TRIBUTE OF APPRECIATION
Sir:—Looking back on that part of the winter that has gone, and with a lively anticipation of the weeks that are yet to come, the writer thinks that there is one department, at least, of the public service which is, perhaps, more than and other, most worthy of our appreciation. This is the Rural Mail Delivery.
The mail couriers in this province, in general a splendid body of men—honest, capable, and courageous. They are expected to make a daily trip notwithstanding bad roads and adverse weather conditions. Being only human, however, they cannot do what is sometimes impossible. This season has been a most trying one on all routes; and, if at times the couriers have failed to keep up the customary daily service, there is not any person, I am sure, who would not be willing to make every reasonable allowance in their favor.
Boxholders who have the privilege of living on what is known as Mount Stewart Rural Route, No. 3 feel that they have been especially favored in their mail service. This is a circuitous route 28 miles in length—a little more or less. For the past eight years Mr. Percy Affleck has been a faithful courier. A careful, experienced, and accomplished driver, and a lover of good horses, he has been—and is still—the owner of several fine specimens of the equine race. During those years of varied activity he has ever been a most efficient and trustworthy official. On more than one occasion he has endangered his life in order to make the daily trip on schedule time—and, incidentally, to bring the Guardian as well as its evening contemporary to their respective readers. In the life of a courier there are opportunities for doing nameless and unremembered kindly acts—not mentioned in the contract nor in the bond. Ever courteous and obliging, Mr. Affleck has fully sustained the well-established reputation of his predecessors in this respect.

That he may be granted long life and happiness; and that he may long continue—if he will—to serve the people with whom he has now become so familiar, is the earnest wish—the Easter Greeting—of one of his many friends, and offered on behalf of every boxholder on the route.
I am Sir, etc.

HOOVER'S PARK VISIT PLANNED

Cramps! Cramps! Cramps! STOMACH PAINS!
Yes, cramps that double him up at night so he couldn't sleep. How he suffered! It is J. E. Winger of Berberice who writes: "I had my troubles with disordered stomach, cramps and colic. I was so doubled up I felt my end was near at hand. It was at night, and assistance not easy to secure. A neighbor brought me a bottle of Nerviline. One stiff dose in water ended the cramp in one minute. No home should be without Nerviline; it is an old-time family remedy. Nerviline drives out pain very quickly. All dealers sell Nerviline in 35-cent bottles. Get yours today."

Premier Speaks On Draft Address

Solitary Government Apologist in the Debate, the Premier Rehashes His Previous Speeches on Dalton Sanatorium and Technical School But Ignores Road "Policy" Outlined in Throne Speech, Sidesteps Opposition Leader's Questions and Arguments, and Neglects to Compliment His Former Leader on Elevation to Judgeship.

Speaking in the Debate on the Draft Address on Thursday afternoon, Premier Lea referred to the appointment of Lord Willingdon to the position of Viceroy of India. He cited an instance of Lord Willingdon's intimate knowledge of livestock, Mr. Lea having had the privilege on one occasion of showing His Excellency the cattle exhibits at the Toronto Fair.
Regret was expressed by the Premier at the severe illness of Hon. Mr. Scully, and sympathy was extended to two members of the House who had suffered bereavements since the last session.

The promotion of the health of the people, the Premier continued, is perhaps the first consideration of the State. Heads of departments are accustomed to consider that their own particular department is of most importance. In his "innocence, perhaps," Mr. Lea had thought that Agriculture was of most importance. Attorney General has said the same of their departments. But the most important consideration is to provide for public health, and he was pleased to announce that through the efforts of Dr. Woodhouse with the financial assistance of the life insurance companies, $75,000 has been made available for health activities in this Province in the next five years. During the past year progress has been made in public health and with the opening within a very few weeks of the Provincial Sanatorium a great step will have been made towards combating tuberculosis. Much credit was due to the Sanatorium Commission, to the subscribers and particularly to one donor who subscribed $10,000. The Premier deplored the "campaign" made in some quarters against him personally for having lost a sum of between $50,000 and $100,000 in connection with the Dalton Sanatorium.

Cites Agreement
The brief which the Island representatives presented at Ottawa on that occasion, Mr. Lea declared, was an appeal to the Dominion Government to continue the Sanatorium. It said nothing about financial compensation. The Premier read from the brief in question. All that was contained in it with regard to compensation, he maintained, was the provision that there should be the exercise of reasonable care over the premises, building, equipment and other property placed at the Military Commission's disposal and that the Commission should return the same, or property in substitution therefore, at the end of the term in as good condition as they received it, reasonable wear and tear being excepted. This, Premier Lea claimed, was just an ordinary clause. "There was nothing in the world that would lead our people to believe that we had a claim against the Government that was included in the agreement," he repeated.

