BOHEMIA MAY FOLLOW HUNGARY IN REVOLUTION.

LONDON, March 24.—The revolution in Hungary caused great excitement in Vienna but did not surprise those who were aware of the true condition of affairs, says the Vienna correspondent of the Telegraph. He says the Communists of Hungary have long been the real masters of the country and have been only waiting an opportunity to get rid of Count Karolyi who is considered to have been never more than a figurehead. The correspondent declares there are no elements in Hungary capable of making a stand against extremists and that even in Czechoslovakia there are strong Bolshevik influences. He points out that experts agree there is very grave danger of Bohemia following the example of Hungary.

HON. G. H. MURRAY, PREMIER OF THE WAR SAVINGS SCHEME

Premier Murray of Nova Scotia is a firm believer in thrift, seeing in it the means through which Canada is to recover herself financially. He heartily recommends the War Savings Plan pointing out its special advantages to the person of small means. In a recent statement to the public he says:—

"Two principal objects are aimed at in the endeavour to interest you in the purchase of War Savings Stamps. These are, first, to collect the necessary funds with which to carry on the work or reconstruction in Canada and, secondly, to inculcate the habit of thrift amongst all classes of our population.

"Money is still needed by the Government although the war is over. Our army cannot be fully demobilized until the peace terms are signed and, in the meantime, our soldiers must be fed and clothed and paid. Moreover, most of our men are still overseas and must be transported home. The Pension Fund and the Soldiers' Re-Education Fund must be maintained and strengthened. Important public works, long delayed, must now be undertaken. Government expenditure will necessarily continue for some time to be very considerably larger than in pre-war days.

"Money for these expenditures could, of course, be borrowed from large financial interests. Instead, every citizen, no matter how small his means, is given the opportunity to invest his surplus earnings conveniently and profitably through the purchase of War Savings Stamps. By curtailing useless expenditure it is estimated that a sum as large as fifty millions of dollars could be raised by our Canadian people in one year. It is the duty of every citizen to watch his expenditure closely and invest his savings where they will be abundantly safeguarded and utilized to the greatest advantage.

"Many people cannot afford to invest in bonds, but they can save by thrift small amounts and ultimately these accumulated savings will amount to the value of many bonds. Particularly will this apply to children, to young people, to those starting out in life and earning small amounts; to all, in fact, in every walk of life who cannot make large investments, but who would feel more secure in their old age did they have some little sum to fall back upon. This method of saving should appeal particularly to Nova Scotia to many classes of our population that are not in direct touch with the market centres.

CHIEF OF U. S. GAS STAFF AT NEW YORK TOOK HIS OWN LIFE

NEW YORK, March, 20.—Captain Reginald E. Taylor, chief of personnel of the Gas Staff, Chemical Division, committed suicide here today by inhaling gas. He was found dead in bed with a tube connecting with the illuminating gas jet in his mouth and a towel wrapped around his head. His wife assigned a nervous breakdown from overwork during the war as the reason for Captain Taylor's act.

EMBARRASSMENT, THE RESULT OF COUGH

You've seen it often—just as the singer, preacher or great actor reaches the climax and the audience is keyed up to the highest pitch of anticipation, there comes that uncontrollable cough or sneeze from somewhere in the audience. How embarrassing for the victim who knows that the pleasure of many has been spoiled.

You can avoid being in a similar position by always carrying a box of Dominion C. B. Q. Tablets (in the red box). One or two doses will stop a cold before it gets seated, or break up a hard cold in short order. Get a box to-day. National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, 12

Capt. Percy Cantwell, A.E.F., Visiting Home Here

Captain Percy J. Cantwell, of the American Expeditionary Force, arrived here on Saturday night on a visit to his old home in Charlottetown.

He is a brother of Mr. Bert Cantwell, and of Mrs. Benjamin Stentford, and is stopping with the latter on Prince Street.

Captain Cantwell was on the staff of the Providence Journal when he enlisted in the Rhode Island Guard, first seeing service on the Mexican border in 1916. In June, 1918, he went to France as Lieutenant in the 355th Field Artillery, the gunners being all coloured men, who had been under training at Camp Meade, Maryland.

The 355th was 8 months in France, being the greater part of that time on the east of the Moselle, in the Marbach section, on the extreme right of the American line, Captain Cantwell (promoted last October) commanding extreme battery B.

This battery of 219 men, serving 155 millimetre (about six inch) guns, saw a considerable amount of fighting, the regiment having 25 fatalities, Captain Cantwell coming through without a scratch.

The battery advanced a good deal since it went into action, and it took part in a frontal attack on Cornay on November 8th.

When the armistice was signed, it was 30 kilometres south of Metz, the great German stronghold.

Captain Cantwell, like his brother William, who is also in newspaper work, is a clever writer, and his letters in the Providence Journal are valuable contributions to the literature of the war.

"Journeying Amid the Wreckage of War-torn France" is a fine piece of descriptive writing. In "Back to Drill with the Boys in France," the captain tells a very graphic story of very interesting conditions.
