S'SIDE AND PRINCE CO.

THE first C. T. A. cases under the new regime came up for hearing Saturday forenoon. There were three in all, two of which were dismissed for want of evidence. The third, that against Mr. Frank Perry resulting in a conviction with the usual fine of $50 and costs.

Messrs Compton and Morris the bicycle men have moved into the store formerly occupied by Messrs Wright Bros. on Water St. This large and commodious store is well adapted to the requirements of their business having a very fine show-room with repair shop in the rear. A visit to this establishment will interest all wheelmen.

Summerside is to have a monster celebration on Queen's Birthday. There will be a parade by the school children, speeches and songs in the park. The Summerside Cornet Band will take part and it is expected the demonstration will be one of the largest in the history of Summerside. A capital committee has charge of the arrangements. Further particulars will be given later.

Miss McPhail has collected in Summerside and forwarded to the proper authorities the handsome sum of $116.80 in aid of the Indian Famine Fund. Considering the many appeals already made and generously responded to this contribution speaks well for the genuine loyalty of our citizens and especially for that of the collector who at the expense of much time and unsolicited succeeded in securing it for this most worthy object. Some further contributions have been promised and will no doubt be forthcoming in the near future.

The Island is Rich.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Correspondence from the Manila office of the Associated Press says the Americans are just beginning to realize that in the Island of Mindanao, until recently merely a big blot on the map, they have a wonderful empire, potentially the most valuable of all the Philippine possessions. Although nearly as large as island as Luzon with a much better climate and capable of being made a second Cuba in commercial value, the Spaniards never really controlled nor even explored it.

Yellow will dye a splendid red. Try it with Magnetic Dyes—costs 10 cents a package and gives fine results.

Lord Roberts as High Commissioner.

From the Spectator.

Lord Roberts' admirable handling of both the Colonials and the Dutch naturally suggests that when the war is over it is he to whom should be intrusted the task of restoring to all those benefits of freedom and self-government which have hitherto been regarded in one large section of the land not as the right of all white men, but as the monopoly of one race. Sir Alfred Milner has already been nearly five years at the Cape, and his health has, we regret to see reported, suffered from the terrible strain of recent events. Naturally he will see the war out, but when it is over he will no doubt come home. In that case no better man could be found for High Commissioner than Lord Roberts—our only doubt being whether he will not be wanted to help make that New Model Army which is destined to rise from the ruins of our present military system. He would be respected by the Boers for his military qualities, and he would respect them as brave and strong men.

It is a great mistake to suppose that a soldier is necessarily a bad man to employ in the work of pacification and the rebuilding of civic society. If he is the right kind of soldier no one can be better. It was Hoche, not a civilian, who pacified La Vendee and restored it to the Republic, not, as the Convention madly desired, as a desert, but as a province full of good citizens. The means Hoche used were those which Lord Roberts could use equally well—a clear head and a kind heart, and the desire under all circumstances not to further a personal ambition, to pay off old scores, or to humble this or that enemy or rival, but merely to do his best in the public interest.
