HEADED QUEEN IN DISTRESS
Modern Sir Galahad Rises Promptly To Emergency.

(A. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 31.—Over roads which once shook to the noble tramp of hoofs of Sir Galahad's charger rode Percy Timous, esq., today. His mount, however, was no prancing steed, it was an automobile "in the low-priced class."

Now Mr. Timous wore the arched-trapping of chivalry; instead, as he looked on who works in a brewery, he wore an everyday business suit.

Thus unromantically arrayed he spurred on his mightiest steed, toward the historic road, in the best manner of the legends, he found a Queen in distress.

He did not know it was a queen, however. All he saw was a large automobile, the chauffeur of which was unable to make it budge.

"I say," said Mr. Timous, with nonchalance, "having trouble?"

Then he looked again and lost his nonchalance; the passenger in the large car was Queen Mary.

Mr. Timous explained later that he thought only he might be able to "kind hand" and added:

"I asked if I could take a message or take them anywhere and the Queen decided to come to Cambridge."

Now Mr. Timous had not intended to go to Cambridge. In fact he was driving away from there at the time, but he gallantly wheeled his car about, assisted Her Majesty and a lady-in-waiting to enter, and returned to the university town.

Queen Mary, who was out on a shopping trip in quest of antiques, was stopped in Cambridge and opened her trunk in front of the antique shop where she was to do her buying.

A policeman was on duty. When the little Timous sedan drew up in the parking place he imperiously waved it away.

Then he, too, looked again and changed his wave to a salute.

He opened the door, Queen Mary and a lady-in-waiting entered the shop, and Mr. Timous drove away.

WOMEN'S RESERVE Open Recruiting Depot At Sheffield

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Domestic women joining the official "women's reserve" being organized by commandant Mary Allen, formerly of the Metropolitan police, are all eager to study firearms, says the commandant.

Although they are taught the nature of different weapons they are not being given instruction in shooting, she adds.

The reserve, organized to act in case of a general strike or similar national emergency, has opened its first recruiting depot outside London at Sheffield. Whether the Steel City was selected because it was one huge arsenal during the war is not stated, but the recruits there are promised instruction in anti-gas methods, casualty treatment, fire drill and motor-truck driving.

Among the first recruits at Sheffield was the Deputy Mayoress.

Ships Loading Nitrate For Unnamed Ports

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Several members of the Roosevelt Cabinet were reported today by the Washington Post to be discussing the sudden chartering by unidentified persons of about a dozen vessels to load nitrates in Chile for delivery to unnamed ports.

The nitrates were presumably bound, however, the paper said for Russia and Japan.

The ships, it added, are all of British and are being used for months in various parts of the world.

"There is only one explanation given to the sudden chartering of so many vessels to load nitrates," said the Post, "and that is that both Japan and Russia are planning intensive manufacture of war munitions."

Woman Politician Decides Her Place Is In The Home

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The situation of being simultaneously a Cabinet member in Washington and a Republican legislator in Illinois has become "too complicated" for even energetic Mrs. Harold L. Ickes—and so she announced yesterday she wouldn't run again.

"Three times in three weeks I went out there and back," said the wife of the U. S. Minister of Interior immediately after announcing "with deep regret" her decision to cease representing the Chicago residential-industrial-suburban district that she elected her.

Several of her reasons simmered down to the old-fashioned tenet that, after all is said and done in these feminine times, a wife's place is with her husband.

Inquest Into Child's Death Adjourned

(C. F. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire) PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Jan. 30.—Inquest into the death of Alice Poonoo was adjourned today after her father had taken the stand to tell of a vain vigil for his slain daughter on New Year's Eve.

Dressed in a pink frock, the 11-year-old girl fell home early in the evening to collect milk. James Poonoo told the magistrate. He waited hours for her return, but he was not to see her again until her body was found in a lonely cocoa grove at "Danger Corner," near Port of Spain.

The girl's throat had been cut.

Rev. Canon C. W. Vernon Passes

(C. F. By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, Jan. 30.—Rev. Canon C. W. Vernon, General Secretary of the Social Service Council for the Church of England in Canada, died here today.

Canon Vernon, who was also president of the Social Service Council of Canada, was in his 54th year. He was born in England and was a graduate of King's College, London, where he was a classmate of the late Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, who died in New York in September, 1932.

Canon Vernon had been ill since last October, suffering from heart trouble following an attack of influenza.

Ghost Hunter Seeks Material In U. S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Now is the time for all New York ghosts to come to the aid of Elliot O'Donnell, who is hunting for material for his book "The Ghosts of America."

O'Donnell is a writer and a ghost hunter. He is not interested in the supernatural phenomena of the occult, but in the material for his book.

"I would gladly spend the night in any haunted house in this region should anyone desire me to do so," O'Donnell said yesterday.

