60 Years

We thoroughly believe in our remedies. We want you to believe in them, too. Suppose you let your doctor decide.

Sixty years of experience with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral make us have great confidence in it for coughs, colds on the chest, bronchitis, hoarseness, weak throats, weak lungs. Ask your doctor to tell you his experience with it. If satisfactory, then you will certainly have every confidence in it. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Riseban k Farm directly opposite Charlottetown will be sold at auction today at two o'clock.

The last issue of The Farmer's Advocate contains a fine illustration of Mrs. John Richards, Bideford, and her four-in-hand of Shetland ponies.

A gentleman from Fort Augustus, who sends in his tunnel coupon says that The Guardian deserves a free pass through the tunnel when built.

Any boy wanting to learn the printing, or who has had some experience, should call at The Guardian at once. An exceptional chance for the right boy.

Today and tonight the annual Harvest Festival sale of the Salvation Army will be held in their Hall from 10 a. m. till 10 p. m. The proceeds will go to the maintenance of the social and spiritual work.

The York District Sunday school will be held in the Methodist Church at Little York on Monday, October 14. Afternoon session at 2.30, public meeting at night at 7. The superintendent of each school is requested to appoint delegates to attend above convention.

A particularly fine sample of oats from the farm of Wm. Leonard, Cornwall, has been left at The Guardian office. The stalks measure six feet four inches in length, and there is a splendid yield of grain. This is an evidence of success that makes the stories of the great Northwest look rather small.

Owing to the enormous amount of time and expense necessary in bookkeeping and making out small accounts as well as mailing and collecting same, The Guardian has decided that in future all ordinary amounts under one dollar will be accepted in a cash in advance basis and ten per cent discount given, except to those who have a regular advertising account who will still have the privilege of monthly credit.

Although Saturday was rather dark and threatening a large number assembled to witness the Prince of Wales College sports. The events were carried off in first class order, each event being well contested. The medals for the best athlete in each year were won by John Lamont, Fred Taylor, Walter Lantz. The First year succeeded in making the highest number of points, the Second year coming second with the Third year for third. The relay race was won by the Third year, Second year second and First year third.

Notwithstanding the busy season of the year Kingston Hall was comfortably packed with an intelligent audience to listen spellbound to the Hon. Ex-governor Fletcher, while he delivered his inimitable lecture, "Sowing Wild Oats." The learned lecturer gave some very sound advice to the young men and women on the folly of sowing wild oats. The only fault to find with the lecture was that it was entirely too short. The tremendous applause accorded showed the esteem in which he is held in this section of the Province. The chair was worthily filled by the Rev. W Harrison of Cornwall.

The October Busy Man's Magazine is particularly strong number, surpassing, in fact any previous issue of this many-in one publication. Much space is devoted to Canada and Canadians. An interesting account of a pleasant afternoon spent in the company of William Henry Drummond, Canada's beloved "Habitant" poet, is contained in this number. "Personality in the Working Force" should be read by every employer. "The Fisher Folks of Labrador" illustrates the splendid work of Dr Grenfell among these people. There are many articles of special interest to women. The fiction is unusually strong and varied.

William Wallace Stetson, whose portrait appears on page four of this issue, and who has been engaged to give a series of addresses at the Teachers' Convention, which meets in Kindergarten Hall, Charlottetown, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, is one of the most noted men in the Educational field of the neighboring republic. His splendid work among the common schools of Maine, of which he is state superintendent, stamps him as one of the really strong and masterful men of the time. He is a big man, physically and mentally, able to think great thoughts and to express them in appropriate and powerful language. As a speaker he is eloquent polished, impressive, magnetic, and his addresses are master pieces of practical idea and wholesome thought. The fact that he has spoken in most of the great cities of the continent, in thirty-three states and four Canadian provinces as well as in many of the Universities and colleges, and has been selected as one of the lecturers in the Department of Education of Yale may be taken as some indication of his power and popularity. He is, moreover, a practical teacher of wide experience, having taught in common schools, in high schools and in normal schools, gradually climbing from the bottom to the top of his profession. Everyone should hear this gifted man while he is in Charlottetown. The public are especially invited to the Thursday evening session of the Convention in Kindergarten Hall at 8 o'clock, when Mr. Stetson will be the chief speaker. Admission free.

