DEMPSEY TO MEET GIBBONS IN NEW YORK?

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Jack Dempsey left Los Angeles last evening via Chicago for New York, stopping at Dempsey City, Utah, where he has coal mines. In Chicago he will visit friends and meet Jack Kearns, his manager. The two will have a conference with Eddie Kane, manager of Tom Gibbons, relative to a return match between Dempsey and Gibbons, to take place in this city about the middle of December or next spring.

Hockey And Headwork

(By George King, In "The Hockey Year Book".)

Fortunate is the young man or boy who numbers himself among the thousands of Canada's young manhood who annually play hockey on school, college, club, association or community teams. Hockey provides for the youth not only a healthy outdoor sport, but a real education. The greatest return from hockey, perhaps, is the development of individual ability. In addition to providing physical activity, the game provides wholesome mental activity when played under proper conditions, developing the individual's initiative, ambition, imagination, enthusiasm and self-confidence—all qualities that are essential to success in a business or profession.

In addition to the physical skill required in skating and stick-handling, speed, accuracy, endurance, strength and hardihood or ability to take bumps and bad falls without a whimper are of great value. The finished player keeps his temper, has a clear head and uses good judgment. The youngster early in his experience as a team member, learns the value of cooperation with others. In developing team play, obedience to the team captain and to officials in charge of match play.

Playing in games where the honor of the school, college, club or community is at stake, stimulates the player's ambition and should develop a sense of justice, because length of time without having consideration for the superior ability or weakness of one's opponents. As a member of a successful group the hockey player early learns "esprit de corps," how to sacrifice individual honors for the sake of team honors, the acquisition of knowledge of team plays—aggressive and defensive—sharpens the wits and develops the memory.

A good player must have an accurate knowledge of playing rules, although too often natural ability along this line is abused and the whole thought of the individual is given to scheming how to avoid penalties while breaking rules. The greatest educational values of hockey may be realized by teaching the youth of the land to keep busy with legitimate means of winning in spite of the superior ability of the other team.

To accept defeat without wincing or grudging prepares for the stern responsibilities and competition of business. The boy or young man who experiences several seasons of competitive hockey under proper supervision and direction, will have benefited by an educational experience that is bound to serve him well in his adult vocational life and provide him with a means of healthy recreation after the days of intensive competition for him have passed.

It is hoped that as our cities increase in population the public facilities for hockey will not decrease, but increase in greater proportion to the increase of population, so that more and more of the young men of every community may reap the benefits of Canada's national winter sport.

The Hockey Year Book

The Hockey Year Book, which made its first appearance to-day, is a credit to the game and to publisher George King, 84 Victoria Street, Toronto. The book represents months of efforts. Typographical and pictorially, it is a masterpiece. From cover to cover it is embellished with group photographs of champion teams, including the pioneers in the game; in fact, the history of Canada's great winter pastime is told in pictures. Old-timers will be interested in the handsome halftones of the teams, who were prominent a generation ago, while the younger enthusiasts will enjoy the reproductions of the more recent winners. The book is not only lavishly illustrated, but is literally crammed with much interesting information regarding individuals, clubs and leagues throughout the country. This book we think is one of the best ever gotten up. It gives clear and intelligent facts in reference to the champions illustrated therein, therefore the work and time spent in getting this interesting "Book" compiled must have been great and its publisher George King is to be highly commended. Sport Ed.

The picture of the Abegweits A. A. A. championship hockey team, Maritime champions in 1923 is included in the year book.

One of the best features of our present day is the intelligent attention given to play and to all forms of outdoor sports and amusements. All work and no play is just as bad as all play and no work and play in proper proportions is the solution of a healthy and happy life. In athletics there may be excesses as in other occupations, but no one doubts that the general tendency is wholesome, making for physical, intellectual and moral improvement. It is not amiss to mention that hockey, the great Canadian national winter pastime, holds a foremost rank in developing these characteristics. The man who wins the world's honors today must not be overtaxed, either mentally or physically; not hollow-chested, convex in back, lax in nait and flabby in muscle. Every young person whose ambition is to make his life count for something in the future must first build up a strong, healthy body. All wholesome play and frolic, instead of being time wasted, is health stored up. We never get too old for play, and play is one of the best tonics in the world.

Pros and Amateurs

Fans in this city will be interested in an amendment to the rule of the Amateur Athletic Union, which is to be proposed at the annual meeting in Detroit next Monday. It is said that delegates from Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland will present an amendment whereby a professional in one sport may participate as an amateur in another. This is a matter which should be given consideration not only in the States, but in Canada as well. If an athlete shows exceptional talent in one line of sport it does not follow that he will be a star in another and an argument is advanced that it is hardly fair to prohibit him from participating in all branches. For instance an athlete may be a professional ball player and because of this is prohibited from playing basketball, hockey or football after the close of the baseball season. Only those who have a real love for sport ever develop sufficient proficiency to secure a remuneration for their services and many a professional would welcome a chance to enjoy other lines of pastimes for the love of the sport as well as for the relaxation and healthful exercise made possible. Many people are bitterly opposed to professionals and will not listen to any arguments advanced in their favor for this reason it is safe to assume that the proposed change will be strongly opposed. However, because an athlete received money for his services in one line of sport it seems hardly fair that he should be permanently barred for all others.

CH'TOWN BOWLING ALLEYS

There certainly was some good bowling on the alleys last night, when the Sailors vs. Hickey & Nicholsons' team, the Stars vs. Rovers and the Parrots vs. Snow-Birds lined up.

Well, Hickey & Nicholsons' team certainly had the right "twist" when they put the Sailors under water by 165 pins. As each team has won a game it will be necessary to settle the argument.

The Parrots vs. the Snow-Birds was a good game for the little practice they have had, and they are going to go after some of the Senior teams. The Snow Birds won their game by 341 pins.

The Stars put it over the Rovers after a hard fought game; they won out by 34 pins.

Send a donation of $1.20 to join in the great

Poster-Judging Competition organized for the benefit of the Veterans' Associations—

To help solve the financial problems of the Veterans' Associations this Poster-Judging Campaign is being actively pushed throughout Canada.

It provides a game requiring skill, taste and judgment, one in which all the family can join. BOVRIL LIMITED has given $30,000 (about $138,888), and this provides 2,003 prizes of varying value. The first three are approximately as follows:

- 1st Prize . . . $55,555
- 2nd Prize . . . 13,888
- 3rd Prize . . . 4,555

Every donor of $1.20 is presented a Ticket-folder on which are printed in full colors sixteen famous Bovril Posters.

Which are the 12 best, in order of merit, is what you must decide. The folder shows just how to do it.

It is a fascinating trial of taste and judgment to class these posters in the order which popular fancy will endorse. It is a real game which can be played over and over again, and in which young and old can join and which will interest visitors.

And just think of the possible reward? A Prize which is a real fortune—and you help an excellent cause.

You can make as many trials as you like—a ticket-folder is sent for each donation of $1.20, thus donors of 12.00 would be presented with ten ticket-folders—though only one prize will be given to one person.

IMPORTANT—Donations should be made to any of the following organizations or their branches which are actively interested and ask your help:

- Veterans' Association of Great Britain . . . 2725 Park Ave., Montreal
- Great War Veterans' Association . . . Citizen Building, Ottawa
- Army and Navy Veterans in Canada . . . 121 Bishop Street, Montreal
- Imperial Veterans in Canada . . . 700 Main Street, Winaipeg
- Grand Army of United Veterans . . . 19 Gerrard Street, Toronto
