Hubbell Pitches Giants To Victory

Sport Briefs

Ernest Harper, celebrated Scottish distance runner, set up a new world's record for two hours, by covering twenty miles, 1604 yards, or only 156 yards short of twenty-one miles.

A despatch from Ottawa dated October 2nd says—Tommy Gorman, Manager of Chicago Black Hawks, of the National Hockey League, announced here today he had signed Red Shields, former Ottawa wing man who has been in the Maritimes for three seasons with Halifax Wolverines. He is a right wing. Reg will have Tommy Gorman and Lionel Conacher, two of the brightest minds in hockey to coach him.

Harper is a very versatile runner, having covered all distances from one mile up. He recently won a seventeen mile race in Belgium, beating the best of the continental runners.

In nineteen years the jockey, Mac Garner, has won more than $2,200,000 in stakes and purses with horses he has ridden. It must be near a record.

When the Abegweit lineup for 1933-34 was introduced at the Forum, four of the team were on holidays. Walker and McCann visiting in Ottawa, Gulliver in Fredericton and McArthur in Shediac. They will all be here very shortly and start training preparatory to going on the ice.

Ron, Hudson has hired a bicycle and is using it instead of a drive in auto truck to his work every morning, noon and evening, returning. The distance out is three and a half miles. Ron and Micokey MacGlashen have become quite expert with foxes and the animals under their care show evidence of skilled attention.

It may not be generally known but it is a fact nevertheless, that bicycling is the best preparation for skating. The same muscles are brought into play. Years ago when professional bicycle racing was so popular all the great cyclists were also great skaters. Men like Zimmerman, Johnston, etc., who held world's records at both skating and cycling.

The National Hockey League will have a spare goalie this year in the presence of either Alexander Connell or Bill Beveridge, both of the Ottawa Senators. These men will be available for any club whose goalie becomes temporarily incapacitated.

Frank Frederickson, of Winnipeg, Man., has been signed to coach the Princeton University Hockey squad.

The rule regarding assists in the National Hockey League has been changed and will reduce materially the number of assists given on goals. An assist will be counted if the play is made to the scorer without interruption by an opponent. There will be no assists granted on rebounds off the boards or the goalie, and as soon as a player is checked in the defensive area and loses the puck he is out of any more scoring play.

A Northwest professional hockey league is in prospect of being formed. The cities are Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Portland and Seattle. Imagine the distances the teams must travel between the above points! What houses would be necessary to make the league pay!

The National Hockey League's 1933 season will start November 9th and close March 18th. The Boston Bruins will open the season in Toronto, the New York Americans at Chicago and Detroit at Montreal Canadiens.

There is a relation between tree rings and wheat yields in southern Saskatchewan. However, the lack of short cycles makes prediction of wheat yields from tree growth impossible.

Sixteen players who changed their places of residence since the close of last hockey season will have to return home if they wish to play under the banner of the Ontario Hockey Association this year.

Among those refused was Harold Ingraham from Moncton and Gordon Dillon of Moncton who goes to Toronto.

The senior group of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association will consist of seven teams this year and among those admitted to membership were St. Francois Xavier and Verdun. Quebec, McGill, Royals and Victorias were others.

Bill McKenzie, last year's star defence with Montreal Royals, who were defeated in Moncton in the playoffs for the Allan Cup, but won the Quebec championship, has turned professional and joined the Maroons. He should make good as he was an outstanding man with the Winnipeg Olympians when they won the Allan Cup and world's championship two years ago.

The Maple Leafs of Toronto are having considerable trouble with players who are holding out for the same salary as last year. A salary cut has been made all around and it is said that Charlie Conacher, outstanding forward, may leave the Maple Leafs.

What do you think of this—a Canadian going over to England to play professional football? Well, it is true. Bill McManus, Toronto player arrived in England yesterday and will play today for Manchester United. He was one of the greatest goal getters in Canadian soccer.

DELEGATES OF "BIG THREE" MEET MONDAY

St. John Also Expected to Have Delegates at Annual Hockey Meeting.

(Canadian Press) AMHERST, N. S., Oct. 6.—President James A. Hanway, of the Maritime Hockey League announced tonight he had drawn up a new constitution and code of by-laws for presentation at Monday's annual meeting of the League.

President Hanway did not disclose the nature of changes made in the old regulations. He declared merely that they had been formulated to "put the league on a more definite basis."

The annual meeting will be attended by delegates from Moncton, N. B., Charlottetown and Halifax, which had teams in the "Big Three" last year. Representatives are expected also from Saint John, N.B., and it is considered possible a sextette representing that city will be entered this winter.