"Primarily, I would do so to obtain some further material for my writings on such matters."

O'Donnell has chased ghosts in many lands, and has written 40 books, most of them dealing with supernatural phenomena.

"In most cases ghosts consist of vague, vibrating white lights," he said. "They have never done me any harm, however."

Caught on Ice Narrowly Escape

SYDNEY, N.S., Jan. 31.—(C.P.)—A woman and four children whose names were not learned by police were rescued by Royal Canadian Mounted police officers as they proceeded to the city of Sydney Harbour to prevent sliding into the open water.

The woman and children were crossing a section of the ice, left on a slight incline by ice-breaking vessels, when the woman and children gradually skidding toward open water. A man, who only a moment before had crawled on hands and knees to escape a similar fate, sent in an emergency call and two police cars responded.

MARY PICKFORD UNDER GUARD AS POLICE FEAR KIDNAP PLOT

FALMOUTH, Mass., Jan. 31.—Mary Pickford, noted Toronto motion picture actress, was under guard at the home of Fulton Oursler, playwright and magazine editor, to which she had fled from Boston last night after telling Boston police a man and a woman had trailed her for two days.

A Falmouth policeman patrolled the Oursler estate and ordered all visitors to the property. He declined to explain what orders he had received other than to say that no one other than members of the Oursler family or those with known business were to be permitted to enter the grounds.

Miss Pickford, who had been appearing on a Boston stage, sped to Cape Cod last night under "movie" conditions. She travelled in her own automobile with a police guard on the trailing behind. The Boston officers accompanied her as far as Buzzards Bay, where a state trooper took over the escort duty to the Oursler home.

The actress refused last night to give any explanation for her actions but the police said they had received a complaint from Miss Pickford that she had been trailed by a man and a woman for two days.

The trailer was the only person who would answer the telephone at the Oursler home and he said he had been told to give no information.

Curse of King Tut Is Declared Myth

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The "curse" of Tut-Ankh-Amen, after 11 years was declared a senseless myth today by Herbert E. Winlock, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

From his intimate knowledge of the excavations leading to discovery of the 3,000-year old Egyptian King, Winlock recalled the 40-odd men and women he personally worked with who were connected with the work, and he said that he had never seen anyone who had died under the so-called curse. Only six are dead—all from causes which appear natural to Winlock.

In a room of the museum not far from the mummy cases of Egyptian, Winlock went over a list of names of those who found the tomb, those who entered the inner shrine, the men who aided in opening the sarcophagus, and finally the selected group of officials who examined the mummy of the boy king of the Egyptians.

No "curse" of any kind was found in that tomb, Winlock said, and he read one reported found: "He who touches the tomb, on him the curse rest."

Clearly the director snapped: "No such curse."

Among one death he said: "That man was never in the tomb, but he had a brother who was."

And about two others: "They had lunch with us one day in Egypt."

Fish Meals Are Highly Nutritious

In experiments carried on at the Atlantic Fisheries Experimental Station, Halifax, it has been found that Maritime white fish has a high digestibility value. Sales of Maritime produced white fish have increased considerably. Those who have savored the splendid fish dinners that are served on Canadian National dining cars now have the further assurance that apart from tastiness this highly nutritious sea food is highly nutritious. Maritime white fish is a regular feature of meals served in Canadian National dining cars.

"PREHISTORIC MONSTERS" BECOME COMMON

The appearance of "prehistoric monsters" is, apparently, becoming quite commonplace. Passengers aboard the Canadian National steamship "Prince Rupert" on a recent trip in northern British Columbia waters were quite sure they had discovered Puget Sound's famous "Caddy" making his way to Alaska. The large object was on the surface, however, turned out to be a dead whale off which hundreds of seals were feasting. At a distance, the seals looked like serrations along the back of the supposed monster.

Who Beheaded King Charles?

Barbados, known also as "Little England," may have solved a historical mystery. A Barbadian has found a letter dated 1669 from John Newington of Barbados, to James Drawler, London, England. It states that one Hugh Peachall "who has been in the island (Barbados) almost 20 years and lived with many persons of good esteem—falling sick was much troubled in conscience—and did acknowledge himself very person that cut off ye head of King Charles, for which he had 100 pounds sterling." Following the declaration Peachall died, "after receiving many last wishes, could not find him." The letter adds that one William Hewel was at the moment held at Newgate, for the beheading. Barbados is most easterly of the British West Indies islands, and is on the Canadian National Steamship route.

