THE SMART SKIRT.

Killed Pattern is Useful For a Walking Costume.

The killed skirt is certainly having a vogue. It is carried out in both plain and figured goods. The lighter weight of course the better. It is becoming to almost every figure, and it makes an ideal short skirt because the weight is evenly distributed.

For a walking suit navy blue chevrot is an ideal material, as it looks well at all seasons of the year. Brown mixed goods are, however, much used in Paris and are combined with touches of green or red. The woman with red or chestnut hair looks very smart in a walking suit of iron gray mixed goods, and if she is tall she will have a three-quarter length coat held in by a suede belt.

Some of the new skirts are made with three folds finishing the lower edge and the hips slightly eased in with tucks. This is a pretty style for these materials.

Coats to wear with the separate skirts are made of covert, with strapped or inverted seams, and lined with fine baton or satin in the exact shade of the outside. There are forty-two styles, long and short, and desirable in many respects. Some have long sleeves, some have short sleeves, and some have no sleeves. They are too delicate and dainty to be used for the street.

The new and fashionable dress of lawn cloth, with its neat, tucked cape yoke. It is trimmed with brown and green plaid and buttons.

SIMPLE STYLES.

The Full Waists and Skirts Are Easy to Make.

White is always pretty for house frocks when the material is soft. It is not so expensive as it may seem, for it cleans far better than colors. Some of the housewives in particular come out as good as new and combine warmth with light effects. Ordinary clothes and waists are very smart and much used abroad, especially in champagne shades. They are used for dressy gowns, but are simply made, with fronts and lapels of gold embroidery softened with a jabet of old lace.

Some house gowns are made after the fashion of a housemaid's skirt.

OLD ROSE FRIEZE GOWN.

with a blouse bodice finished by a smart wide belt and a pelerine effect of lace or embroidery.

Although elaborate gowns and fashions are the rule, many a simple little gown can be made at home. The simple blouse waists and the full gauged skirts can be easily contrived from a pattern, and nothing looks prettier on a youthful figure.

There are some novel things for shirt waists in the new velutinas, some being embossed, some ribbed and many in rich Persian designs. Naturally these are only intended for waists, as they are not so heavy and solidly backed as that intended for full suits.

The illustration shows an old rose frieze gown trimmed with yellow kulpure and bands of sable.

"God Save the King."

The identity of the author of the melody known in England as "God Save the King" and in the United States as "America" is a matter of controversy, but there is authentic proof of the fact that the English national anthem was sung in the middle of the Eighteenth Century to the same air as now. About 1766 this melody became known on the European Continent and was adopted as the national air of Prussia, Saxony and some other North German States. It is possible, therefore, that the air reached us from Germany, but it had been used by the English long before the beginning of the last century.

YOU WILL BE ALL SMILES AGAIN.

Forget Your Stomach and You'll Have a Santa Claus Face.

HOW TO DO IT.

If there is one thing more than all others that will give a man a foreshadowing of a Santa Claus face, it is a healthy stomach. It makes one happy and contented, and it makes one forget his troubles. If you are not happy and contented, it is because your stomach is not healthy. Buy a box of Dr. Chase's Dyspepsia Tablets, and you will be all smiles again.

Dr. Chase's Dyspepsia Tablets are beyond question the most effective and popular remedy ever offered to the sufferers of indigestion. They have brought about the enormous increase of their sales fully attesting the truth of this statement.

They are, above all, a natural remedy. They possess exactly the same properties as the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach, and they actually do the digestive work of the stomach and enable the organs to rest and recuperate and become sound and well. They act in a mild, natural manner and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They prevent a fermentation of the food which causes your stomach to feel flat, under their influence the subject forgets that he has a stomach and his resulting cheerfulness presents a contrast to his former dejection.

Millions of boxes of Dr. Chase's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold annually and they are but in the dawn of their popularity. Every mail brings letters of thanksgiving from grateful ones who have been cured of this terrible disease. The following is one of the letters received each week:

Rev. J. R. Hoag of Wrentham, Neb., writes: "For six years I have been troubled with dyspepsia. Last fall I became very much alarmed at some symptoms of heart trouble and came to believe there was a sympathetic relation between the two diseases, or rather that the stomach trouble was the cause of the heart disturbance. I hit upon Dr. Chase's Dyspepsia Tablets for a remedy and invested a dollar and a half for three boxes which lasted me three months and I can eat any kind of food I want and have a good, vigorous appetite. Although I am 77 years old, I now feel perfectly well without being requested by anyone I make this statement as a compliment to the virtues of Dr. Chase's Dyspepsia Tablets."
