THE St. Vincent, Minn., New Era, says: Mrs John Munro has been a sufferer from sickness for many years, but her death was in a sense sudden and unexpected. Mrs Munro was an exemplary wife, a model mother and a devout Christian lady and her bereaved husband and four motherless children will bless her memory while life endures. To them the loss is irreparable. No other face can supplant her face, no other voice will have the same tone as hers, and a feeling of desolation will pervade the quite prairie home and the beautiful farm she as well as her husband had striven to win. The sympathy of relatives, neighbors and acquaintances is sincerely extended to Mr Munro and family in their hours of affliction. [The Mrs Munro spoken of above was a daughter of the late James Cummings of Darlington, P. E. I. Her aged mother, two sisters, Mrs. Geo. D. McLeod of Hunter River, and Mrs. Wm. Melnis of Quincy, Mass, and four brothers, one of which is Malcolm Cummings of Darlington, are left to mourn her loss, but they mourn not as those without hope.]
