REBEL LEADERS ARE EXECUTED

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MADRID, Nov. 7.—A large glass of cognac at the last to brace them, two men who shed soldiers' blood in Spain's red revolt went bravely to their death today.

as secured commuted sentences of the other 21 rebels tried with them, courts found.

Naredo found courage to jest with the squad of riflemen picked to execute him. He asked them not to spoil his features by shooting high.

Guerra was pale and composed. He kept his lips tightly closed. Premier Alejandro Lerroux, who earlier had extended to Dec. 6 the state of alarm (modified martial law) under which he rules Spain in order to forestall disorders, had news of the executions broadcast at once.

GRAZING OX MAKES ARCHAEOLOGY FIND

CHATELLELAULI, France, Nov. 7.—An ox, ambling placidly along the St. Martin road near here, turned from grazing to archeological discovery yesterday.

Farmers, hearing loud bellowings in the vicinity of the road, found the ox lying at the bottom of a deep excavation into which it had fallen. Investigation of the hole revealed that it consisted of three rooms lined with stone seats of great antiquity. Speculation as to its period ran high, some asserting it dated back to the Gauls and others believing it a fortress built to halt Norman invasion.

NEW 'GOOD LUCK' TREE DEDICATED IN HARLEM

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A good luck tree was credited today in Harlem with stopping a hard shower of rain.

Bill Robinson, the Negro tap dancer, said to the tree: "I wish it would stop raining."

The rain ceased. This tree, a young elm, is to take the place of Harlem's old "wishing tree," which stood until last summer on Seventh avenue before the Lafayette Theatre.

The new tree was dedicated yesterday and it was because of the scheduled ceremonies that Robinson wanted the weather to clear up.

Five thousand Harlemites marveled at Robinson's story. "It certainly looks like this tree is going to work," said the dancer.

Uncle Sam Votes For or Against Roosevelt's Men

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—Strength in construction issues the predominant feature, securities on the Montreal Stock Exchange mounted in moderate turnover today. Sales volume was roughly two-thirds of yesterday's total with approximately 15,250 shares changing hands during the session.

The overwhelming victory of the Democrats in yesterday's elections in the United States was reputed to be the main impetus for the upward surge of the construction issues. With the Democrats holding a powerful majority in Congress and the Senate it was considered possible President Roosevelt might re-introduce the question of the St. Lawrence waterways which was turned down by the last House and Senate. Canada Cement stocks extracted the most value out of the conjectures concerning the Democrats and the St. Lawrence waterways. The common issue rose 1 1/2 points to 7 1/2 while the preferred stock jumped a full two points at 49 1/2. Dominion Bridge advanced 1/2 at 32 and Gyp-

Double Ring Ceremony

PRINCESS MARINA MAY GIVE DUKE OF KENT A RING ON OCCASION OF MARRIAGE—THIS WOULD BE ACCORDING TO GREEK CHURCH TRADITION

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The possibility of Princess Marina giving the Duke of Kent a wedding ring when the Royal pair are married at the end of this month, is now under consideration. This would be according to Greek church tradition.

This was revealed when Welsh gold specially mined for the bride's ring arrived today at York House to be made up by west end jewellers. If the Princess also gives a ring it would be bestowed at the Greek orthodox ceremony in the private chapel at Buckingham Palace, which will follow the main service in Westminster Abbey.

Several hundred invitations to the main wedding ceremony have already been issued by the Lord Chamberlain. Each is accompanied by a copy of regulations concerning dress. Morning clothes with hats are prescribed for women, who should also wear any orders and decorations they possess.

Navy, army and air officers will wear full dress, or otherwise service dress. Members of the royal household and civil servants will wear full dress or levee dress. Civilians will wear court dress.

Special seats are being reserved at the Abbey for half a dozen servants of the Duke of Kent's household, who will have a full view of the ceremony uniting the King's youngest son with the lovely daughter of Prince and Princess Nicholas of Greece.

Two golden crosses are being fashioned by goldsmiths at Athens as a gift of the archbishop of the church of Cyprus and the Hellenic community.

The Staffordshire district of England long known as the "potteries" is presenting a china dinner service for 24 persons with the badge of arms of the royal recipients.

The "Georges" fund being sponsored by famous Georges of the Empire, including Hon. George Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner, promises to go over with a bang. Proceeds from this fund will go to permanent provision of Christmas treats for underprivileged children in depressed districts.

George Lansbury, Labor leader and George Arliss, the distinguished actor, have agreed to make two talking pictures in aid of the fund.

How different were the dances of half a century ago—the slowly gliding waltz and the sprightly polka. How horrified would dancers of those times be, as they bowed themselves gracefully out of Sir Roger de Coverley, to see a modern tango or rumba.

