THE CHANNEL TUNNEL.

The project of constructing a railway Tunnel under the Channel that separates England from France is not of recent date. Years ago the necessary surveys and borings were made, the work pronounced entirely practicable by eminent engineers, the company duly incorporated, the capital secured and the work of construction actually begun. Work was stopped after a mile or so of the submarine passage was excavated, because of the absurd fear that England might be invaded by that route.

Now there are better relations between England and France than there were then, and the only fear of an invasion of England is from Germany. Britain and France being in close accord, it is now felt that the Channel Tunnel, if constructed, would be more likely to prove an assistance to defence than a source of danger, and on this ground, and as a commercial and business enterprise, there is a revival of the Tunnel project.

Though the work will be a very costly one,—the distance to be tunneled under sea being more than three times that which separates this Province from the mainland at the Capes—there seems to be abundant evidence that the Channel Tunnel would pay good dividends on its cost. At any rate it can easily be financed as a business venture. There is an enormous volume of trade and travel between the fortyfive millions of people in the British Isles and the forty millions in France, to say nothing of the Continent, to be served by the proposed submarine highway.

From what we read it seems not improbable that the work will be undertaken within the next few years. We sincerely hope it may. Every work of that kind successfully carried out brings our own Tunnel project measurably nearer to its realisation. We believe that both will yet be built. The English Channel is never obstructed by ice, as our Northumberland Strait is in winter, and navigation is always open there, but travellers want to avoid the unpleasantness of a rough passage by water, and the saving of transhipment in the enormous freightage between the two countries calls loudly for an all-rail route from London to Paris. It must come.

THE FIRE-SWEPT TERRITORY.

The country which has suffered by fire within the past few days, with loss of life from this cause beyond all precedent in Canadian history lies northward from Georgian Bay. At the east end of Georgian Bay is North Bay and thence the Toronto and North Ontario Railway runs north say 100 miles to Cochrane, its present terminus and at its junction with the National Transcontinental Railway. The burning area lies on both sides of the T and N. O. Railway.

Along this line in order, beginning at North Bay and proceeding northward, lie the towns and mining camps of Temigami, Cobalt, Englehark, Matheson, Kelso and Cochrane. Porcupine is at the end of a short branch line running out northwest from Kelso. South Porcupine and Pottsville lie to the west of the main line. The country is in forest, broken by clearings at the towns, railway stations and mining camps. Continued dry weather and great heat has made the forest like tinder. The burning and burned area covers some ten thousand square miles, or five times the area of Prince Edward Island.

In such a country under such conditions little or nothing can be done to check the sweep of the forest fires, but the fire sufferers, many of whom have lost their all, are quite easily accessible by the railway which runs through the country from south to north, so that they can be taken out to safety or their present wants can be supplied as occasion demands. But the loss of life has been at best accounts appalling, and the property loss, although of less consequence, has been enormous, running into many millions.

Many of the miners, surrounded by flames and all way of escape cut off, took refuge in the mine shafts and were smothered. Others, including women and children, who sought refuge in the waters of Porcupine lake were drowned. The entire area of thousands of square miles was filled with prospectors camping in the woods, singly or in twos and threes, aod hence the impossibility of learning how many are dead or living. All accounts agree that the disaster has been an unprecedented one, and the country must remain in constant danger until rain shall come.

OLD FOLKS COUGHS

Because Resisting Power is Weak Pneumonia Often Follows.

Tells of a Sure Cure and a Never-failing Comfort for colds, Coughs, Catarrah.

One of the worst terrors of old age is that distressing chronic cough. Colds settle on the chest, are wrongly treated with drug-laden and chest-weakening cough syrups, and from year to year the condition has grown worse. Formerly the cough went away when fine weather came, but now bad weather makes it worse and fits of racking, tearing, coughing make life a burden.

Because you are old is no reason for suffering with everlasting coughing—those terrible chest troubles and difficult breathing can be thoroughly cured with Catarrhozone. You simply breathe the healing vapor of Catarrhozone and instantly its rich balsamic fumes are carried by your breath into the tiniest recesses of the nose, throat, chest, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Just think of it—a direct breathable medicine, full of soothing antiseptic pine essences that reaches every sore, congested membrane in two seconds. No drugs to take—nothing to harm the aged or the infant, because Catarrhozone is the purest, safest cough, catarrh and cold remedy ever devised.

Mrs. M. E. Walford, wife of a well known grocer in East Sheffield, writes: "For three years I suffered with a hard racking cough and bronchial irritation which annoyed me so much at night I couldn't sleep. I tried many remedies, catarrh tablets, sprays, syrups, etc., but they only helped for a short time. Catarrhozone brought me wonderful comfort from the first. I inhaled its balsamic fumes every hour or two and am now free from any trace of catarrh. I can go out in all kinds of weather and don't take cold."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

NOTES.

At the election of 1908 the four Provinces west of the great lakes returned 34 members, 17 of whom were Liberals and 17 Conservatives. The popular vote in the four Provinces stood 101,519 Liberals and 109,287 Conservatives.

At the last civic election Mr. Paton, who had previously served as Mayor with much acceptance, was honored with a numerously signed requisition asking him to again become a candidate. He declined the nomination then, but it is understood that at the next Mayoralty election he will again be in the field.

Fine shooting was done by the gunners of the flagship Niobe in their recent target practice here, as published exclusively in The Guardian of Saturday last. A target 8 by ten feet looks very small at 1460 yards distance and to hit it five times out of six shots in 41 seconds is both rapid and accurate shooting, the more so as the ship was in motion. Both with the six inch guns at 1460 yards and with the 12 pounders at 1000 yards on a smaller target, the shooting was highly creditable.

