Miller Bros Pianos
The Heintzman & Co.
---A Piano for the Fastidious

The makers of the Heintzman & Co. Piano are not in business to produce merely a good or a VERY GOOD instrument; they manufacture beyond question the BEST PIANO that has ever been offered the public, and the whole resources of their institution are bent toward maintaining their SPLENDID STANDARD and IMPROVING IT, be it ever so slightly, from time to time. The Heintzman & Co. Piano is not an instrument that is produced at a given price to place upon the market; the expense of its manufacture is a matter of but minor consideration, and the ruling idea has been to make the best piano that skill and genius can put together irrespective of cost. The Heintzman is beyond ordinary commercial usages, and is far beyond the ordinary best piano quality.

The exquisite quality of tone in the Heintzman Piano is a matter of marvel. Every other manufacturer acknowledges its unrivalled beauty and very many have spent time and money in the attempt to duplicate it.

Nevertheless, the Heintzman tone remains today a thing apart in Piano tone; there is no other piano like the Heintzman, and we think, no other can satisfy the fastidious purchaser—who can afford to have one.

We are sole handlers of Heintzman & Co., Pianos in Prince Edward Island. It will give us pleasure to have you examine our stock.

NOTICE.—It has been decided to publish the names of all contributors to the Prince Edward Island Teachers' Contribution to the Patriotic Fund in "The Teachers' Magazine," and subscriptions must be sent to the respective publishers without delay to insure publication in the first issue. The first list (Charlottetown contributions) will appear in the local papers on or before next Saturday. Inspectors will please send their lists, whether complete or not, by Nov. 20, and any other subscriptions they may receive as soon as possible after that date.

SPECIAL MINISTERIAL MEETING.—A special meeting of the Ministerial Association was held on Saturday morning at the Y.M.C.A., when the Rev. Mr. Hall, Senior Chaplain for Canada and Dominion representative of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, was present. After arrangements had been made for the service held last evening a conference was held in regard to future work among sailors in this port. The visitor expressed great satisfaction at the work which had already been done and was sure that it held promise for the future. It was desirable, as in other seaports of the Empire, to place it upon a representative public basis. Subsequently it was decided to form a general committee consisting of one representative clergyman of each Protestant denomination, with two laymen from each body, with power to add to their number. Revs. Canon Simpson, Littlejohn, Fullerton and Bennett consented to act and it was agreed that the president of the Ministerial Association for the time being should be chairman of this Sailors' Welfare Work Committee. Mr. D. A. McKinnon, whose long interest in the welfare of sailors is well known both in Liverpool and in Charlottetown, has accepted the position of treasurer. It is to be understood that the work of the committee is quite self-contained, and the council of the Canadian National Branch of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society will give all possible help to the movement.

SEARCH FOR A MISSING GIRL.
MONCTON, Nov. 11.—The Lynn, Mass., police have written to Chief Rideout enquiring as to the whereabouts of Edna M. McGrath, who it is said, was taken away from her home in Charlottetown in 1900, three months after her birth, by Annie Parker, who served as nurse for the child. The whereabouts of nurse and child had since been a mystery. Two or three years ago Annie Parker, who many years ago, was a prominent witness in the sensational Osborne-McCarthy murder case, died near Moncton, but there is no trace of the missing girl.

GEORGE'S SON IN RANKS.
LONDON, November 12.—Richard Lloyd George, son of the Minister of Munitions, said that the story to the effect that he had been promoted to be lieutenant-colonel of a Welsh regiment was an "absolute lie."
Mr. Lloyd George is instead a private in a Welsh regiment. The story that he had been promoted to a lieutenant-colonel so soon after joining the regiment caused threats to all the matter in the House of Commons. There never was any official foundation for the story.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN MATHESON

The death of Mr. John Matheson, aged 57 years, took place at his late home, Okanagan Falls, B. C., on October 26, 1915. He leaves to mourn a wife and two sons, John Angus and Elias, also two brothers and two sisters, namely Daniel, A. and Alexander, and Mrs. Dan Crossman all on P. E. Point, N. S. He was the eldest son of the late Mr. Angus Matheson, Inkerman Road, Lot 29, P. E. I. (Other papers please copy)

GAVE UP $10,000 YEAR JOB TO ENLIST AS PRIVATE.

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, October 12.—Private E. Gard, a cheery looking young soldier and one of General Botha's victorious army, who is now in England preparing to meet the Huns, provides a wonderful example of patriotism to faint-hearted slackers over here. He gave up a post worth $2,000 a year in South Africa to join the army and receive one shilling a day. Private Gard was the general manager of one of the biggest stores in Johannesburg. He is about thirty. "My only grumble is that I am nearly always hungry," he said. "Training in England gives me an enormous appetite." A curious coincidence is that this young patriot's senior non-commissioned officer is a man whom he at one time employed in his stores.