Canadian Manure And Fertilizer

Farm manures, their nature, care, and applications, greatly influence their value and function; commercial fertilizers, their plant food content and economy; and soil amendments are the topics discussed in "Manures and Fertilizers" bulletin issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The information is given in terms readily understood, and the close relationship of the use of the manures and fertilizers to the maintenance of soil fertility, that is, productivity, has been kept in mind. While several factors—such as rainfall and its distribution, temperature, etc.—have a determinative influence on yields, correct methods of soil management and the presence of available plant food are essential to maximum production.

Canadian Cheese Problems

The problems facing the cheese industry in Ontario today are many, says the Economic Analyst, issued quarterly by the Agricultural Economics Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture. Perhaps the most important one affecting production costs is declining volume of business. In 1934 the first cheese factory is reported to have been established in Oxford County, Ontario. From then on a rapid development took place in the industry until early in this century. Since 1900-04 period there has been a gradual decline in production of cheese in Ontario (and in fact throughout the whole Dominion). In 1931, Ontario had 714 factories in which were produced slightly over 24 million pounds of cheese. This figure represents a decrease of 36.4 per cent as compared to a production of nearly 132 million pounds in the year 1907.

With the development of large central creameries and increased demand for milk for fluid consumption and for use in the manufacture of other dairy products, the production of cheese declined. Favourable conditions, however, improved means of transportation, better roads, and more suitable means of handling milk, the net effect of this combination of circumstances being increased consumption and declining volume of business for cheese factories. It has been difficult for operators of these cheese factories to cope with these changed conditions and thus compete with the cream of milk.

London to Send Relief to India

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(C.P. Cable) The Lord Mayor tonight opened a fund for relief of sufferers from the earthquake in India a fortnight ago. He said latest news indicated the death toll would be more than double previous estimates and that property damage, including destruction of homes, mills, factories and plantations, represented a loss of many millions of pounds.

Debates

St. Joseph's Literary and Debating Society held their second meeting this season in Kelly's Cross school hall on Monday evening, Jan. 22 at 8 o'clock.

Owing to the absence of the President, T. J. Flood the meeting was called to order by the Vice-President, Mr. Katherine Creamer, after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A short program was then carried out which consisted of: Music by Kelly's Cross Orchestra (encored); reading by Wilfred Bradley; song by Thomas Trainor; duet by Josephine McManus and Rita Nantes; reading by Kathleen Cusack; reading by Gordon Weddell.

The debate followed, the resolution being "that agricultural associations are a benefit to farmers." The subject was well discussed. The pro side brought out the necessity of co-operation among the farmers, while the con side ably opposed their arguments by maintaining that prices paid by associations for farm produce are no better if as good as individual buyers. The argument was somewhat lengthy and heated, the con side winning by a majority of 24 points.

The speakers were: Pro—Thomas McAvlin, John W. Bradley, Mrs. John W. McKenna, Con—Peter Toole, Bennett Trainor, Louis McGuigan, Mabel Cusack.

Machinery of Heredity

"If we mate a black Aberdeen-Angus to a red Shorthorn, the progeny are all black in colour, taking after the Aberdeen-Angus parent. If we mate two of these cross-breeds together we find that, while the majority of the calves from such crosses are black, about one-quarter of them are red. In the same way, while the first cross between Aberdeen-Angus and Shorthorn parents are polled, the second cross consists largely of polled animals, but about one in four are horned. If we were to raise an infinitely large population of the second cross animals we should find that the proportion that appeared either red or horned would be exactly one in four. When we are working with smaller numbers, the proportion may be slightly different. It is like tossing a penny. If you toss a penny a thousand times you will get very nearly 500 heads and 500 tails. If, however, you toss it only a small number of times, you may easily chance to get quite a big proportion of heads and a small number of tails. The point to be emphasized is that the machinery of heredity works in precisely the same mathematical manner. Where we know enough about the mode of inheritance in a character, we can predict the odds concerning the appearance of that character in the progeny.—D. K. Buchanan Smith, Institute of Animal Genetics, Edinburgh University.

LENTEN PERIODS STRIKE CONSCIENCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—Conscience money, according to Watson Sellar, comptroller of the treasury, Ottawa, is one of many sources of revenue for the government each year.

It was not the amount received in this manner that was of great interest, Mr. Sellar told a local gathering, but the human nature revealed in the file of short-explanatory notes accompanying the contributions. The contributors, many of them in poor circumstances, indicated they had a desire to be honest and hoped to right a wrong by confessing to the government. Mr. Sellar said, "Most contributors have pointed out, were received after an Evans live movement had passed through the country but many also came in during the Lenten period."

RODEO RIDERS FOR AUSTRALIA

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—A search is now being made in Canada, United States and Mexico for thirty expert riders who are wanted for a chain of rodeos to be started in Australia this year. According to information reaching an official of the Canadian National Steamships, a representative of the Victorian Centenary celebrations is now on this continent to pick the best performers offering and to engage a star of "Western" movies as an outstanding attraction. In recent years the round-up, stamperede or rodeo has become popular in Australia, which naturally is a country of great horsemen, owing to the vast area of the ranches and the enormous herds of semi-wild cattle. A plan has been drafted to hold a series of rodeos every year with international competitions in many events.

