montague, in Hebron district, Miss Linda Currie of Elmsdale in Milburn, Miss Eva Sabine in West Point, Mrs. Albert Betts in Glenwood, and Mrs. Wm. A. Gilcash in Dunblane. In those latter districts it was found impossible to secure teachers and the trustees were compelled to engage former teachers who are now residents in the districts. The youths of these sections are not pleased with this state of affairs but perhaps they themselves are to blame. For many years every young lady who came to this locality to teach was induced to change her name, and become a permanent resident, so that there is probably not another section in P. E. I. where so many former teachers live in an equal ratio. But of late years this state of affairs has changed and several teachers have come and gone. The youths of today appear as gallant as those of former years, the girls are even more bewitchingly beautiful, and yet Dan Cupid does not seem to be as busy as in days of yore. Wherein lies the explanation? Is it the low prices of farms coupled with the prospects of higher salaries for teachers? Whatever the cause it is up to the young swains to spruce up and regain for this locality the reputation which formerly held, and there then will be no difficulty in obtaining teachers for our schools.
