POLITICS RAMPANT.

Politics in England is taken even more seriously than in Canada, sometimes assuming a complexion that would sound shocking to our staid Canadian people. Here is a sample of verses on Lloyd George which went the round of the English newspapers after his celebrated Limehouse speech:

Lloyd George no doubt,
When his life ebbs out,
Will ride on a flaming chariot,
And sit in great state,
On a red hot plate
Between Satan and Judas Iscariot.

Annan, that day
To Satan will say:
My claim to priority fails,
So move me up higher,
Away from the fire,
And make room for that liar from Wales.

Lloyd George was addressing a meeting when he made the remark

WOMAN ESCAPES DREADFUL OPERATION

How She Was Saved From Surgeon's Knife by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mogadore, Ohio.—"The first two years I was married I suffered so much from female troubles and bearing down pains that I could not stand on my feet long enough to do my work. The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation, but my husband wanted me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound first. I took three bottles and it made me well and strong and I avoided a dreadful operation. I now have two fine healthy children, and I cannot say too much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. LEE MANGES, R. F. D. 10, Mogadore, Ohio.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

that Christ had twelve Apostles, but not a Peer among them. Then a voice in the crowd shouted—There was Judas Iscariot who was a thief and a liar and he was Chancellor of the Exchequer.

It is said that Lloyd George went white with rage.

MR. MAESFIELD'S NEW POEM.

A new poem by John Maesfield, the author of "The Everlasting Mercy" and "The Widow in the Bye Street," appear in the October English Review.

The new poem is called "Dauber," and tells the story of a young man who desires to paint ships and the sea from the inside. He ships, therefore, a Painter and Lampman, and hopes that in the space of three years he may be able to accomplish his quest. He was:

Young for his years and not yet twenty-two,
Sickly, and not yet brown with the sea's tan,
Bullied and damned at since the voyage began.

Yet he plies his pencil, and the smell of his paints causes the cook to blaspheme. He is an object of mystery to the crew, who

Stared through the slit to see what Dauber did;
They saw him watch the rising moon with sighs.

But Dauber reacts to the sting of the sea, and becomes something of a sailor.

The Dauber at the foretopgallant yard was at the weather arm, he was the first
To wrestle with canvas ballying hard,
Bulged by the shrieking wester's bitter burst.

Then came a gust, the sail leaped from his hands,
So that he saw it high above him grey;
And then his mate was falling; quick he clutched
An arm in oleikins swiftly snatched away,
A voice said "Christ!"

It was himself who fell, He dies,
Night fell and all night long the

Dauber lay
Covered upon the table; all night long
The pitiless storm exulted at her prey,
Huddling the waters with her icy thong.
But to the covered shape she did not wrong.
He lay under the sailcloth. Bell by bell
The night wore through; the stars arose,
The stars fell.

BABY OR GREAT PICTURE.

(Correspondent Philadelphia Ledger).
Sir George Birdwood's appeal on behalf of the Temple of Philae, now threatened by the Egyptian irrigation works, had given rise to a curious symposium in the columns of the London Daily Express. The irrigation will doubtless be of value to the Egyptian peasants. But Sir George thinks Phila of more value than Egyptians. Seeking for a parallel, he says that if he were in a garret with a Dresden Madonna on the walls and a live baby on the floor and suddenly the whole place was ablaze, he would leave the picture in preference to the baby. He says very truly that he could get another baby any day, by adoption or by grace, but there is only one Dresden Madonna to be had for love or money.

Now half the eminent people in the country have been asked by the Express to say what they would do under like circumstances.
Miss Mary Champion says that no woman would have the slightest hesitation. She would save the baby.
But, curiously enough, some of the women whose names precede her own, seem not to be so sure. Mrs. Elinor Glyn, for example, says that the question is too difficult. It is worse than the lady and the tiger, while Lady Dorothy Nevill "will give no opinion." Mrs. Humphry (Madge) admits that babies are worth only about two-pence a dozen, but "all the same—"

Sir Hiram Maxim says that one baby, "especially if a girl baby, 'tis worth a thousand times all the Madonnas in the world."
Other votes, all in favor of the baby, come from Bernard Shaw, Max Pemberton, Mrs. Belloc Lowndes, and H. G. Wells goes so far as to say that if it were a kitten instead of a baby his vote would be the same.

EMS REMEDY.

The bank, in consequence of a farmer's failure, had to finance a large farm, and last spring the man they had put in charge of it wired to the London manager of the bank, "Lambing begins next month. If drought continues will result in total loss."
"Postpone lambing till further orders," wired back the resourceful London manager.—London Opinion.
