D. C. Moron, Carligan, was in the City yesterday.

The Arena Rink has closed after a most successful season.

Lester Francis, Albany, has gone to Pictou for the summer.

Oscar Roberts, Murray River, left yesterday morning for Winnipeg.

Miss Annie McDonald has entered upon her duties as teacher in Queen Square School.

The outward cargo by the Stanley this morning will include four cars way freight and two horses shipped by J. F. Woodbury.

Among the horses shipped by the Minto yesterday morning was a beautiful Parkside driving mare shipped by Roy Mason, Bunbury to Meagher Bros Pictou.

The special services held in Grace Church from night to night are largely attended and a deep spiritual interest is being aroused. The meetings open at 7.30. Everybody interested is invited to attend.

A good deal of heavy ice floated into the harbor yesterday from the Straits outside. This with the drift ice from up the rivers gave the port a decidedly winter appearance. The Rocky Point ferry steamer had to battle with some of it yesterday afternoon.

A sad and fatal accident took place at George Davison's mill, Burlington, last week. A number of men were engaged in repairing the dam, when Wm. (Pope) Bryenton was accidentally struck in the stomach by a sledge hammer and last night succumbed to his injuries. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

In the death of Martin Pineaud the City loses a well known and highly respected citizen as was shown by the large concourse of friends who attended his funeral on Monday. Deceased was a native of Rustico, and it will be remembered that exactly twenty-eight years ago this coming summer the deceased was awarded a valuable watch by the Government of Canada in recognition of his heroic conduct in saving human life when the schooner Ancilla was wrecked at Rustico at that time.

Among the Stanley's passengers yesterday were Miss Jones, Pownall, J. B. McDonald, East Point; J. B. Finlay, Vernon; Dougall Campbell, East Point; David Collings, St. Leon; Heber McQuarrie, Reid's Corner and P. T. Morrow, Mermaid all of whom were returning from a three weeks course in the Dairy School at Sussex, N. B. The course was one of the most interesting for three years and was attended by quite a number from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. On Saturday last, those in attendance from this Province took an examination on cheese making and milk testing and passed most favorably. Dr. Landry the newly elected commissioner of agriculture visited the college three days after his election to office showing the great interest he has in agriculture and dairying in New Brunswick from an educative standpoint.

James Jeffrey Roche, whose recent death has been reported in the Guardian was editor-in-chief of the Boston Pilot up to 1905, was born in Mountmellick, Queens county, Ireland, May 31, 1847. He was the son of Edward and Margaret (Doyle) Roche. In his infancy the family moved to Prince Edward Island. Mr. Roche took the classical course at St. Dunstan's college, and received the degree of B. A. from Notre Dame college in 1871. He was engaged in commercial pursuits in Boston between the years 1866 and 1883. After that period until 1890 he was assistant editor of the Pilot under John Boyle O'Reilly. He was a member of the metropolitan police commission in 1893, and between 1904 and 1907 he was U. S. consul to Genoa, Italy. Since that time he lived at Berne, Switzerland. He was the author of "Songs and Satires," "The Life of John Boyle O'Reilly," "The Story of the Filibusters," "Ballads of Blue Water," "Her Majesty the King," "Big Ways of War," "Sorrowful of Sap'd," O'Roche's friends the most intimate was John Boyle O'Reilly, for many years his chief on the editorial staff of "The Pilot," which he himself directed after O'Reilly's death. Designing his editorial post to become consul to Genoa under the present administration. Intimacy between two ardent Irishmen, true poets and stalwart champions of liberty, dated back to their first meeting in this city some 35 years ago. O'Reilly had just come from inhospitable Philadelphia, where he found a cold welcome after his escape from the political penal colony in Australia. Roche, a young Prince Edward Islander, had been for four years a clerk in a Commercial office. Sympathetic in tastes and sharing ideals, they promptly became close companions. As to literary products, their close companionship was mutually beneficial. O'Reilly's work was broader, stronger, fibred than that of Roche, who excelled in grace and whimsical humor. "Songs and Satires," published in 1883, was Roche's first volume of verse. He was promptly recognized as one whose work was a product of true inspiration, a wit playing in poetry. More virile verse, showing his passion for the sea, his "Ballads of Blue Water." In the same year, 1895, he also brought out "The V-a-s-a and Other Brice-a-Brac," a collection deliciously droll.

On the market square yesterday morning Blake Brothers exhibited three steers weighing 1915, 1800, 1800. The cattle were viewed by members of the House of Assembly, business men and farmers from all over the Province and pronounced to be the best ever seen here. One very handsome red steer—the best of the lot was raised by John McNeill, Cavendish. Blake Bros. have fed many extra beef cattle but yesterday's exhibit certainly leads the list. The carcasses with others will be on exhibition in their stall Easter week.

Rev. A. D. Mackenzie was remembered in a kindly manner by the members of the Missionary Society of Hartsville and other friends, previous to his leaving home for Demerara. Mr. Mackenzie was at one time a member and secretary of the society, and reference was made to this in an address presented on the occasion. Accompanying the address was a purse of money expressing in a tangible way the good will of his friends and their interest in Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie as they take up their work among the heathen of British Guiana.

