Duke of Kent Sailor First Then Airman

LONDON, Aug. 25 (CP)—The Duke of Kent, christened George Edward Alexander Edmund, was chosen by his father, the late King George V, to carry on the family tradition by being "a sailor prince", but he turned out instead the "most air-minded of the four royal brothers."

Born Dec. 20, 1902, he entered the Royal Naval Training College at Dartmouth a few months before his 14th birthday. He passed through as a midshipman in 1921 and spent eight years with the Mediterranean and Atlantic fleets, the China squadron and also did duty on the America and West Indies stations.

But ill health and a not over-strong constitution forced him away against his own wishes to relinquish a naval career in March, 1929. He was then attached to the foreign office in order to gain knowledge of administration and the work of the Department of State.

Thus Prince George, as he was christened, became the first civil servant in the royal family. His duties at the foreign office were undertaken with the view of fitting him for the position of Governor-General of one of the Dominions.

But ill health again interfered with his plans and in July, 1929, he was given an indefinite leave of absence from the foreign office owing to digestive troubles.

Flying, hunting, dancing, music and motoring all attracted him and he was acknowledged to be the best car driver and the best dancer in the Royal Family.

A certain shyness which made it self apparent in his public appearances added a special charm to his personality.

After visiting Norway in December, 1930, to represent the King and Queen at the celebration of the 25th anniversary of King Haakon's accession, the Duke (still Prince George at that time) set out on one of the greatest adventures he had yet undertaken—an 18,000-mile tour of South America with his oldest brother, the then Prince of Wales.

On his return he made a series of tours through industrial Britain. Early in 1934 he made a 21,000-mile tour of South America—Paraguay, the Belgian Congo and Portuguese territory.

Sentenced To 10 Years In Prison

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 25 (AP)—Rev. Kurt Molzahn, Catholic pastor who conspired to violate the United States Espionage Act by aiding an attempt to deliver military secrets to the Axis, was sentenced today to spend 10 years in Federal prison.

The term imposed by Judge J. Joseph Smith was only half as long as the prosecution recommended, but lawyers for the 47-year-old pastor of Old Zion's Lutheran church had pleaded that a one-year term would be "entirely adequate" punishment.

A few minutes after the sentence there was a tearful parting in the United States Marshal's office between Molzahn, convicted by jury last Friday, and his attractive, 37-year-old wife who had a sad and long trial and testified in his defense.

Thoughtful of Others

Thoughtfulness for others was one of the Duke's characteristics. It was not surprising that he side him throughout the four-weeks-long trial and testified in his defense.

The Duke and Princess Marina were married in November, 1934, in the outstanding social event of the year. The ceremony in Westminster Abbey was broadcast throughout the world.

Soon after her arrival in England the beautiful young bride had endeared herself to the people of Britain. She was the youngest daughter of Prince and Princess Nicholas of Greece.

The courtship was rapid. Five days after the Duke arrived in Greece on a holiday he sent a messenger to Buckingham Palace asking for formal permission to become engaged. Consent was given by telegram.

But ill health again interfered with his plans and in July, 1929, he was given an indefinite leave of absence from the foreign office owing to digestive troubles.

Flying, hunting, dancing, music and motoring all attracted him and he was acknowledged to be the best car driver and the best dancer in the Royal Family.

DIES SUDDENLY—Mrs. George Weatherly, 78, collapsed on the street near her home yesterday and died almost instantly. It was believed death was due to a heart condition. There was no inquest. Mrs. Weatherly was a native of Damascus, Syria. She had resided in this city for a number of years, however. A son, Joseph Weatherly operates a grocery store at 329 Trafalgar Street. She lived with her husband, Edward, deceased.

Army Casualties Have Reached 608

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 (CP)—The unofficial total of Canadian (active) army casualties in the battle of Dieppe advanced to 608 with the issuance early tonight by National Defence Headquarters of the 10th and 11th casualty lists since the raid.