OLD SETTLERS DEFEAT CUBS

(A.P.)—The old settlers of the American League dressed in the regiments of the White Sox, turned the city series into a rout today by crushing the Cubs 9-0 for their third straight victory.

With Teddy Lyons turning in a neat seven-hit hitching job, the White Sox made the Cubs pay the check for one of their greatest baseball feats by hammering three north side hurlers for 11 hits and one of the most lopsided victories in city series warfare.

It was the second consecutive shutout registered against the third place winners of the National League and placed the White Sox withing one game of winning the title.

GOLF

Although the golf season is almost over for this year a good program of matches have been arranged for this week end at the local links. This afternoon a men's marathon and tombstone competition will be held, this is something a little different from the regular matches and should prove interesting.

On Thanksgiving Day a men's sweepstakes match will be held in the morning and in the afternoon. A special mixed foursomes match for which special prizes will be presented is being arranged.

Members intending to play in the foursomes are asked to be on hand or phone their names in to the Club house not later than 2 o'clock.

RAIN FORCES POSTPONEMENT ABBIE GAME

(Canadian Press) SPRINGHILL, N. S., Oct. 6.—Rain drove Springhill Fencebusters and Charlottetown Abegwets from the field as they lined up today for the semi-final opener in the Maritime baseball playoffs.

The paths were in unplayable condition as the Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island champions reached the field this afternoon. A heavy rain continued to fall, and the game was postponed until tomorrow.

If the weather has not cleared by that time, the teams will move to the Abegwets home grounds for the opening game Monday, and then come back to Springhill Tuesday for the second encounter of the two-out-of-three series.

Winners of the series will play off with the St. Stephen, N. B., nine, New Brunswick champions, for the Maritime crown.

MATINEE RACES AT ALBERTON

The recent matinee horse races at Alberton had some very good starters and taking into consideration the muddy state of the race track very good time was made in all three classes.

In the first class 2.22, there were three starters, Mac Volo, owned by Claude O'Brien of Alberton won this class in three straight heats; Winnie Winkle owned by Harry O'Brien, came second and King Frisco, owned by Myron McArthur, Kensington third. Best time 2.17 1/4.

The second class, 2.27, was won by Peter S. owned by Frank MacKelduff of Alberton, Trixie Volo, owned by Mr. Ramsay, 2nd, and Emma Watson, owned by Peter McMahon of Kensington, third. Best time 2.17 1/4.

There were six starters in the third class 2.30, which was won by Roy Volo Junior, owned by Harry O'Brien; Lady Lea, owned by Wm. Tombs came second; Col. Mac, owned by Hamp. Horne third and Jimmy Witte, belonging to Carl Weeks fourth. This was a good race. Best time 2.17 1/4.

Four of these horses were taken over to the Halifax exhibition and have figured well in the racing there.

Those going over were: Mac Volo, Winnie Winkle, Trixie Volo and Peter S.

Mr. Harry O'Brien went with his horses and reports some good racing.—S

THE BACK STRETCH

(Continued from Page 6) on by Wendell Wathen, established a new race record for three year old trotters for the state of Maine when he won at Skowhegan in 2.10 1/4.

The young sire Guy McKinney 1.58 1/4, is making quite a stir with his get this year. At the Bloomsbury, Pa. races last week Tommy Hanover won the 2.17 pace in straight heats, best time 2.07. Betty Hanover won the 2.24 Trot in straight heats, best time 2.08. Hanover the Great won the three year old pace, best time 2.09 1/4. The above are out of his first and second crop of foals and fillies.

Dick Reynolds, 1.59 1/4, son of the grand old sire Single G. 1.58 1/4, looked to have all the fast paces at his mercy early this season but while at Syracuse he got out of his stall and ran around the grounds receiving a kick during his travels. This injury has had its effect.

RYAN'S SINGLE IN THE ELEVENTH GIVES NEW YORKERS 2-1 VICTORY

The "Mighty" Hubbell Turns In Second Victory Over Senators In Brilliant Pitching Duel With Weaver — Terry Clouts Homer In Fourth.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor) CLARK GRIFFITH STADIUM, Washington, Oct. 6.—The young man who sounded the Giants' famous war cry—"They can't beat us"—proved it this afternoon in one of the most thrilling World Series games played in years.

John Collins (Blondy) Ryan, the fair-haired boy shortstop of the National League champions, came through in the 11th inning with the base-hit that scored the winning run and then saved the game by starting a double play that ended the last desperate rally of the Senators with the bases full.

