Double Drowning Tragedy At S' Side

Prime Minister Speaks In Province

Addressed Large Audiences At Summerside And Charlottetown On Saturday.

(Canadian Press)
CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., June 22.—To a general discussion of the major campaign issues, Premier Mackenzie King yesterday added certain features of particular interest to the Maritime Provinces. The Prime Minister addressed two meetings in this little island province, the first at Summerside in the afternoon and the second in the capital city of Charlottetown Saturday night. At each place he spoke to large audiences. Both meetings were held in theatres, but the use of broadcasting apparatus made it possible for thousands who were not actually present to hear the words of the Prime Minister.

Summerside, where Mr. King spoke first, is situated in the county of Prince, and it was this constituency which first elected the Prime Minister to parliament after he was chosen to lead the Liberal forces in Canada. This fact was commented on by Mr. King. His visit, he said, was in the nature of a homecoming, and he thanked his audience for inviting him to come and represent them when he was a young and untried political leader.

On the platform with the Prime Minister, at both meetings, was seated one of the newest members of Mr. King's Cabinet—Dr. Cyrus Macmillan, recently appointed Minister of Fisheries—who also spoke briefly. Mr. King took the opportunity to welcome Dr. Macmillan, and to declare that he considered his joining the Government a real acquisition. Conspicuous on the platform at Summerside was Premier W. M. Lee, who recently succeeded to this post in Prince Edward Island. Hon. J. E. Stuchart, now a member of the Senate but formerly one of the representatives of Queens, and Mr. A. E. McLean, ex-member for Prince constituency were also present. Torrid weather did not deter a large crowd from assembling and listening to all that the Prime Minister had to say.

CHARLOTTETOWN ADDRESS

Mr. D. J. Riley, president of the Queen's County Liberal Association, presided Saturday night at the mass meeting at the Strand Theatre. The preliminary speeches of Mr. R. H. Jenkins and Dr. Cyrus Macmillan of McGill, the Liberal candidates for the county, were very short. The Prime Minister expressed pleasure at being again in Prince Edward Island, which was full of the happiest memories for him from the association he had with it for a time as a federal representative of Prince County. He would always look back with deep gratitude to the people here who offered him the candidacy by which he came back into Parliament as leader of the Liberal party in Canada. That was eleven years ago. "They say that absence makes the heart grow fonder," he remarked. "I certainly have felt today as though I were coming home again to the Island which, as I say, was the one that received me so cordially and gave me such a good welcome and such a splendid start at the beginning of very responsible duties."

The Premier expressed gratitude for the support he had received from the Liberal members in Queens County. He congratulated Hon. Mr. Sinclair on receiving a Senatorship and the Province on having such a representative in the Senate. Mr. King particularly thanked Mr. Jenkins "for his great loyalty and great chivalry in matters that have sometimes been rather difficult to solve." He cited the appointment of a Minister of Fisheries, Dr. Cyrus Macmillan was highly qualified for the position but he, Premier King, considered that Mr. Jenkins was himself as well qualified. If one had only to consider the constituencies and not some of the intricate problems the Government has to face, he added, the choosing of Cabinet ministers would be an easier matter. In arranging the present tour Mr. King said he had insisted on having one day to himself on Prince Edward Island, preferably Sunday, so that he could go to church in the morning and go for a "swim" in the afternoon, or at least have some time to himself.

The Premier welcomed the opportunity which a general election campaign presented of seeing so much of Canada. "The great problem of government," he added, "is how the Dominion can be kept united, can be made prosperous and held within this great orbit of nations which go to make up the British Commonwealth."

Three Main Issues

The three main issues of the present election, the Prime Minister insisted, were:

- (1) The record of the Government.
- (2) The Dunning budget.
- (3) The Imperial and economic conferences at London this fall and the representatives Canada will send to those conferences.

So far as the Government's record was concerned, Premier King asked his hearers to consider the depressed conditions of business when he assumed office. The whole business of the war had been carried on with borrowed money. Moreover, during the six year period of war and demobilization the then Government did not raise enough money to make revenue and expenditure meet. They added $147,000,000 to the debt with the result that when the Liberals came into power the Canadian dollar was no longer at par, but was worth only about 85 cents. What made the credit of the country so bad was that year after year, instead of balancing the accounts, they had all been allowed to go on the wrong side. "We got to the point where there was nothing but more and more debt, notwithstanding this great burden of the war which hung like a vast mortgage on the country."

The Liberal Government started in to see if they could not balance the accounts. To do that they had to levy a little more taxation. Inside of two years they were able to balance receipts and expenditures and to show a surplus of something like $34,000,000; and from that time to this we have had surpluses instead of deficits in the public accounts of the country every year. The total amount of surpluses in the past seven and a half years is larger than the total surpluses of any other equal period in our parliamentary history. Also, the Government wiped out $270,000,000 debt in the last eight and a half years, and in late years have reduced the taxes. Taxation reduction was started immediately they got the accounts to balance. There have been reductions in Income Tax and sales tax, wiping out of "nuisance" taxes with the exception of the tax on cheques of over $10.00 in amount, reduction of postage from three to two cents, etc.