The funeral of the late Chester McBride which took place yesterday from his home in Souris was one of the largest and most impressive ever seen in that section of the Island. A special train from Charlottetown conveyed the Faculty and students of St. Dunstan's College. The latter headed by No. 3 Co., artillery and the Souris Band preceded the hearse, which in solemn procession followed from the home of the deceased to the church by a large concourse of people of all denominations thus showing the respect in which the deceased was held. As the long cortege, to the strains of Nearer My God to Thee slowly wended its way up the hill to the church the sight was one that will long remain in the minds of those seeing it. At the church mass was sung by the choir, Ronald McDonald. There were also present in the sanctuary Revs. Thos. Curran, A. B. McDonald and M. J. Smith of St. Dunstan's. The choir was ably assisted by some of the students and also by Rev. Theo. Gallant who presided in the organ. The large church was filled to overflowing. After the abolition the remains were interred in the family plot amid the sighs and tears of loved ones. A newly-moulded grave now marks the spot where lies all that is earthly of Chester McBride. Among the numerous floral offerings was a beautiful wreath from his class mates and the many spiritual bouquets gave evidence that fond hearts were sincere in their sorrow. The chief mourners were the mother and sister, Wm. McDonald, and family; John McBride, Tracadie and Miss Maud Knox, Charlottetown and Bernard Creamer. The pall bearers were Ben Murdock, Jas. Connors, and Thos. Gorman of St. Dunstan's and A. McQuaid, J. Brennan and W. Sterns of Souris.

Miss Fannie Reid, Victoria Cross, has returned home after an extended visit to Mill View where she was the guest of Miss Mabel Muttlow.

Teat Taylor, City, leaves Thursday morning for Calgary, and J. A. Hale, who recently returned from the Pacific coast, leaves this morning for the same place, joining Mr. Taylor in Amherst and from there they will proceed together to their destination.

The advances notices of Billy Kin Kaid, the exceptionally clever juggler and comedian now performing at Wonderland, were by no manner of means exaggerated. Juggling extraordinary was the order of the bill last night, and it certainly was all it claimed to be. Billy Kin Kaid is a master hand at his difficult work, and whether keeping time with rhythm and ease to the music as he juggles cigar boxes or cannon balls is equally at home. His introductory act with his hat is of itself wonderful and his comedy intermingled the while with all he does, is irresistible. Worthy of particular mention is his juggling with three cannon balls weighing fifteen pounds each. These he handles with unerring dexterity, finishing the use of them by throwing each in the air and catching it on the back of his neck. He is muscular, lithe and agile; suited to his work to which he has devoted years of training, and is beyond a doubt the cleverest performer in his line who has ever been here. He varies his program each evening and tonight will do a marvellous act, viz., drinking a glass of water while standing on his hands, with a five branch chandelier lighted, on his head. Billy Kin Kaid is worth going to see, and his initial performance is but an earnest of others even more entertaining still.

Although an absence of many years and an interval of many thousands of miles of this earth's surface had separated him of late from the friends of his earlier days, Pope Clark, whose death, in Denver, Colorado, on Friday last has already been chronicled in The Guardian has ever been warmly remembered by many acquaintances in this Province. Especially in Charlottetown, where he lived for many years his memory is enshrined in many hearts as that of a true friend, an hearty, courteous gentleman and a good citizen. He was born forty-eight years ago, and was the youngest son of the late Wm. D. Clark, of Cape Traverse, in this Province, and a brother of W. W. Clark, the City Clerk of Charlottetown. He left this, his native Province about seventeen years ago. Previous to that time he had been in the Railway service here and was for a considerable time train despatcher. In the land of his adoption his genial personality won him many friends and he was highly esteemed by the corporation with whom he was employed, the Victor Fuel Company of Denver. He was a Free Mason and an Oddfellow, and while here was affiliated with the local lodges. To his brother, W. W. Clark, the following resolution has been addressed, by the members of Victoria Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of this City:— "Whereas it has pleased the Supreme Grand Master to call to the Grand Lodge on High our late Brother, Pope Clark, then and here resolved that Victoria Lodge tenders the sincere regrets and sympathy of the Brethren of this Lodge to Brother W. W. Clark, P. M., and other relatives resident here in this hour of their bereavement."

A summons for first offence has been served on John Hughes Water Street, also one on his wife Georgina Hughes both are returnable at the City Police Court on Thursday.

OAKLEY BARON,

Record 2.23

Oakley Baron made his record of 2.23 as a four year old on a half mile track and in a seven heat race which he won. He is so well and favorably known a full description is needless, further than to say: He is considered to be the handsomest, best bred and one of the fastest trotting stallions in Maritime Canada. He is a show horse, having won first prize at the Charlottetown Exhibition in 1906 and 1907. He is also a sire of winners in the show ring. Some of his foals the first crop were shown at exhibition last fall and won first, second and third money. The Judge remarked that they were the best lot he ever judged. They resemble the sire in size and color with indications of early speed, big handsome coils with trotting action. He will make the season of 1908 at the old stand, McKinley Bros. warehouse, Great George Street. Fee $10.00 secured by note at first service due Nov. 1st, 1908. Liberal discount for cash.