According to a statement compiled by the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, the popular vote in the election of 1908 stood 596,533 Liberal and 579,571 Conservative. The Provinces giving Liberal majorities were Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Alberta and Saskatchewan. There were Conservative majorities in Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia. The Liberal majority in Prince Edward Island was 210 votes out of a total of 28,782 votes polled. The Government's majority in the House of Commons was 47.

The first general election in Canada after the union was held in August 1867; the second in July, 1872; the third in January, 1874; the fourth in September, 1878; the fifth in June, 1882; the sixth in February, 1887; the seventh in March, 1891; the eighth in June, 1896; the ninth in November, 1900; the tenth in November, 1904; and the eleventh in October, 1908. No elections have yet been held in April, May or December. The July election of 1872, the September election of 1878; and the June election of 1896 were followed by the fall of Governments. All the others gave a new lease to the party in power.

The amended stanza in the National Anthem sounds a more peaceful note, no doubt, than the old version. And yet it seems almost a pity in these days of graft, corruption and secret deals, that we are no longer to be allowed to sing the lines—

Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks.

Men of both parties have sung these words with great zest and feeling sometimes at political meetings, each having in mind the wickedness of the other fellow with never a thought of their own political sins. When politics and patriotism are at white heat the more fervid patriots like to curse a little, even in their prayers, and the two lines above cited gave fitting expression to their feelings. The lines will be missed at election times.

WANTS TAX ON DOWRIES OF BRIDES

WASHINGTON, July 12—A heavy tax on the dowries of American brides in international marriages, "so that the penurious but titled fortune hunters might secure but a small moiety of the price the bride pays him for a name which he himself dishonors by thus putting it up at auction to the highest bidder," was suggested by Representative Kahn of California in the House today as a means to stop alliances between American heiresses and "broken down foreign noblemen."

Mr. Kahn came warmly to the defence of "dollar diplomacy," however, and his speech was in answer to an attack by Representative Henry of Texas a week ago.

Declaring that at no time in the history of the Republic "have the American ambassadors or ministers to foreign courts been less obsequious, dressed in simpler clothes and resorted to less finesse and chicane than now," Mr. Kahn paid tributes to the late John Hay, to Elihu Root and to Philander C. Knox. He dwelt upon "the brilliant and successful efforts" of Secretary Knox to extend American trade, "and his pioneer work in making American diplomacy an intense and world-wide vigilant promotion of the interests of the American people."

Reading extracts from many musty documents in an effort to prove that in the "good old days" referred to by Mr. Henry there was less of democratic simplicity in the conduct of American diplomats abroad than now, the speaker insisted that Benjamin Franklin and other ministers of his time were paid proportionately higher salaries than present day diplomats.

As to criticisms of John Hays Hammond, special ambassador to the coronation of King George, Mr. Kahn said he believed Mr. Henry after calmer consideration would admit to himself that they were "unjustified and entirely gratuitous."

Representative Henry of Texas answered Mr. Kahn. He said it was the "vulgar extravagance" in diplomatic affairs and not the "polite formality" of which he complained. He said that American Ambassador Reid's "vice regal estate in London was not typical of the American government."

The Democratic party, he said, would go before the American people at the next election "to see whether they want our big foreign diplomatic posts to go to multi-millionaires or to the Thomas Francis Bayards and men of that sort."

"I would rather," he added, "that this country never would send another representative to Berlin than that this country should take orders from the German government as to what is to be the sine qua non of a diplomat there."

Mr. Henry said that in his opinion the reason why Dr. David J. Hill was to leave Berlin was that John Hays Hammond might come home and get his credentials and go to Berlin.

Mr. Henry referred to reports that John Hays Hammond "nudged the King," and asked the King if he was not pleased that the coronation ceremonies went off so well.

"If we send him abroad to another coronation," said Mr. Henry, "I suppose he would nudge the Queen."

A COMMISSION TO CENSOR SHOWS

TORONTO, July 13—The Ontario government has appointed George E. Armstrong, Robert Wilson and Otter Elliott, of Toronto, a provincial board of censors for moving picture show films. Each member will secure an indemnity of $500, and the headquarters for the board will be in Toronto.

In an interview, Hon. A. J. Matheson, the provincial treasurer, who introduced the act under which these shows are regulated, stated that no suggestive, immoral or obscene representations will be passed, nor will pictures of crimes or prize fights. Every film shown in Ontario will in future have to carry an annexed film bearing the printed and stamped approval of the board.

Over 4,000 films will have to be passed upon. The task will be a strain upon the eyes of the censors, but two of the board have considerable knowledge of the subject, and the minister hopes, accordingly, that rapid progress may be made.

The board will start work immediately, and it is hoped that before many weeks all films will be passed upon.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Aphorisms on Advertising

Compiled by B. Adman

"I have been thinking of advertising"—well, you're at least three laps behind the fellow that is putting his thinks into practice.

When business is good that is the time to advertise it, because it will come easy; and when it is bad that is the time to advertise it too, because you will need the orders.

Any business will grow under the influence of good management and good advertising.

An Oklahoma girl advertised for a husband—and got him. The total expense for advertising, wedding outfit, etc., was $11. He died within a year, leaving her an insurance policy of $10,000. And yet some people claim that it doesn't pay to advertise.

There is just one thing bad about good advertising. It links us up with the root of all evil quicker than anything else in the world.

Once upon a time Opportunity failed to knock at a wise man's door. But he advertised for her, and she came—and stayed.

The man who doesn't advertise because everybody knows him, like the man who says his wife doesn't powder, takes a lot for granted.

The concern which doesn't advertise because it gets everything without it, like the church with a fake minister, notices the difference in the collection plate.

If advertising is not a profitable investment why do so many successful houses in all lines of trade keep continuously at it? Are they in error, or are you? 7-17drtf.
