FRIDAY MORNING OCTOBER 5, 1906.

OMITTED FROM THE PRIZELIST.

There are many prizes large and small to be given for live stock at the coming Exhibition, and yet one large class, of which Charlottetown has many pure-bred specimens have been wholly omitted from the prize lists. We refer to animals of the species Corvus Lameris. As is well known these creatures are objects of interest in several ways, partly from some points of resemblance to the Genus Homo. They may be described as ruminating bipeds, gregarious and nocturnal in their habits. They congregate in numbers of from five to twenty at the confluence of almost any two streets where they profusely irrigate and ornament the sidewalk night after night.

They are usually most numerous on the corners around Queen Square and may be traced by their spoor all over the town. Perhaps there are no places where they may more certainly be found than on the corners of Grafton and Great George, or of Queen and Great George streets. Here an excellent opportunity can be found to study their amusing and dainty habits, on almost any fine evening. It may be remarked in passing that the members of the tribe appear to attain their maturity at an age of from fifteen to twenty years at which latter age some specimens reach a height that equals the full-grown gorilla.

There really ought to be a herd of these creatures collected for display at the approaching Exhibition. It would exceed even the trained lions as a drawing card and would easily distance anything that St. John or Halifax would possibly enter in competition. Even if the prize list is closed, the opportunity should be given to make the entry in a special class. And besides, the display would have a considerable scientific interest, especially in throwing light on the Darwinian theory and giving a strong clew as to the probable habitat of the much-sought "missing link."

It seems remarkable, when one comes to think of it, that some member of the Natural History Society has not yet prepared a paper to be read before that learned body on these strange objects in our midst, with one or two living specimens for illustration. Also that our enterprising taxidermists have not long since procured a few subjects for preservation in a case among other interesting collections of our Island fauna. This is the more remarkable as there is no close season for this kind of game and therefore no danger of interference by the alert officials of the Fish and Game Association. We trust that at least the Exhibition Directors will act promptly on our suggestion, whatever the learned societies and bird and animal stuffers may do. It has been suggested that the police might assist in collecting the exhibits during spare hours.

The Ottawa correspondents have a way of arousing our interest in some item of news and then dropping it. Some weeks ago it was given out that Lord Grey had been painfully injured by the explosion of an electric lamp, endangering the loss of his sight. We would be glad to learn of his complete recovery, but the anxious public has been left in doubt.

THE LONDON CONSPIRACY.

In the criminal prosecution for bribery and conspiracy in the London, Ontario by-election at which Hon. C. S. Hyman, Minister of Public Works was elected, various witnesses have testified that a Deputy Returning Officer, acting under instructions from some one, so folded the ballot papers that the position of the cross marked by the voters could be seen; that persons representing the Liberal candidate thus became aware of how many electors voted; that money had been placed in envelopes, $10 in each, before the election, each envelope being marked with a voter's name, and placed in the hands of some third party, mutually chosen, the voter being shown the money and told that he would get the money if he voted right; and in various instances voters for Mr. Hyman afterwards got the envelope and the money, while those who had voted for Mr. Gray, the Opposition candidate, on applying for the envelopes bearing their names were refused. No comment seems to be necessary to show the nature of these transactions.

Hon. Mr. Hyman in an interview with the Toronto News was asked, "If the charges are proven will you deem it your duty to resign?" He replied, "That is a question I cannot now answer. I may be guided by developments and precedents. Frankly I know nothing about any such wrongdoing as is alleged and I certainly feel inclined to discredit it."

The prosecution is under the direction of the Attorney General of Ontario. Premier Whitney on being interviewed by the Toronto News said in part, "I can tell you that whoever is playing fast and loose in these matters the government is not... Whatever the result, and no matter who is helped or who is hurt it is the department's intention to probe the matter to the bottom." And certainly the probing process is revealing some extraordinary things. The defence has yet to be heard, however.

Already the luscious smelt are being taken in Boston harbor and along the New England coast. Our season comes later.

Attention is drawn to the fact that Canada is a considerable producer of native wine, by the burning of a large wine-factory at Barnstable, Ont., in which it is reported that $100,000 worth of the juice of Canadian grapes was destroyed.

EDITOR'S MAIL.

REPLY TO MR. BIRCH.

SIR,—I notice in your issue of today a letter over the signature of James E. Birch which certainly surprises me. Some time ago the matter of the trains west was called to my notice by letter from two intending exhibitors. I at once wrote them that we were then negotiating with the railway in the matter and hoped to have arrangements made so that exhibitors from the west would not have to leave home with their stock before Monday morning.

We did succeed in getting arrangements made so that exhibitors could bring their live stock, from Tignish, if necessary on Monday morning and have them here on the arrival of the morning train from the west.

Mr. Birch should read the rules more carefully before he comes out in print. In no place in the prize list will he find it stated that an animal must be on the grounds by 10 a. m. on Monday. If he will turn to page 15, rule 23 of the list he will find that they need not be on the grounds till 2 p. m. and under the old train arrangements all except those west of Summerside could have got here in ample time.

About five days before the close of the entries, arrangements were made so that live stock can leave the west on Monday morning and reach here in ample time and as soon as I knew of it I at once wrote to those who had written me on the matter and also put a notice to that effect in every paper.

I cannot understand why Mr. Birch should at the last moment come out with his letter, but at any rate he should be careful when he does so that he has the facts before him.

I think, Mr. Birch's letter to the contrary notwithstanding, that every intending exhibitor in West Prince knew of the train arrangements, at any rate I did all in my power to bring it to their notice.

Yours &c., U. R. SMALLWOOD, Exhibition Secretary.

Nothing to Fear.

The question of injurious substances in medicines which has been agitating the minds of many people, does not concern those who use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy; Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give it to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a world wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup and can always be relied upon. For sale by all druggists.

EXCLUSIVE STYLES

The persistent argument of this business is style and novelty, with more exclusive things at our disposal than anywhere else within our reach. That does not mean extravagant prices on fancy profits. Large trade means large deserving. Success doesn't come by chance.