By the terms of a codicil in the will of his father-in-law, the late G. B. Burland, who died recently in California, Dr. Andrew McPhail, formerly of this Province but now of Montreal receives the sum of fifty thousand dollars. The late Mr. Burland was a very wealthy man, reputed to be a millionaire. Dr. McPhail is a son of the late Wm McPhail of Eldon, who was for many years Bursar of Falconwood Hospital.

There was a large passenger list by the S S Northumberland on Saturday night from Pictou. The arrivals included a number of people who have come from the other provinces to attend the Exhibition here this week. The steamer brought over the trotters from this Province which have been winners at the Halifax exhibition, and several other horses which are to participate in the local races.

Over two weeks ago The Guardian called attention to the disgraceful condition of several of the streets on the outskirts of the City particularly Green and Admiral. Nothing whatever has yet been done to improve their condition, except that the bridge on the former street was promptly repaired. The holes in the streets are however daily getting larger, and the street centres in places are almost cesspools. Persons desiring to travel along Admiral street have been compelled to go through the grounds of a private citizen to keep their carriages passably clean.

Already the atmosphere of exhibition week is to befelt, especially on the Market Square, where the side show proprietors are putting up their booths and displaying the oddities and attractions which aid in depleting the pockets of those whose curiosity is keener than their economy. Curios thing how vain some men are of their strength! There is a machine for testing the striking power of a man armed with a large mallet. This finds many patrons who try harder for a record at five cents per hit than they would helping their wives or mothers with the wash tub on Monday morning. Some of the able bodied strikers who have been showing off on this machine are also notable strikers when asked to bring up coal or mind the baby. Probably they are exercising themselves in order to get an appetite.—poor fellows.

The second quarterly session of District Division No 4, was held at Bonshaw, 28th ult. Miss M. MacNevin, presided at the afternoon meeting. The attendance was small, but great interest was taken in the session. Reports show the Division in the District in good condition. The public meeting held in the evening was largely attended. Alex MacNevin acted as chairman while an enjoyable program was carried into effect:—Those who contributed to the success of the program were the Misses Ida and Rotha McKenzie, Alice Colin, Aggie Boyce, Emma McMillan, Gertrude Carson, Maggie M. McDonald, Messrs G. W. McPhee, J. J. McDonald, C. B. McLeod, Neil McCannell, J. A. Robertson, S. F. Tarbush, C. W. Crosby, M. J. McKinnon, G. McMillan J. G. McFadyen, D. Campbell, J. A. Robertson, S. Beaton. The members of Try Again Division sang some good choruses. God Save the King brought the pleasant evening to an end.

A rather sad mishap occurred early yesterday morning to Mrs. Michael Welsh a widow aged 85 years and a resident of the eastern end of the City. The old lady has for some time past suffered from ill-health, and her mind has been upset, so much so that she had been looked after by her son's family with whom she lived. Yesterday morning she rose at six, and when her granddaughter who got up to light the fire advised her to go to bed again she went into another room and got out of the window on to the street. Then she wandered down to the waterside in the rear of the Light and Power Station and stumbled over the breastwork into the river. She was fortunately observed by some men who by one of whom rescued her. A call was sent to the police station and Wright's ambulance was summoned and soon on the scene. The poor woman who had become very much chilled and exhausted was rushed to the Charlottetown Hospital, where she was immediately given every attention. Late last night she was almost recovered, and quite conscious.

The cut accurately shows the method in operation. It is probably, the most reliable test known today.

By its use the expert optician accurately measures the amount and kind of error in the patient's eyes, completely removing the uncertainty of the old system, and reducing to a minimum, the possibility of prescribing the wrong lenses.

We use this System