In a finish that had the hearts of one and all, including 27,762 cash customers, beating wildly with excitement and suspense, Carl Owen Hubbell pulled out his second conquest of the American League champions by the thin margin of 2-1 after a sensational duel with Monte Weaver, youthful right-hander of the Senators.

It was the third triumph for the Giants in four brilliantly-pitched ball games, by far the most dramatic of anything that has happened so far, and puts this amazing New York team within one game of its goal—a world championship that seemed like a "pipe dream" to their followers only a few months ago.

But for an error by the great Hubbell himself in the seventh inning, when he juggled Joe Kuhel's easy bunt and paved the way for the tying score, the master of the "screw ball" would have scored a 1-0 shutout in the regulation nine innings, thanks to a terrific home run drive by Manager Bill Terry into the cone-like centre field bleachers in the fourth frame.

As a result of this deadlocked situation, the two pitchers and the two teams fought in spectacular fashion for the edge. Four times the Senators failed to score off Hubbell or break through the Giants' defence, with runners on third base, in a furious struggle marked by the ejection of Heinie Manush, slugging left-fielder, from the game after the sixth inning for a row with Umpire Charles Moran of the National League on a close decision at first base.

Manush was called out on a spectacular play, in which Hughie Critz picked up his sizzling grounder with a great stop back of first and threw to Hubbell for the putout as Buddy Myer was dashing to third. The argument became so heated as Manush used strong language that the umpire finally motioned Heinie off the field. Despite the ouster, Manush went back to his position at the start of the seventh and there was another big debate before he finally left the field, the first World Series player to be ejected in many years.

The Senators' outfield was shifted, with Goose Goslin going into the left and Dave Harris taking Goslin's post in right field. They came back in their half of the seventh to tie the score on Hubbell's misplay of Kuhel's bunt. Bluege's infield out and Luke Sewell's hard single to centrefield, but their mightiest efforts thereafter were frustrated by a Giant defence that refused to be cracked under the heaviest of pressure.

Many in the crowd were so incensed by Moran's decision and his ejection of Manush that they milled around the clubhouse after the game to give vent to their indignation. A cordon of policemen guarded the Umpire, while waiting for the feeling to subside.

Meanwhile, the Giants were singing the praises of Ryan who emerged as the hero of the dramatic 11th inning finish at a time when it looked as though Hubbell and Weaver might fight it out uned only eight hits but he walked four and frequently seemed to be tiring.

As in his first game, Hubbell filled the bases with Senators before checking them for the last time but again it was not entirely his fault. With the crowd roaring for a rally, Fred Schulte opened the Senator's last attack with a sharp single to left. Then Kuhel bunted along the first base line, a dribbler that Terry thought was going to roll foul. It didn't and there were two on, with none out, as a result of the Giant Manager's "boner."

Bluege sacrificed, Jackson to Terry, and the dangerous Sewell then was passed, filling the bases. Lacking a sufficiently reliable right handed pinch-hitter, Manager Cronin assigned Cliff Bolton, a portside batsman to take Russell's place at the plate. It was the most tense moment of the game as Hubbell worked carefully on the young backstop. Bolton finally drubbed a grounder that Ryan pounced on for the start of a double play completed by Critz and Terry.

The Washington cleanup wallop was conspicuously missing. Goslin, Manush, Harris, Cronin and Schulte collected only three scattered hits altogether. Three times, with runners on second or third, Manager Cronin was an easy victim as he filed out, fanned or grounded weakly.

After Terry's home run in the fourth, a drive that hit the centre field fence before dropping into the bleacher customers, the Giant filled the bases without being able to push over another run. Passed to Ott and Mancuso, with a single by Davis, jammed the bags but Ryan struck out.

The Giants, riding high, rely on their brilliant young right-hander, Hal Schumacher, to duplicate his victory in the second game and beat the Senators for the deciding gesture of the series. Meanwhile Washington faced another difficult problem in pitching strategy. Cronin refused to say what his hurling choice would be but it seemed likely he would start Al Crowder, veteran right hander, who was beaten in his opening game victory, yielded by Schumacher last Wednesday.

Weaver was abruptly removed when Carl Hubbell singled sharply to left-centre and Jack Russell, right-handed relief pitcher, retired Joe Moore and Hughie Critz to end the uprising.

All Hubbell had to do now was retire three more Senators but it proved another difficult job for him in an afternoon of continual threat by his rivals. The southpaw, neither so fast nor so baffling as in his opening game victory, yielded by Schumacher last Wednesday.