Income Tax

The relief caused by reduction of income tax would average about $25,000,000 a year for the last five years. In other words, the Government had made a saving of $120,000,000 of taxation in that period.

Premier King Only Making Bad Matter Worse

HON. R. B. BENNETT REFERS TO KING'S FAMOUS "FIVE CENT PIECE" SPEECH AND SAYS EXPLANATIONS ONLY MAKE IT A HUNDRED TIMES BLACKER.

SASKATOON, Sask., June 20.—For the first time in his tour of the west, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, referred here last night to the now famous five cent speech of Premier Mackenzie King during the course of a debate on unemployment in the House of Commons.

"Now," said Mr. Bennett, "the Prime Minister is making his first grave offence a hundred times blacker by offering explanations falsified by the record of Hansard. That, the people of Canada, will never forget or forgive in a prime minister."

Mr. King had offered another apology for his "five-cent speech" at Peterboro on Wednesday night, "but" said the Conservative leader, "why doesn't he stand up and admit frankly he was wrong. Then some of you perhaps, might forget it and forgive him. Now he is only making times blacker."

Making the sixth speech of an campaign which has taken him from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast, Mr. Bennett before a large audience here urged Mr. King to keep the election campaign "clean and straight" upon the issue before the Canadian electorate.

Which Is Which?

Addressing a Charlottetown audience Saturday night, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, in discussing subsidy payments to the Maritime Provinces stated positively that after the interim grants recommended by the Duncan Commission had been given and before the claims of the Western Provinces were settled, the former Prime Minister of this Province, Mr. Saunders, had approached Mr. Mackenzie King and the late Mr. Robb on two or three occasions, asking for a financial settlement there and then. He (Premier King) had advised Mr. Saunders on those occasions not to press the Gov-

Another Gangster Falls Victim Of Chicago Enemies

CHICAGO, June 22.—Gangland cut loose today with murder, burglary and robbery while the re-organized police department was preparing to carry out orders "to drive all crooks from Chicago."

Lorenzo Juliano, powerful alcohol ally of "Scarface Al" Capone, was found dead in an automobile which his assailants had tried but failed to push into water-filled quarry. One robber was killed by police, another was wounded and one unfortunate policeman got robbed himself when approached too close to a pair of bandits holding up a pedestrian.

Meanwhile "Iron Man" John Alcock, new police chief, was in the midst of shaking up the department thoroughly. A consolidated bureau also was established especially to investigate the assassination last week of Alfred Lingle, veteran Chicago Tribune reporter.

One bullet passed through Juliano's head, another through his back. His body had been placed behind the steering wheel of the car which teetered on the edge of the quarry pond when nearby factory workers discovered it.

HIS SURPRISE

A second bandit was shot by Patrolman Martin Cavanaugh, whom he had attempted to hold up. When the robber said, "Hands up," Cavanaugh replied with bullets. The bandit escaped despite his wounds.

Another patrolman, Patrick Duggan saw three men engaged in what he thought was a holdup. The three saw him coming, forced him to raise his hands and took his gun away from him.

"That's the way we handle noisy policemen," said one of them. Chief Alcock announced that he was inaugurating military discipline for the members of his force, many of whom were put to pounding beats after doing nothing worthy of note in the detective bureau for the last several years.

"The police department is in a fight with its back to the wall," he said, "and I predict it will win, but first we must restore discipline."

The special Lingle bureau was established in a Loop skyscraper under direction of Charles Rathburn, assistant and state's attorney. He said the bureau would attempt for the first time to co-ordinate all the city's law enforcement agencies in their investigation of the reporter's death.

Sad Drowning On Sunday Afternoon

Two Boys, Ira And Reggie Arsenault, Aged 7 And 9 Years, Lose Their Lives While Bathing Near Summerside Rifle Range.

A sad drowning occurred on Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock at the shore at the western end of Summerside near the rifle range. Several children were bathing on the sand bars. Two children, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arsenault, were among them. The two boys, Ira and Reggie, 7 and 9 years of age respectively, tried to cross between the sand bars where the tide coming in, the water was deeper than they expected and they got out of their depth. The other children were further in and inside the bar. The two boys could not swim and went under. When the other children missed them they ran to the shore. The father and mother were on the shore and several other people. The father and another man waded out to the spot where the children were floating on the water and brought them ashore. In the meantime Leonard Fitzpatrick ran to Capt. Grady's store about three quarters of a mile away and phoned for a Summerside doctor who came immediately and went out to the spot where they had laid the boys on the bank. He worked over them for about half an hour but he expressed the opinion that they had been dead about twenty minutes before he arrived.

The bodies of the little victims were taken to their home. There are left to mourn, besides the sorrowing parents, one small brother, to whom the deepest sympathy of the community is extended. The funeral is taking place this morning from the home to St. Paul Church and cemetery. About thirty years ago some children were drowned at that same spot and Capt. Grady assisted in bringing them ashore. The spot is very unsafe for bathing especially for children as the water is very deep between the sand bars.
