Arch Corrective Shoes

Research in Germany has overcome the technical difficulties involved and demonstrated that aluminum cans are more economical for the canning industry of that country than tin ones.

I have known Mail Routes for tender, and if a man tendered for anything near what he should get, and there was no other tender in against him, they would write back saying all tenders too high. Then they would write to different men in the country to try and get it done cheaper.

RURAL MAILS

Sir, Some few days ago I read a letter in the Patriot signed "Labour". This man refers to the Mail tender as he would to a piece of road, that is put to tender for repairs. Let me tell this man there is as much difference in those two between day and night, as a man tendering for a piece of road for repairs could figure on his expenses before he tendered, and if he tendered too low it would be his own fault. But with the Mail business it is different, as it is for four years, and it is pretty hard to tell what your experiences are going to be over that period.

This man thinks if our Mail Couriers are underpaid it is their own fault. I don't quite agree with this. Why have not our Mail Couriers a right to have a set salary the same as the rest of the Post Office employees?

Those men working in the Post Office Department at Ottawa don't have to tender for their jobs, or the Post Masters, or the inspectors, or any other branch of the Post Office employees.

Only the Mail Couriers must do so. Why is this? It is just simply a dodge to get the work done for little or nothing. If those other men's salaries are ruled by the tender business we would soon hear them wanting it changed, and they would get it too.

I have known Mail Routes for tender, and if a man tendered for anything near what he should get, and there was no other tender in against him, they would write back saying all tenders too high. Then they would write to different men in the country to try and get it done cheaper.

The King Government could give the judges a raise as will be seen. But our members are asleep at the helm when the mail couriers claims were urged. They were awake long enough only to stop these couriers from getting their rights. No doubt some of our Courier's tenders too low, and they can't afford proper equipment; therefore the people don't get the service they are entitled to. How often do we hear it remarked when we don't get our mail, the Courier is doing the best he can for the money he receives.

Say a Courier was getting seven hundred for a certain route, if he got fourteen hundred could he not give better service? He could have better equipment, feed his horses better, have a horse about half way on his route. There he could change. Could drive faster, make better time and give a better service all through. But the way it is now he does not get the money to do this with. If for one would like to see our Mail Routes driven by the mile, with a fixed rate of so much a mile.

Anyone having anything to say along those lines let us hear from them.
I am, Sir, etc.,

MONTICELLO. The members met at the home of Mrs. Peter McKinnon. A paper was read on "Maternal Mortality". After which the evening was spent in music and selections on the gramophone. A dairy lunch was served by the hostess. A log cabin quilt cover was donated by one of the ladies of the district and it was decided to quilt it and then dispose of it to the best advantage to increase the funds. It was decided to hold a weighing party in the school about May 24th.

The Battle of Chrysler's Farm

Q. When was the battle of Chrysler's Farm fought?
A. The battle of Chrysler's Farm was fought on November 11, 1813. Back in 1777 a Whig mob had flogged the boy, John Chrysler, almost to death because he would not tell the hiding place of his father, suspected of Tory leanings; later the Chrysler's came to Canada as U. E. Loyalists. And when the American invaders attempted to dash down the St. Lawrence, to take Montreal, they were met, and defeated, by a British-Canadian force of half their number. And among these Canadians, the Chrysler clan—sturdy Farmer John with his sons and nephews—were conspicuous as the most deadly of snipers.

Q. Is it proper to recognize in society, someone who has been met only in a business way?

A. Yes.
Q. Is there any certain age that children should be introduced to guests?

A. No; but they should be introduced when young so as to possess a natural social ease when they mature.

TURNING NIGHT INTO DAY... AND DOLLARS

All Goodyear Tires are built of SUPER-TWIST Cords—61% more stretch and life than old-style cords

QUOTING from the last annual report to the shareholders of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Canada, Limited:

"Your two rubber plants have worked to their maximum capacity twenty-four hours per day throughout the year. The plant at St. Hyacinthe (where SUPER-TWIST Cords are made) has operated twenty-two hours per day for each working day during the year."

This spells E-F-F-I-C-I-E-N-C-Y—100% operation of plant. Every dollar invested in buildings and machinery is made to work three times as hard. The result is obvious—lower costs, greater value to the consumer, and still an acceptable profit for shareholders.