The question had been asked by Hon. Mr. McCurdy what he, Mr. Lea, considered the Provincial Government had in mind in the way of damages but no specific offer had been made, the Premier contended. The Federal Government in reply to subsequent correspondence maintained that the terms of the agreement had been fulfilled and that there was no claim for damages. This letter was signed by the Acting Deputy Minister.
DR. MACMILLAN: Wasn't the Minister a party to that conference?
HON. MR. LEA: This Minister was a party to that conference; he certainly was. But if this man had agreed that we would be compensated why did he give the letter over to a deputy of his department to investigate? That is absurd, as is clearly proven by all the correspondence. In the first place no such agreement was made between the Military Commission and the local government. They neglected to include that if they had intended to include it in their contract. Furthermore the provincial delegation did not go to Ottawa for that purpose. There was no offer made to the government, there was just the question asked: "What have you got in mind? because if you have a claim Nova Scotia may have a similar one."

P. E. I. Less Affected
It is regrettable that all over the world today agricultural machinery and costs are out of all proportion to the price of farm products. This was the first wrong that must be righted by giving the farmers opportunity to purchase in the cheapest market. Perhaps no agricultural market in the world has been so little affected, however, as the little Province of Prince Edward Island. The commendations of the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association which visited this Province last year were cited.

The importance of the potato industry in promoting the wealth of the Province was emphasized by the speaker. While our growers today are somewhat discouraged they may be assured that they will succeed if they determine to carry on.
"I must say that the Opposition leader's criticism of the agricultural department as of all departments, has been very fair," the Premier said, in introducing a review of the activities connected with exhibitions. The provincial exhibition is a little earlier than in previous years. This encourages early production.
Last year, Mr. Lea continued, there were 42 cars of turnips shipped to the American market in August and 54 cars shipped to the same market in September. This shows that there is available a good early market for Island turnips.
One Prince Edward Island fox skin sold for 45 pounds at Lamp-son's sales in London recently—the highest skin purchased—which shows that Island foxes retain their superiority.

The Premier regretted that inadvertently he omitted at the beginning of his speech to mention the appointment of His Honour Lieut.-Governor Dalton, one of Prince Edward Island's great benefactors to whom we owe the establishment of the fur industry.
Tribute to the former Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. F. R. Hertz was also paid.

Unemployment Relief
$90,000 had been received by the Province from the Federal Government for unemployment relief. Of course, there was a little unemployment here, as there is every season, but nothing like the conditions existing elsewhere.
DR. MACMILLAN: "There was none last July when the election was on!"
HON. MR. LEA: "Not last July, but since then it has continued to grow."
The Premier launched into a dissertation on the federal political situation as it existed before and after the defeat of the King Government.
"I will give Premier Bennett credit for this, that he is fulfilling his promise with respect to unemployment relief in Prince Edward Island," Mr. Lea declared.

Confederation Chamber
The renovation of the Confederation Chamber, the Premier was pleased to note, had been commended by the Opposition leader. This was gratifying. The Government had spent a great deal of money in renovating all parts of the Provincial Building, from the cellar to the attic. Also, Government House is undergoing renovation and repair, and it is hoped that in a short time it will be available for the Lieutenant-Governor and his successors.

Lauds Power Machines
"There never was a Government in the history of the Province that has done so much for the highways and byways of the Province," continued Mr. Lea. Three quarters or more of the roads had been widened; waste had been eliminated by power machinery and the rotary drags had lessened the cost of constructing "fills" and had saved the country "thousands and thousands of dollars." No one was put out of a job because of the employment of power machinery, the Premier maintained. He instanced roads that under the Conservative Government were in a "scandalous condition" in the middle of summer, in his own district. He ridiculed the Conservative system of patrolling the roads "with a little wooden drag." The trouble with the Opposition, he maintained, was that they had "primitive ideas." Deducting all the costs of repairs, power machinery was the cheapest possible system for keeping the roads in condition.
Mr. Lea maintained that the Arsenault Government was in power a year after the highways grant was made and that they did nothing to take advantage of it, but left the proposition "on the Bell Government's doorstep."
HON. MR. STEWART: That is not correct.
The Premier maintained he was correct. The Conservatives, he continued were going to curtail road expenditure simply because the highway grant was discontinued. They were going to do less road work.
DR. MACMILLAN: "On borrowed money."
Premier Lea maintained that the money that goes into automobiles and gasoline taxes pays for the roads, it doesn't cost the other taxpayers anything.
DR. MACMILLAN: "Where did the half million dollars go that you borrowed?"
(The Doctor repeated his question, but the Premier did not answer.)
The Guardian had said that the Province would get several hundred thousand dollars if the Bennett Government was elected, the Premier continued.

