FAVORITE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS

DAY IS DYING IN THE WEST - The charming hymn throughout is an earnest prayer for the unity of believers. The contribution to the best of hymnology made by women is worthy and permanent. Among the noblest hymns of the church are those by Sarah Flower Adams, Julia Ward Howe, Alice Carey, Phoebe Carey, Anna Warner, Mary Lathbury, and very many others. Mary A. Lathbury, author of "Day is Dying in the West," was born in Manchester, New York, in 1811. Her father was a local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church and two of her brothers were ordained ministers of that denomination. Her literary gifts very soon found expression and while still in her teens she became a regular contributor to Sunday School Publications. In 1871 she was appointed an Assistant Editor to Dr. John H. Vincent. This widened her opportunity for usefulness as a writer for children it also brought her in close touch with the Chautauque movement which was just in its beginnings at that time. Miss Lathbury had a remarkable facility for writing hymns for special occasions. Time and time again she was able to comply with requests for appropriate hymns and frequently at short notice. While the Chautauque originated in the Methodist Church it very soon outgrew any sectarian bonds and made an appeal to Christians of all denominations. This catholicity of outlook made a strong appeal to the deep devotional spirit of Miss Lathbury, who like nearly all poets, was tolerant and wide in her sympathies. It was for a Chautauque gathering in the summer of 1881 that she wrote the hymn:

"O Shepherd of the Nameless Fold—
 The blessed church to be—
 Our hearts with love and longing turn

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. GEORGE R. McMAHON

After an illness of many weeks duration, Catherine, beloved wife of George R. McMahon, Kensington, passed peacefully out of this life on December 13, in the 63rd year of her age. The late Mrs. McMahon was the youngest daughter of the late Andrew Hughes, who emigrated from Ireland in 1841 and settled in Freetown. Here Mrs. McMahon was born and passed her early years. Her married life was spent partly at Emerald Junction and later in Kensington, at which Railway Stations in succession her husband was the efficient and popular agent. To know Mrs. McMahon was to appreciate her real worth. She was an exemplary Christian lady, virtuous and charitable. Her home life with her family was happy. She had five children, the many visitors to the McMahon home were always greeted with her bright smile and genuine welcome. During her illness she was frequently visited by and received the last Sacraments from her venerable and faithful pastor, Monsignor Dr. J. Gillis, and she had the happiness of having in almost daily attendance her son, Father P. L. McMahon of Kelly's Cross, O. Tuesday, December 6th, her funeral services were held in St. James Church, Freetown. Salutation Mass was celebrated by Monsignor Dr. J. C. McLean as Deacon, Monsignor Maurice McDonagh as sub-deacon and Rev. Martin Monaghan as Master of Ceremonies. Rev. J. J. MacDonald and M. J. Smith assisted the choir, and Mrs. Francis McQuaid, Francis McDonagh, Wm. E. Monaghan, and George V. McCabe occupied seats in the sanctuary. The pallbearers were Thos. N. Donahoe, Edward Pendergast, Aldea McFarlane, Patterson Walker, Charles Cloy and Thos. Gorman.

The deceased lady leaves to mourn her sorrowing husband, one daughter, Ella, wife of Patrick Morris, C.N.R. Agent, and five sons—Father McMahon of Kelly's Cross, Percy, Acting Inspector of train dispatches, Moncton, and Peter of Kensington; also one brother, Peter F. Hughes, Emerald. May she rest in peace.

Britain Hopes To Retain Speed Record

(Special to the Guardian) LONDON, Dec. 9.—With the 20 year old Mauretania, Britain hopes that she will be able to retain the speed record for liners plying between Europe and New York despite the efforts of Germany. The Germans are now constructing two 46,000 toners the Bremen and Europa, introducing it is said, every possible innovation with the intention of lowering the Mauretania's colors. These ships are designed to travel 26 knots while the Mauretania's normal speed is 25 knots, but once in answering a distress call she travelled 29 knots.

It might have been Longfellow who wrote thus—"Of all sad words of tongue or pen the saddest are these: It might have been, But to some young people in this vicinity these words will scarcely seem sad, for after sitting in a car whose brakes failed to function, whose gears failed to shift and that on the Big Hill in Westmorland they cannot fail to think it might have been worse. As it was a slight delay was caused in their trip—until the next morning when the Good Samaritan Mr. Max MacVitie pulled the car out of the ditch at the bottom of the hill named the worse for the accident. Moral when motoring over the hills be sure your brakes are working.

Mr. Stanley Garnier, was a recent visitor to Summerside and Kensington.

Mr. J. Erie Thomson visited Victoria and Crapaud Thursday on business.

The Pleasant Circle Institute held a bazaar in Albany school on Friday evening. Lunch was served and many useful and fancy articles sold, thus adding to the cash reserve of this enterprising institute.

Saturday evening the home of Mrs. Almira Fay was the scene of a joyful gathering, when friends of Miss Hilda Fay, who is soon to become one of the partners in an interesting event, gathered in and presented her with numerous costly and useful gifts. The evening was spent in music, games etc. Miss Bee Cobb opened the gifts, and read the accompanying verses, after which Miss Fay in a few well chosen words, thanked her friends, who responded with "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow" after which they dispersed for home and slumberland.