By using Goodyear Tires, motorists enjoy the savings of continuous, day after day, month after month, 24 hour operation. Goodyear profitably produces the World's Greatest Tire at standard prices. This is the value the Goodyear Selected Dealer has to offer you. Get to know him. There is at least one in every town in Canada big enough to support a good dealer.

In Memoriam

DOROTHY WINNIFRED MEER

At an early hour on the morning of March 21st, the sad intelligence became known to the people of French River and surrounding districts that the soul of Dorothy Winnifred, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Reagh Meer, had returned to the God who gave it. Dorothy, as she was known in the home, although slightly in excess of four years of age, was an exceptionally bright child with a kindly disposition which endeared her to the many friends who visited the family.

She was a fairly robust child and during her short sojourn here on earth, she returned to the God who gave it. Dorothy contracted the disease, with the result above noted, despite the best medical treatment and the tender care of a mother's hand.

The circumstances surrounding the passing of Dorothy Meer, to say the least were sad in the extreme. Four of the family seriously ill at the time and the home under quarantine which rendered assistance from relatives and friends impossible.

Besides the parents who lament the loss of their loved one, there are three sisters, viz: Mrs. Jas. Murphy, Sea View; Florrie in training at Quincy City Hospital, Quincy, Mass.; Quincy at home; and two brothers, Oliver and Henry left to mourn the companionship of a little sister.

Interment was in St. Thomas' Cemetery and was largely attended by relatives and friends of the bereaved. The family pastor, Rev. G. T. Spriggs, officiated briefly, after which the remains of little Dorothy were placed in their last earthly abode.

Sweet little darling, light of the home, Looking for some one, beckoning come: Bright as the sunbeam, pure as the dew, Anxiously looking, mother for you.

A Memorial Chapel

(Vancouver Province)

Reflecting the spiritual and artistic development of the city, the work of completing the beautiful Canadian Memorial Chapel is progressing rapidly. Those behind the building of the chapel have been greatly assisted in their planning by very tangible assistance given by the citizens of Vancouver.

The building committee with the architect, R. P. S. Twizell, has spent many hours recently planning the interior. The shrine bearing the honor roll, with the names of the 70,000 who died in the war, is to be hand-carved in oak, and will require many months to complete. Mr. Twizell has spent weeks drawing the designs and making the plans and specifications. Tenders are being called at once for the execution of this important feature of Canadian Memorial chapel. This memorial tablet is the gift of Mr. S. L. Howe, one of the pioneers of Vancouver, who came here 31 years ago.

Above the chancel will be a beautiful chancel window which, with the memorial tablet, will be the focal points of the memorial. This window symbolizes first and foremost the spirit of sacrifice. It shows the sacrifices of women during the war and symbolizes, through the figures of David and Timothy, the splendid type of young manhood that went from Canada during the world war. The other eleven memorial windows have been underwritten by the leading citizens of the different provinces in Canada.

One of the most interesting movements, in connection with Canadian Memorial chapel, is the installation, by the Overseas' Nurses' Association of Vancouver, of which Miss McNair is president, of a beautiful little stained glass window at the west end of the vestibule. This window is a figure of an overseas nurse in her uniform, and is in memory of the nurses who lost their lives in the war. The figure of a Canadian soldier will be a companion window.

Third Reading Given Equal Franchise Bill

(Special to the Guardian)

LONDON, May 8.—The House of Commons today passed the third reading of the equal franchise bill giving votes to women of 21 years of age. No division was taken. The House thus concluded the debate on the report stage of the measure which now goes to the House of Lords.

BIRCH HILL. The members met at the schoolhouse. The program of the meeting consisted of a celebration by Mrs. E. Newcombe and Mrs. Robert Yeo. It was moved and seconded that $10.00 be given towards the proposed sanatorium. The next meeting is to be held in the schoolhouse.

The "Flu" LEFT HER WITH A VERY WEAK HEART

Mrs. Beulah Demone, Pleasant River, N.S., writes:—"Having suffered with the 'flu' a few years ago, I was left with a very weak heart.

"I was unable to go about, and could not do my housework. "I would get dizzy spells and would have to go and lie down. "I could not sleep at night as the least little noise would wake me up. "I tried different kinds of medicine, but they seemed to do me no good. "A friend recommended