Defends Settlement Delay
The subsidy claims item in the Speech from the Throne came in for extended reference by the Premier. The Maritime Premiers had been asked to wait until the claims of the Western Provinces had been settled, and they took this course, which Mr. Lea defended. It was not then psychological time for the Maritimes

No Compensation
The result, continued the Premier, was that there was no possibility of receiving any compensation. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick got nothing. How then should a Minister of the Crown in this Province be charged with negligence? The whole thing, he claimed, had been done for the purpose of injuring him as a member of the Government.
Thanks to the Women's Institutes for what they had done in bettering school conditions was extended by the Premier.
Discussing the proposed Teachers' Pensions Act Mr. Lea explained that under the Act a teacher will be permitted to retire after teaching 30 years but cannot receive the full pension until he or she has taught a period of 35 years. The teachers contribute from their salaries towards this benefit. The Government is now investigating just how much it will cost the Province. If the pensions burden falls but lightly on the teachers it will be only fair after such continuous service.
The amalgamation of the Prohibition officers and motor vehicle officers has met with general approval, the Premier continued. The Province has made an excellent selection in Commissioner Trainor who has proven himself qualified in every way.

Praises Federal Minister
The Premier had attended an agricultural conference at Ottawa at which a national livestock policy was discussed. He found Hon. Mr. Weir, the Federal Minister of Agriculture a sincere man, a practical farmer, and one qualified in every way to fill the position he occupies.
It was Mr. Weir's opinion that special instruction should be given in agriculture, and for this reason he outlined his policy of agricultural schools over a period of 5 months of the year. The Premier regretted that the Agricultural School in this Province had been closed, as it was exactly what Mr. Weir had in mind. There never was a greater injury done to the Province than when the Conservative Government discontinued that school. Mr. Lea maintained. In support of this contention he cited the opinion of Principal Crockett who offered to carry on the school at a cost to the Province of $5,000; the other $5,000 would come out of the technical grant. It was true, Mr. Lea admitted, we lost the agricultural grant, but it was not "discontinued" by the King Government, it had simply "lapsed" and was not renewed.

Presses Their Claims
To press their claims, he maintained, it was first necessary for the Audit Board to go into the details of the claims. The speaker approved before this Board last year and on that occasion he presented what he contended was a "new claim" due to depreciation of money since Confederation, which meant that the value of the subsidy granted at Confederation had greatly decreased.
One prominent member of the Conservative party had the temerity to say that he (Mr. Lea) would never get any subsidy from the Bennett Government.
DR. MACMILLAN: "Neither you will."
Mr. Lea thought that was an astounding statement. He contended that the Stewart Government got more even than they asked for from the King Government, under the Duncan Report.
MR. STEWART: "That is not correct."
Looking to Bennett
Mr. Lea believed Premier Bennett would deal just as generously with this Province in subsidy matters as he had done in the matter of unemployment relief.
DR. MACMILLAN: "You won't be there, though" (laughter).
PREMIER LEA: "Don't you worry, the people have the say."
This was the opportune time, Mr. Lea maintained, to press our subsidy claims because the Western Provinces' claims have now been dealt with. The land question would be submitted to the Privy Council, a matter.
MR. STEWART: It is not a legal matter.
HON. MR. LEA: "What I should like to see settled by an independent tribunal."
Asked by the Opposition leader to explain what was meant in his speech from the Throne by the phrase "the introduction of a new system of our civilization and demanding admittance and also his entry into the City of Man's life." Behold closing words of the final hymn were "O Lord with shame and sorrow we open now the door; dear Saviour, enter, enter, and leave us nevermore."
HON. MR. STEWART: "You can't legislate for criminals."
PREMIER LEA: "We don't propose to legislate for criminals, but there are a great many men in jail who are not known as criminals under the Criminal Code."
HON. MR. STEWART: "Not very many."
PREMIER LEA: "Yes, there are cases, worthy cases, the intention of the Act is to reform rather than merely to punish, to offer a chance where a worthy citizen has returned to give him an opportunity that will be more fully explained when the Act comes before the House."
The operation of the Agricultural Farm, which had come up for some discussion when the estimates were passed last year was referred to by the Premier, who explained that under the present Government the farm is showing a real profit. He anticipated his latest announcement by stating that the present year shows an actual profit of over $2,000.
Regret was expressed at the death of Mr. Bennett, former premier of the Province, and also of Dr. Green, a dentist who was appointed assistant superintendent and who had been replaced by Dr. Clark, dentist of Summerside. (The latter information was given by the Premier in reply to a question from Mr. Stewart.)
"We have," Mr. Lea concluded, "most progressive territory for the coming year."

HON. MR. STEWART: "You can't legislate for criminals."
PREMIER LEA: "We don't propose to legislate for criminals, but there are a great many men in jail who are not known as criminals under the Criminal Code."
HON. MR. STEWART: "Not very many."

Regret was expressed at the death of Mr. Bennett, former premier of the Province, and also of Dr. Green, a dentist who was appointed assistant superintendent and who had been replaced by Dr. Clark, dentist of Summerside. (The latter information was given by the Premier in reply to a question from Mr. Stewart.)
"We have," Mr. Lea concluded, "most progressive territory for the coming year."