"After the Ball Was Over"

... their daintiest party clothes needed Surprise Soap

• Even the stateliest of the old dances brought perspiration to the surface, and made garments ready for the wash-tub. How much more so is this true of the vigorous dances of today!

• And what a stand-by Surprise Soap always proves to be. Soiled clothing of all kinds, no matter how fragile or delicate, can be entrusted to its gentle suds without fear of harm.

• Surprise Soap gives a quick, lasting lather that loosens every particle of dirt without the need of heavy rubbing. And the rich suds rinse out so easily and quickly, leaving the washing fresh and fragrantly clean.

• Surprise Soap is economical, too, because the firm golden bar does not waste away in water.

U.S. MARKETS REACT TO LANDSLIDE

Wheat Carried Above $1.00 a Bushel Yesterday.

(By Claude A. Jagger) (Associated Press Financial Editor) (A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Financial markets, after manifesting apparent apathy to the new deal landslide of the polls, finally surged upwards in the late dealings today.

Buying started in the Chicago wheat pit in the afternoon, and spread to the New York Exchange and the New York cotton market in the last hour of trading.

In the morning trading, stocks and bonds, notably the U. S. Government issues, sagged a little in sluggish dealings, and commodities were hesitant.

The late upswing carried wheat above $1 a bushel for the first time in nearly a month, gave the stock market its best turnover in four weeks, and sent average prices of industrial shares to the highest levels since late August. Net gain of $1 to $4 a share were numerous.

The buying in wheat was traced to houses with connections to Wall Street, where stocks were soon sent climbing. Buying was believed largely speculative, but some quarters said important buying of United States securities for foreign account was evident from California.

U. S. Government bonds were off as much as 1-32 to 7-16 of a point in the stock exchange at their low levels, but they recovered part of their loss as stocks advanced.

Final prices were 1-32 of a point higher to 5-16 of a point lower—one point representing 1/8 per cent value.

Some quarters in Wall Street were inclined to read inflationary implications into the overwhelming new deal victory at yesterday's elections, accepting it as a mandate for government spending. Market analysts, who possibly accounted in part for the sag in Federal bonds and the rise in stocks and staples, while concentrating its attention upon the election result, Wall Street found time to watch the French cabinet crisis closely, and the beginnings of the largest flow of gold from Paris to New York since April gave rise to fresh speculation over the ability of the gold bloc to hold its own.

Some $200,000 in gold up until late today had been either shipped or engaged for shipment to New York.

Urges Change In Teaching Of History

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, Nov. 7.—Modernization of history teaching in schools was advocated today before the Canadian Education Association convention by G. Fred McNally of Edmonton, supervisor of schools for Alberta. Schools, he declared, were "falling down" because they failed to interest pupils and because of the pupils' limitations to grasp material presented.

Mr. McNally said Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Ontario and the Maritimes were revising the secondary school curricula and he suggested the association appoint a permanent committee to study this problem and others.

The trouble with teaching history rested in the kind of history being taught, he continued. He told the association of a class in Calgary when he finally came to the class volunter twice a month and the average attendance was 75, he said.

Most Beautiful Maple Leaf Found

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—The most beautiful Maple Leaf found in Canada this autumn and submitted to judges appointed by the Royal Canadian Academy was sent by Mrs. A. A. Adams of Oak Bay Mills, Que., the judges announced here tonight.

More than 10,000 leaves were chosen by residents of every Province. From this huge number the judges finally reduced the most beautiful in form and coloring to three, awarding Mrs. Adams first place and second honors to two leaves, submitted by Mrs. Guy H. Humphrey, Hampton, King's County, N. B., and Marshall I. White, Milton West, Ont. Third prize was eliminated as the judges were unable to choose between the selections of Mrs. Humphrey and Mr. White.

Mrs. Adams' leaf was described as an extraordinary beauty and showing a flare of brilliant coloring such as only a Canadian autumn can produce. The level of coloring and general perfection was extremely high, it was announced, as well as some hundreds were selected, mounted in panels, and will be exhibited in railway stations from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The competition was sponsored by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

Missing Man Not Located

NEW WATERFORD, Nov. 8.—(C. P.) Searchers combed the woods anew today for the body of John MacMillan, 68, who disappeared from his home on May 9, 1933.

They took up the hunt after two Italian youths came across the missing man's coat, trousers, cap and suspenders.

The clothing was identified by members of MacMillan's family who also identified a pipe found in the pocket of the trousers. Theory that he had been drowned was discarded for there was not a lake or stream within a mile.

Police believed that he had stopped to rest and dry his clothes, for a fireplace was found nearby. The search party will be increased by scores of volunteers tomorrow.