Lamb production in Canada has improved so steadily within the past few years that at the present time it is one of the Dominion's cheapest and best meats.

No More Piles

You Can Get Your Awful Misery Quicker With...
 Thousands of men and women do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why aches and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

By using HEMAROID, or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEMAROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heats and restores the almost dead part.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when G. E. Hughes and also Taylor Drug Co., of Kingston, Ontario, will supply you with HEMAROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles no matter how stubborn the case!

Sanitation should be practiced in all feeding methods with turkeys. Never allow the birds to pick through troughs or dishes of waste kind. All feeding utensils should be kept perfectly clean. HEALTH TIP FROM WOMAN
 "For headaches—constipation—asthma—I use Scott's Emulsion since I have used it. I feel very much better health. In fact, I never wake with those bad headaches and that general feeling of lassitude. My appetite has improved and my words are clear and strong. I am young."—thus writes Mrs. G. C. It is reasonable to ask why it is that headaches, constipation, and asthma all yield so completely to Kruschen's. What is the secret of Kruschen's effectiveness? These are different complaints? The answer is an open one. It is revealed in the analysis on the bottle—for physicians and everyone else to see. The vitamins, mineral salts. That is the secret. Each of these six salts has an action of its own. Where one does not penetrate another can—does. Stomach, liver, kidneys and digestive tract are all benefited and taken up to a top-notch condition of efficiency.

Maritime C.N.R. Excursion to Boston
 (Special to The Guardian) MONCTON, N.S., Jan. 30.—Boston and vicinity will be reached by a large number of Maritimers who will travel to that city on the coach excursion being operated by the Maritimes National Railway lines from Maritime Province stations on Friday, February 2nd next. "We have received a large number of inquiries," R. J. J. Westmoreland, general freight and passenger agent of the Canadian National Railway here, stated this morning "and we anticipate one of the largest excursions yet operated from the Maritimes to Boston." A number of attractions await the visitors including the New England sportsmen's show which opens in Boston on Saturday, February 3rd and a hockey game between Philadelphia and the Boston Cubs in the Boston Garden on the same night. The New England sportsmen's show continues until February 10th. These coach excursions are showing an increasing popularity and are now being operated by practically all the railways on the continent, providing a speedy do cheap form of travel for day or over night runs.

BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS
 On Monday, January 22nd, Mr. John Cotton of Moncton, now residing at 17 Belmont St., Summerside, celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday. In spite of his four score and four years, Mr. Cotton is still hale and hearty. He has five children and grandchildren followed to extend to him their congratulations and to wish him many many years with them. After partaking of a bountiful dinner, the guests repaired to the parlor where Mr. Cotton was presented with the following address and a well filled glass as well as other gifts.

Dear Grandpa: It is with great pleasure that we your children and your grandchildren as we have gathered here this evening to extend to you our heartiest congratulations and best wishes on the your eighty-fourth birthday. We have always by your high ideals of right and wrong set for us an inspiring example, and by your kindly teaching and cherry words have helped us over many rough places in "Life's Path."

Please accept this small gift, not for its intrinsic value, but as a small token of our love and esteem.

May the end of a perfect day be yours. When the evening stars appear, And may every day be a perfect day for many perfect days.

Among Mr. Cotton's congratulations was a telegram of good wishes from St. George, reading a Winniper.

BRACKLEY WELCOMES BRIDAL COUPLE
 A very enjoyable social evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stead on Thursday evening, Jan. 11th, when the people of Brackley assembled to congratulate Mrs. E. Clark on having chosen such a charming life-mate and to welcome Mrs. Clark to the community. A nicely worded address was read by Mr. Lewis H. Brackley, assisted by Mrs. H. Stead. Mrs. E. Clark and her new bride were seated in the front row of the happy couple with two beautiful ruffled chairs. Mrs. Clark, who had thanked one and all for their kind wishes which ended with a hearty "For You are Jolly Good Fellows." The remainder of the evening was spent in cards and dancing, after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by the staff of Brackley. Following was the address:

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Clarke, Brackley, Jan. 11, 1934.

Dear Earl and Margaret: It gives me great pleasure on this occasion to gather here tonight to congratulate you on your recent marriage and to set forth our wishes for a happy and prosperous future.

It is always a source of satisfaction to us to make additions to our well as retain the members of our community, and we hope that your intentions are to reside permanently in our midst.

It is small token of our esteem and regard for you, we ask you to accept this gift, which we hope will convey the expressions of our warm wish of your Brackley friends.
