BARBARA'S QUESTION IS ANSWERED

CHAPTER CIII

The question the seer first picked was the only one I had asked in which I was vitally interested. I had purposely made the others innocuous. I turned hot then cold as I waited. Could he, and would he tell me anything worth knowing about Neil, and his business methods? I waited impatiently as he held the paper against his forehead.

"The man is not fundamentally dishonest, but he has in some way lost his perspective where business integrity and probity are the issues. He is going to have some sort of trouble. This trouble will be caused by his lack of probity in business. But I see happiness if not success for him too." That was all. He then took the other questions and answered them, some of them at much greater length than he had this one in which I was so intensely absorbed.

Robert would live to grow up, father and mother would not die for many years, etc., etc. But almost as he answered the questions I forgot what he said, so intent was my mind upon what he had said of Neil. Could it be that this man really knew anything of the future.

I asked myself this question, not realizing in the least that in my written query I had given him the answer myself.

"What did he tell you?" aunt asked excitedly as we gained the street.

"Oh, not very much," I repeated his answers to my other questions anent Robert, father and mother, etc.

"But I think he told you a lot. It will make you so easy about little Robert, and your father and mother. But didn't you ask him a thing about Neil."

"Oh, certainly. He said he saw happiness ahead of him." I had no intention of confiding any more.

"Well I asked him all about Neil's business. I mean if he were to be successful, and if whatever was worrying him would get straightened out. You see Neil is the only relative I have in the world, and I have been dreadfully worried about him lately," she added apologetically. "He is in some sort of trouble I am sure."

"What did he say to you?" I felt a little indignant that aunt had asked questions about Neil's business affairs, yet I was so anxious to know what she had been told that I hid the resentment from her.

"He said that the man I asked about was on the verge of some trouble in his affairs. That his health was giving way under the strain; and that unless he changed his tactics he would regret it always."

I shivered with dread and apprehension. I had no way of knowing that aunt, as had I, had given the information in her question. That almost anyone with a keen brain would have made the same deduction as had the man to whom we had paid ten dollars for a few minutes of his time.

"It is ridiculous for him to have talked that way. I know Neil is worried and anxious, what man as young as he who made so much money wouldn't? It is almost insulting." Then after a moment's silence I added: "I hope you won't repeat that to Neil. I wouldn't let him know you had questioned the man about him or his affairs if I were you. He doesn't like anything that looks like interference, you know," I said, thinking of his wish that his aunt would go home.

"I guess I have the right to ask anything I want to. And as for interfering, it would have been better if I had done that when I first came. I am not blind Bab. I know there is something queer about Neil's business affairs. I also know you are aware of it, and that it worries you causes you great anxiety."

"I do worry," I admitted. Then anxious to disabuse her mind of any suspicion of Neil added "But only because of his health. Why Mr. Frederick told me only the other day that Neil was perfectly wonderful in business." I did not add: "if he used his keenness in the right direction," which had been the way Mr. Frederick had finished.

"Well Frederick is all right himself, but I am convinced Neil isn't," aunt said decidedly just as we reached home.

SOLDIERS ANDS SAILORS THREATENED ATTACK ON BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, May 26.—Thousands of discharged soldiers and sailors out of employment, armed with stones and other missiles, marched toward the House of Commons today. They came into conflict with the police barring the approaches, however, and were scattered.

Later the procession was reformed and marched toward Buckingham Palace, but the demonstration broke up before it reached the Palace. There were no further disorders.

The demonstration followed a big meeting held in Hyde Park during the afternoon, where the discharged soldiers and sailors demanded work and a minimum wage scale.

Similar demonstrations were held throughout the country during the day.

MANY LIVES SAVED BY SANITARY PRECAUTIONS

Sanitation is no longer looked upon as a fad. Gradually the public have become educated to the necessity of sanitary methods being followed in all things.

It is a poor housekeeper indeed who does not keep "Sanitation" as a watchword in her household. True, the trials of the housewife are many, and there seems little time to take precautionary methods that somehow seem a little useless, but after all they are worth while.

In the bathroom, perhaps more than in any other part of the house, the greatest care should be taken to keep the fixtures in a sanitary and spotless condition. Snowflake Ammonia dissolved in boiling water and used freely will prove just what is needed to cut the grease and soap lines that accumulate in the bath tub and wash basin. Chloride of lime added to a little stronger solution of Snowflake and water will remove the most obstinate stains from the toilet bowl. After that the Snowflake Ammonia solution is sufficient to keep the whole bathroom white and sanitary. Snowflake may be obtained from all grocers.—Advt.

I OFFER HEALING!

For quick healing nothing equals Zam-Buk, and its power to end pain and prevent blood-poisoning is equally wonderful. No home should be without it, not only for burns, scalds and cuts, but also for eczema, ulcers, boils, ringworm, rashes, blood-poisoning and piles. ECZEMA

Mrs. Hector McDonald of Oyster Ponds, N.S., writes: "For a year I suffered terrible pain and irritation with eczema. Doctor's treatment and so-called 'cures' did me no good. Then I tried Zam-Buk, which has completely cured me."

BLOOD-POISONING

Mrs. S. Cuff of Mellette, cut her hand on a piece of tin and blood-poisoning set in. She says: "The poison spread to my shoulder and the pain was awful. My doctor attended me, but I got no better until I used Zam-Buk which drew out the poison and healed the wound."

CHRONIC SORE

Miss Nellie M. Lewis, of Silver Lake, Oregon, says Zam-Buk saved her father from an operation. "He had a chronic sore on his face and the doctor advised an operation. We determined to try Zam-Buk first, which before long entirely healed the sore."

A FAMOUS CYCLIST PLUNGES DEATH

NEW YORK, May 27.—One of the biggest Sunday crowds Van Cortlandt Park has ever known, which included the wife and baby of "Dare Devil" Max Schreyer, saw the famous cyclist crash into the side of a huge tank there this afternoon when he missed his wild leap for life down a steeply graded ninety-foot incline, fracturing his skull, breaking an arm and receiving serious internal injuries.

Starting at the top of his narrow incline 142 feet above the ground, Schreyer began his plunge at 5.30 The exhibition was being staged for the benefit of the Salvation Army's home service fund campaign.

With a dash Schreyer's bicycle darted forward for the leap and dive to the water tank below. The machine behaved beautifully, and the crowd sighed audibly as it "took the air" for the sweep through space to the tank only to fall short and smash into the near side of it with a thud.

ACTORS MAY STRIKE

NEW YORK, May 24.—Broadway is much stirred up about the threatened labor was between the Producing Managers' Association, consisting of some forty of the leading theatrical producers in America, and the Actors' Equity Association. The actors' organization includes in its 4,000 members virtually all the leading stars as well as many of the chorus girls of White Light district.

The producers attended a luncheon at the Hotel Claridge yesterday, after which they went into executive session for the purpose of considering a request from the Equity Association that a committee be named to discuss the recent demands submitted by the actors.

The actors' demands, it was explained by one producer, if granted, would mean a closed shop in the theatrical world. It would also mean overtime to the actors for Sunday and holiday performances, pay for rehearsal and other reforms, many of which, the actors say, have been granted by the English producers. Failure to recognize the association by the appointment of the committee will, members of the Equity Association say, result in a walkout on the part of the members of the association.
