MOOSE BECAME TROUBLESOME

MONCTON, N.B., Sept. 9.—About 5.30 o'clock Saturday morning, the men working about the west end of the I. C. R. yard found it necessary to leave their various occupations and turn out with rocks and clubs to repel an invasion of moose, which threatened for a time to tie up shunting operations in the yard. It appears that a bull and cow moose had in some way managed to stray into the yard, and had wandered up as far as the coal-chute before they were discovered by a couple of car inspectors.

The arrival of the monarchs of the forest was hailed with delight by the yard men, one of whom remarked that they were probably on their honeymoon and had decided to travel by the moose road intercolonial. However, when the unwieldy animals began to lumber about in the way of the shunters they speedily became nuisances, and the happy couple, were, as above stated, showered with everything movable as a hint to proceed on their journey. Their hides must have been rather thick, though, or ballast made little impression and it was not until someone threw an old coupling-pin which took his foothold on the flank, that they departed at a clumsy trot.

Later in the morning a man going to work at the new shops saw a pair of moose near the new yard. These may have been the ones which were earlier chased out of the lower yard. If this continues, local hunters will soon have no need to go to the Canadian woods. They can simply spread their blankets on box cars in the west end and take their pick of the same which rambles up the track in the early dawn.

ATOMIC WEIGHT OF A TOOTHACHE.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Among the pill critics of the address of President Schaefer, of the British Association for the advancement of Science, on the origin of life, a sermon by Father Widdowson, a Jesuit priest, at the Roman Catholic Cathedral at Dundee, is noteworthy. Father Widdowson is a native of Edinburgh, and is himself a scientist of repute.

It was not the scientist, said Father Widdowson, who harmed religion but the scientist in science and the socialist in theology, who harmed religion, and who were the bane of real progress in both. After pointing out how popular fancy, even in the able minds of scientists themselves, was often led by the startling marvelous activities demonstrated in laboratories to imagine that atoms were working alone, independently of the Creator, Father Widdowson said Prof. Schaefer's theories showed the blindest dead materialism. He added sarcastically, that they might soon look for the atomic weight of a toothache or a vision of the chemical composition of a sneeze. Prof. Schaefer, he said, had already given them the chemical composition of death. It ought now to be this (Father Widdowson's) duty to give that of the eternal damnation in the terms of electrons.

WOMAN HOLDS OFF 12 JAIL BREAKERS.

OCILLA, Ga., Sept. 11.—Sheriff W. A. Tucker and his wife stood off a dozen negro jail breaking prisoners this morning at dawn, wounding four of them and succeeded in driving all but one back to their cells. This one, held for a misdemeanor, made his escape. He is supposed to be wounded.

The Sheriff was aroused by the baying of a pointer dog in the yard. When he reached the yard all the prisoners were huddled at the gate, when they were trying to force. The prisoners showed fight, and the Sheriff opened fire.

The Sheriff's wife came boldly to his assistance, waving a revolver with accuracy and effect. Without other aid the Sheriff marshalled the prisoners and marched them back to their cells. The prisoners used an iron pipe to pry off the bolt from the outside door. They passed out through the roof, and reached the ground by knotting several blankets together and suspending them from the roof. Neither the Sheriff nor his wife was injured in the encounter.

WOMAN REFUSES TO LEAVE YACHT.

NEW YORK, Sep. 11.—Mrs. Robert Goelet is reported to be dying aboard her yacht, the Nahma, the largest and most luxurious yacht in the world. Since an operation for cancer was performed a little more than a year ago, Mrs. Goelet has steadily declined in health. The yacht is off Southampton, Eng.

Word has been sent out by the staff of physicians who have been ministering to Mrs. Goelet for the last few months that it is only a question of days before the end. The doomed woman has refused to leave the yacht since she realized that her malady was mortal. Her husband, Robert Goelet, died aboard the Nahma in the Bay of Naples on April 27, 1890. Mr. Goelet had built the million dollar yacht only two years before. Beatrice Goelet, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goelet, died in this city in February, 1902. She was seventeen years old. Her entire share of the vast Goelet fortune went to her brother, Robert, who is now one of the richest bachelors in the world. Under her husband's will Mrs. Goelet received the yacht, Nahma, outright and the use of the Goelet homes in this city, Tuxedo, and Newport for life, also an income of $200,000 a year.

Of course in his life time, Mr. Goelet had made large gifts to his wife. The income of $200,000 a year would generously keep the Nahma in commission and pay for the entertaining of royalty. It is estimated that the running expenses of the Nahma when in commission amounted to at least $15,000 a month. It has been Mrs. Goelet's custom for the last decade to live aboard her yacht at least nine months of the year. Her entertainments have been noteworthy for exclusiveness and elegance rather than sumptuousness.

Wm. Hogg, Charlottetown, was a passenger on the express last night returning from Summerside.

ROCKFELLER A "SETTLER"

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 9.—John D. Rockefeller was an old settler today and his brief appearance at the meeting of the Old Settlers' Association caused such excitement that the business end of the session was forgotten.

In the past Mr. Rockefeller has refrained from meeting the old settlers but today after the meeting had been under way an hour he came in by the side door and took a seat far in the rear. Finally someone noticed him and called on him to speak. I feel it a great honor, he said, to be numbered among the old settlers.

SOME FACTS.

In 1891 The Morning Daily Guardian was established, and is still issued each morning with the latest local and foreign news, including the Canadian Press and a special telegraphic service.

In 1887 The Weekly Guardian was established, but its issue proved too infrequent for readers as the Province advanced, and from time to time was changed, first to a Semi-Weekly, then to a Tri-Weekly, and later to a Rural Daily, so that for years The Guardian has issued two dailies, as at present—one in the morning as a Morning Daily, and the other in the afternoon as a Rural Daily. As the name of the latter was never sufficiently clear as to what it implied and always required much explanation, it was in May last changed to Evening Daily, and continued as an afternoon paper.

For some time past the management has felt that Prince Edward Island is justly entitled to a twenty-four hour telegraphic news service, as enjoyed by the other Provinces of Canada, rather than the night wire service only, as up to June 30th last supplied by The Morning Guardian and afterwards printed in The Evening Guardian. Accordingly a representative visited St. John's, N.S., arranged for a Canadian Press day service, which is appreciated by the general public.

It is thus to The Guardian that the people of Prince Edward Island are indebted, first for a night Canadian Press service and now for the day Canadian Press and Special Telegraphic news published since July 1st and thus enjoyed by its readers. The friends of both The Morning Guardian and The Evening Guardian are quite expressive of their appreciation that their favorite paper contains the latest day and night, as well as night and day, Canadian Press and Special Telegraphic and local news, and thus a complete twenty-four hour service. Advertisers are also more than pleased with the rapid increase of fully two thousand readers already in The Evening Guardian's circulation, as well as several hundred for The Morning Daily. The Guardian ever realizes its obligation to furnish its readers with the latest and best news service obtainable, and to give to its advertisers the largest and most valuable circulation possible. The Guardian is now put issuing two dailies, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon, as it has been doing for years, but since July first its afternoon paper contains its own day's news in addition to that of The Morning Guardian, or in other words, the news of the twenty-four hours immediately before it goes to press. The Morning Guardian occupies a similar position.
