PERSONALS

Mrs. Eddie Thompson left Saturday morning for her home in Toronto, Ont., after spending three weeks vacation with relatives and friends on P. E. Island.

The many friends of Mrs. Owen Kelly, Plisquid, are sorry to learn she is a patient in the City Hospital.

Miss Daisy Smith who flew from Montreal to attend the McIntyre-Bonham wedding, left on return yesterday afternoon. While in the City she was the guest of Miss Eileen Johnston, Spring Park Road.

They charged that Col. Frank Howley, United States representative, left the meeting before it was adjourned and assigned his deputy to continue for him. They said he did so because he did not want to hear their labor legislation proposals. They demanded an apology.

Howley said he had announced beforehand that he would have to leave the meeting before midnight. He said his departure did not breach Kommandatura etiquette.

The Russians had cooled off enough today to show up for three Kommandatura sub-committee meetings. These meetings proceeded normally and so far as could be learned, there was no official mention of Wednesday night's unpleasantness.

Western observers noted a significant difference from the Russian walk-out March 20 on the Allied Control Council, four-power governing body for Germany. They also boycotted sub-committee meetings of the council. Neither the Control Council nor any of its committees has met since.

Definite indications of ultimate Soviet intentions toward the Kommandatura may come June 23 when a meeting of the city's deputy commandants is scheduled.

If the Soviets attend this meeting and participate in preparation of an agenda for another commandants' meeting, it would indicate they plan to continue efforts for four-power rule of the city.

Graham's Road Play Successful

The Graham's Road Dramatic Club presented their one-act play "Mushrooms Coming Up" in the King George Hall, Kensington, on Friday night, June 11th to an appreciative audience.

Mrs. Angus Green, playing the part of Mrs. Canfield, acted the role of the distracted hostess very capably. She has two guests, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Rudd coming to lunch and is worried sick when she discovers the groceries have not been delivered. Her distinguished friend and house guest, Susan Todd, a writer, and her maid Sylvia, come to the rescue by suggesting they pick some mushrooms and serve them for lunch. Susan Todd insists on testing the quality of the mushrooms by feeding them to the dog, Bonnie Prince.

The guests arrive and are enjoying the grilled mushrooms immensely when the maid announces that Bonnie Prince is dead. Consternation reigns for some time with the four friends preparing to die of mushroom poisoning. The climax comes when the maid explains that a truck ran over Bonnie Prince and killed him.

The parts of Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Rudd were equally well taken by Miss Mary McKay and Mrs. Jack McKay. Sylvia, the maid, was realistically portrayed by Miss Laura McKay while Miss Catherine Pickering impersonated the writer, Susan Todd to perfection. Nurse Letitia was a short part taken in professional manner by Mrs. Jack McLeod. Bonnie Prince, a beautiful black and white dog had remarkable stage manners and could be another "Lassie" if he chose to go to Hollywood.

Specialties were most entertaining, consisting of a step-dance by little Myrtle Perry, vocal solos by Mrs. Russel McKay, "When Song is Sweet" and "Beautiful Dreamer" and vocal duets by Mrs. P.J. Kennedy and Mrs. Ivan Darach, "Smiling Thru" and "Sweet and Low". Instrumental music by Messrs Peter Perry, Billy Durant and Mrs. Russel McKay was much enjoyed. The singing of "God Save the King" completed the program.

Hope Russia's Action In Berlin Not Final

By Richard Kasichke

BERLIN, June 19 (AP) - There were hopeful signs tonight that the Russian walkout on Wednesday night's Kommandatura meeting might blow over without a permanent rupture of the four-power city governing body.

The Russians clumped out of the meeting angrily and without waiting for a date for the next session to be set.

They charged that Col. Frank Howley, United States representative, left the meeting before it was adjourned and assigned his deputy to continue for him. They said he did so because he did not want to hear their labor legislation proposals. They demanded an apology.

Howley said he had announced beforehand that he would have to leave the meeting before midnight. He said his departure did not breach Kommandatura etiquette.

The Russians had cooled off enough today to show up for three Kommandatura sub-committee meetings. These meetings proceeded normally and so far as could be learned, there was no official mention of Wednesday night's unpleasantness.

Murchison Roberts Wedding

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Cornwall United Church on Saturday, May 22nd, at 1:30 p.m., when Katherine Evangeline daughter of Mr. Donald Hector Murchison, York Point and the late Mrs. Murchison was united in marriage to Cleveland Roberts, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, Royalty.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. K. Charman, pastor of the church.

The wedding music was rendered by Mr. William Murchison of Clyde River, cousin of the bride.

Miss Doris Wright of Charlottetown attended the bride and Groom.

Andrew McEachern, York Point, supported the groom. Mr. Donald Woodside of New Glasgow, N. S., nephew of the bride, ushered.

The bride was lovely in a gown of ivory satin with square-cut neckline. She wore long gloves reaching her short puffed sleeves.

The gown was richly shirred at waist and the full skirt was shirred also, at sides to hemline.

A coronet of orange blossoms held her shoulder length veil of tulle in place.

She wore a single strand of pearls and carried an arm bouquet of roses.

The bridesmaid was charmingly attired in a gown of pink sheer with long sleeves. Her flower hat was of pink with finger-tip veil of net. She wore a corsage of American Beauty roses. After the ceremony a luncheon was held at the Charlottetown Hotel. The dining room table was appropriately decorated for the occasion with Spring flowers.

Afterwards the couple left on a short trip, the bride wearing a travelling costume of blue and grey. Her smart suit was of mist blue, and she wore a short top-coat of pearl grey, with hat of grey felt and matching accessories. The groom is a veteran of World Wars I and II, having served overseas in World War I and in various parts of Canada in World War II. The bride is a member of the P.E.I. Art Society many of her pictures having been exhibited.

The couple will reside at River-view, York Point.