RADIUM AS FERTILIZER

A party of scientists and others recently inspected the experiments carried out on the trial grounds at Reading, Eng., by Mr. Martin H. F. Sutton to test the effects of radio-active ores and residues on plant life. Mr. Sutton in the early summer of last year carried out a series of tests and these were repeated this year on even a larger scale. The visitors were impressed with the thorough and complete character of the provision against error. Everything possible was done to ensure a fair test, not only for the pure radium bromide and the radio-active ores, but also for the proprietary fertilizers included in the trials.

The results examined yesterday are even more emphatic than those of 1914 in showing that while in some cases plants dressed with radio-active ore had given better results than the control plants, the improvement had not been of such a nature as to warrant the assumption that so expensive a commodity as radium could be profitably applied to crops.

Mr. Sutton's investigation can be accepted as conclusive—and they are so regarded by competent botanists and chemists, says the London Times—the farmer and gardener need look for no material benefit from radium. The chief result has been to emphasize the value of farmyard manure and complete artificial fertilizers. The lessons are of great importance to gardeners especially, for whom negative results are as valuable as positive, though they may be less encouraging.

A BRIGHT ANSWER.

LINCOLN AS A BOY.

(From the Boston Globe.)
"That young Abraham Lincoln was a real boy is shown by this stanza, written on a leaf from his 'sum book,' which has just been sold at auction for $240 in New York:
Abraham Lincoln is my name.
And with my pen I wrote the same;
I wrote it in both hands and speed,
And left it here for fools to read.
Of course Abraham didn't foresee
the man who bought the leaf."

HINTS ON LOOKING WELL DRESSED.

Every woman who wants to look her best, and rightly so. This may imply an expensive dress, but it also includes one who selects the right sort of clothes and knows how to wear them becomingly. We can call to mind women who spend a small fortune on clothes and are never well dressed, while others look much smarter on a great deal less. Good dressing does not necessarily mean extravagant dressing, but rather it is the art of choosing styles which suit you and adapting prevailing fashions to your style and to the occasion. The woman who wishes to be considered well dressed must study her type and choose her clothes that her best points are accentuated and her worst skillfully concealed.

To know what is most becoming to you both in the color and style of your hats and gowns enables you to make a choice quickly and to look your best at less expense. You must give thought to the colors you choose. To be sure such staple color as black, white and blue are becoming to most persons. When it comes to the cardinal colors and to delicate tints, it is as well to study how these blend and contrast with the color of your hair and complexion. Take some trouble to discover which is your most becoming shade for daylight and for artificial light.

It is one thing to be vain and another to learn the important art of making your clothes well. To do the latter, you must take time to pull your clothes into shape. It is your business to tilt your hat at the right angle, to arrange your collar or belt a little higher or lower, according to the way it becomes you best. These are trivial differences, but they add or detract much from your general appearance.

A well dressed woman gives time and money to her accessories, such as her shoes, stockings, gloves and collars. No matter how smart your walking suit and hat are, your appearance will be marred if your shoes are worn down at the heels or your gloves are soiled and wrinkled. For a few cents you can get the heels of your shoes built up even as often as the

REDNESS OF THE HANDS.

To remove, beat together an ounce of clear honey, one ounce of almond oil, the juice of a lemon, the yolk of a raw egg, and apply at night to the hands.

Water may be softened by adding to each gallon of water two tablespoons of a solution made by dissolving one pound of washing soda in one quart of boiling water. This solution should be kept bottled and ready for use to soften water in which wool is to be washed. Use one tablespoonful of borax dissolved in one cup of water for each gallon of wash water.

Soap shredded among stored blankets gives away moths.

Sponges which are slimy should be steeped in vinegar and water for a day.

If woolen pails and tubs are painted with glycerine they will not shrink.

The closet of the guest chamber should have in it a skirt and coat hanger.

A BRIEF PAUSE

Mrs. Gusher was never tired of talking about her children and extolling their cleverness. One evening she was busily boring some guests to death with stories of her family's smartness when the patter of little feet sounded outside the door. "Hush!" she whispered ecstatically. "The dear babies are coming to me with their good-night messages. It always brings me a feeling of reverence and my own unworthiness to hear them, they speak so freely from their fresh young hearts." There was a brief pause, and one guest struggled nobly with a yawn. Then the door opened and a tousled head peeped in, and a shrill voice said—"Ma, ma, Willie has found a cockroach in the bath."—Scottish-American.
