

$15,000 NOW FOR FUR COAT And the Richest Furs Come To London From P. E. Island.

(Special to Boston Herald) LONDON, January 27.—According to London furriers the most expensive furs now on the market are pelts of black and silver foxes from Prince Edward Island.

A single pelt of the black fox fetches from $750 to $1,750, and for a woman's coat at least four pelts are necessary.

Harrison Watson, the official agent for Prince Edward Island, states that he himself was sceptical when he heard of the fabulous prices commanded by fox pelts in the open market.

Inquiries among the furriers of the west end show that recent purchasers of fur coats, ranging from £1,100 ($5,000) to £3,000 ($15,000) included five members of Parliament, eight peers, eleven bankers and three actresses.

Last night at the League of the Cross Bowling Alleys, Charlottetown, the Patch Foxes secured a victory over the Blue Foxes with a majority of 108 points.

The Red and Silver Grey Foxes meet to-night. Every member of the Senior and Intermediate leagues are requested to be at the alleys after the game.

PEACE CONFERENCE ABANDONED

(Canadian Press) LONDON, Jan. 29.—Peace negotiations to admit a deadlock over the cessation of Adrianople on January 6th was finally broken off today by a note from the plenipotentiaries of the Balkan nations presented to Reshad Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation.

The present failure of the diplomatic conference is only an obstacle, however, for it will leave four representatives in London to undertake the settlement anew.

Rehad Pasha, after receiving the note, said the consequences may be of the gravest nature. The responsibility lies not alone with the Allies but with the Powers who encouraged the Balkan states and have shown no fairness toward Turkey.