The two lists—released simultaneously—brought to four the number issued today.

The 10th, made up of warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and privates, listed six names while the 11th list, confined to officers, reported 18 names, making a total of 24.

Today's eighth list had 23 names and the ninth, 22 names. Preceding lists had reported 536 men. These figures are subject to a margin of error because of possible repetition of names in succeeding lists.

Tonight's 11th list reported Brig. William Wallace Southam of Toronto, one of the three Canadian officers commanding in the battle, as a prisoner of war. He previously had been reported a prisoner by a German news agency.

Of the 608 casualties reported since Dieppe, 93 are dead, 390 wounded and 125 missing. The total number of men reported dead and missing by the Army since the start of the war now stands at 983.

Troops Are Fed On Trains In Record Time

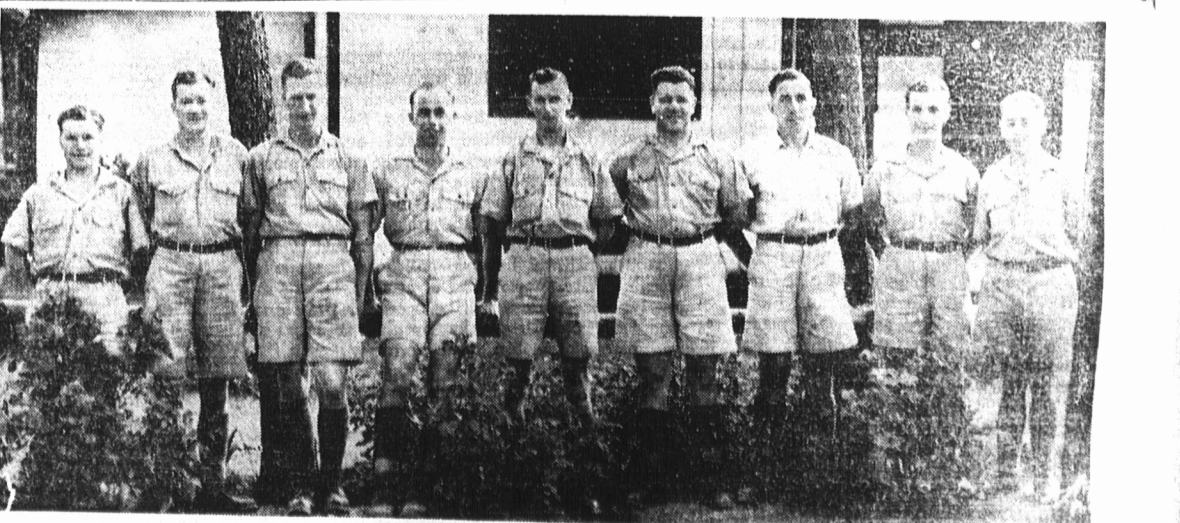

MONTREAL, QUE., Aug. 25—When special troop trains move over the lines of the Canadian National Railway, the men usually receive meals at their seats. Food is prepared in a commissary kitchen car and when ready is carried by a specially trained soldier to their quarters. This service operates so efficiently that the meals are ready as many as 600 troops will have been taken from the service tables to the mess. These tables are specially designed equipment, including steam cookers which can prepare 600 potatoes at one time.

HALIFAX, Aug. 25 (CP)—City health officials today warned residents of Halifax to boil their drinking water after laboratory examination of samples had indicated the possibility of contamination.

Dr. A. R. Morton, city health officer, said the unsatisfactory test of tap water had been coupled with the occurrence of a few cases of a form of dysentery in the last few days. There was no indication of typhoid, he said.

Officials believed the installation last week of a booster pump to increase water pressure in the city was responsible in part, at least, for the water condition. It was believed the increased flow of water had stirred up old sediment in the pipes.

Tests of water taken from the lakes that supply the city showed little change from the normal. It was in better condition than water drawn from taps after passing through the city's chlorinating plant.
