THIS MAN TELLS YOU HOW TO KEEP FIT!

Bear River, N. S.—"My back was so bad I could hardly work. I was always tired out and had no ambition; was nervous and dizzy, and everything seemed to worry me. I also had terrible pains in my right side. I felt badly for about eighteen months, and could not do my work as it should have been done. I tried several doctors, and also bought about $25.00 worth of put-up medicines, but I found no relief until I took Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Doctor Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) Tablets. I have taken two bottles of the Discovery, and four of the Anuric Tablets, and can say that I feel as well as I have felt for the last ten years. I advise any sufferer to give Dr. Pierce's remedies a fair trial. I cannot recommend them too highly for what they have done for me and shall be pleased to answer one who writes to me. Write Doctor Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire free medical advice."

VERNA ADELE SCOTT

On Feb. 28th, 1924, the Angel of Death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. Scott, Meadow Bank, and took away their infant daughter, Verna Adele, aged six months. She was a bright lovable child, only ill a few days and will be missed by her parents, two sisters and one brother. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. H. "Budded on earth to bloom in Heaven."

A Famous Ape

(By Dominion News Service) LONDON, April 9.—"Sandy" the most famous orangutan in the world has died at the London Zoo. He had been a little "chesty" and listless, and had just been put on the sick list. His breathing grew more and more difficult and at ten minutes to four he stopped breathing altogether.

FLOWERS AND TULLE FOR GAY DANCE DRESS

Soft green tulle makes the filmy dance frock shown above. The skirt shows uneven lengths of the tulle, and posed beneath the layer are tiffed flowers made of green tulle. The tulle is shirred at the lower part of the bodice, and a huge taffeta flower adorns the side of the bodice. The sleeves give a piquant finish. Such sheer dance frocks are ideal for Summer wear, and are shown in chiffon and silk net as well as in tulle.

Great Men Live Longest

(By Dominion News Service) LONDON, April 9.—The average length of life reached by groups of persons eminent in various spheres of human leadership is the subject of an interesting article, "A Study of Life Values," by A. Wyatt, Tilly. Mr. Tilly's classified results show that the average life of "ordinary men who have reached maturity" was 52. The average of 500 "selected lives" was 67.533 years; the average of 191 "distinguished men" was 68.46 years; while that of 264 "selected lives of very eminent men" was 69.1 years. "It is clear then," he deduces, "that great men on the whole live longer than ordinary men."

Separating the selected lives into those of "men of action" — soldiers, statesmen, popes, archbishops — and "men of contemplative pursuits" — artists, musicians, authors, saints — it was found that the average of the active was 73.3 years while that of the contemplative men was only 64.3. Sorting men of action into occupations, Speakers of the House of Commons are 80 years, that of Lord Chancellors 79.6, of Bishops 73.9, and of Archbishops is 59.2 solid; 68.5, of ecclesiastics 68.4, English kings 57, French kings 47. The average of the contemplative type is: scientists 74.7, philosophers 66.7, painters 65.7, English authors 62.4, foreign authors 62.2, musicians 59.5, and saints 59.2. The popular idea that poets die young is so far supported that they attain the respectable average of 59.4 years, as against the higher level of 61 years which is the average for prose writers.

He had been a little "chesty" and listless, and had just been put on the sick list. His breathing grew more and more difficult and at ten minutes to four he stopped breathing altogether.

In Sandy child visitors to the Zoo lose a real though rather terrifying favourite. It is over sixteen years since he came to London from Singapore and he has broken all records of his race for long life in captivity. He was eight years in Singapore before he came to this country, and as he was nearly three years old when caught, this would make his age about 27. Many good stories are told about old Sandy. He first discovered the beauties of civilization when living with a Pole named Dittmar. He found a bottle of Benedictine in Mr. Dittmar's house, drank the lot, and then struggled into the library. Here he wrecked scores and scores of books until he could make a comfortable bed with the torn-out leaves in which to "sleep it off."

SUPERIORITY OF CANADIAN VARIETIES. (Experimental Farms Note) The varieties of grain which have been carrying off most of the prizes at the International Seed Grain and Hay Show at Chicago since the inception of that organization four years ago have been largely originated in Canada. In the case of wheat, the Canadian-bred Marquis variety has been a consistent winner of the Grand Sweepstakes prize. At the last exhibition, held in Chicago in December 1923, the first thirteen prizes including the Grand Sweepstakes were won by Marquis. Out of the twenty-five prizes awarded in the hard red spring wheat class, twenty-one went to the Marquis variety, two to Kitchener which is a selection out of Marquis, and one to Ruby which is cross-bred sort produced at the Experimental Farm at Ottawa. In the oat class, most of the winning samples were of the Victory and Banner varieties. These varieties, while not of Canadian origin, have been developed considerably by members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association in Canada. Twenty-eight out of a total of thirty-five prizes in oats were captured by Canada, twenty-one of these going to growers in the province of Alberta. In the two-rowed barley class, the sweepstakes were won by Duckbill Ottawa 57. This is a very fine, two-rowed variety originated by the Central Farm at Ottawa and which is giving a very good account of itself in trials being conducted at the various Experimental Farms throughout Canada.

REGISTERED COCKERELS. (Experimental Farms Note) Canada is setting the pace for the whole world to follow in the system adopted to obtain registered cockerels. The bred-to-lay cockerel that can transmit to his pullets the ability to produce a large number of eggs is what all keepers of poultry are after. It is recognized that the quickest way to increase the average egg yield of any flock is through the male, and this fact is commercialized by many breeders of so called bred-to-lay stock, who advertise high producing males that have not the breeding behind them, and are therefore unable to transmit this quality to their offspring. Because of this fact dishonest breeders have foisted overrated stock upon the public, and one of the reasons why registered cockerels are wanted is to overcome this practice of selling inferior birds as good breeding stock. At the present time it is possible for honest breeders to enter their pullets in the Laying Contests (of which there are 12 throughout the Dominion) and by having their birds qualify to produce cockerels that may be registered by the Canadian National Records. The fact that a cockerel is registered is a guarantee to the public that he has a certified pedigree behind him, of at least two generations of 200 (or more) egg blood, and that he is himself a bird typical of the breed and without standard disqualifications. Such a bird grows in our Canadian climate means the very best procurable in breeding for high egg production. Why hit the anvil and neglect the iron? MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT.
