THE St. John Telegraph has received from S. H. F. Sherwood, of Sussex, a sample of maple sugar which Mr. Sherwood writes, was made from sap drawn from the tree on Dec. 29, 1906. Mr. Sherwood says that the fact that the maple sap will not run in Canada when England is frozen up and snowed under will be information for the post. This appears to be something that was overlooked in this Province during the recent mild spell when the pantries were blooming in the gardens of Guardian readers.

NOEL ABRAHAM, the Indian who was assaulted in this city a week ago, and whose case is to be tried this week before the Supreme Court, has spent the time since his adventure in the City Police Station. He is evidently determined to take no more risks. He has recovered pretty well from the results of his beating, but suffers some pain from the broken rib. The swellings on his face have disappeared and he is in good spirits. A few days ago he was visited by his mother, an aged squaw, who is over ninety years old, and who came down from Lennox Island Reservation to see her son, Noel's wife, and two children surviving out of a family of fifteen, live at Morell.

A UNIQUE and attractive book has just been issued by the firm of Emilius Jarvis & Co., Bankers and Bond dealers, McKinnon Building, Toronto, which, besides being entertaining as a story, will prove a very fund of information to investors. The book is entitled "A Financial Courtship" and is aptly termed a plea for conservative investments. It explains in the clearest possible way during the unfolding of a little romance what money really is, and sets forth the merits and demerits of different kinds of investments, such as Mortgages, Notes, Stocks, Bonds and Debentures. Being issued by a firm of such standing as Emilius Jarvis & Co., the book and the sentiments expressed therein may safely be accepted by the investor as a guide to the employment of his funds.

THERE are many friends of Percy J. Cantwell in this city, who will read with interest, the following from a Providence, R. I., newspaper: "Providence Typographical Union, No. 33, held the largest meeting in its history yesterday afternoon at the Labor Temple, Washington and Matheson streets. The occasion was the annual election of officers, which marked the close of one of the most exciting and hardest fought contests for office in a labor union in years. Over 150 members were in attendance. The result was the election of Percy J. Cantwell of the Whitney Press as President, the re-election of Charles Carroll as Financial Secretary and the re-election of the same executive committee which has served the union during the past year." Mr. Cantwell learned his trade in this city and has not been away many years. His brother Bert, is in partnership with Geo. V. Moore of this city.

The ad which appears correctly today should be read by all housekeepers.

A DIRECT instance of the excessive winter freight rates is offered in the case of two packages of machinery sent to the Guardian from Halifax a few days ago. The charges on arrival here amounted to $8.44. On writing to the firm from which the goods were ordered the following reply was received: "Surely there must be some mistake in the amount of the freight you paid on the two packages, $8.44. All we paid on the whole outfit, 3 packages, from Columbus, Ohio, was $4.90. We think there must be something wrong somewhere."
