Other Study Clubs met under the direction of Mrs. Marie Gallant. Mrs. Daniel Kelly, Mrs. Matthew Mahar, Mrs. Stephen Trainor and Mrs. Emily Murphy, but I have not had complete reports from them.

I am sure that you will all agree that the work done in this connection is excellent and that a great many members took part in Study Clubs. We would like to see even more study club groups and hope that next year every member will take an active part.

The work done by some of our Study Clubs of the Red Cross is really wonderful and these members are to be congratulated for their splendid contributions to war work.

It was my intention to visit every one of these study groups, but owing to unforeseen circumstances, I was unable to do so.

Respectfully submitted, Letitia M. MacMillan, Convener of Study Clubs.

IMMANUEL (Phillip saith unto him, Lord show us the Father, and it sufficeth us.)

The lightning flash, the thunders of heaven, the blizzards and roar, the tempest sweeps across the land from stormy shore to shore. The sun in heaven melts his face, the clouds of heaven lower, and Nature's forces vie to show their devastating power.

I think of how our ancient sires the face of Nature viewed, And deemed they saw in awful sights

His Author's mind and mood, I think of how the nations yearned Yet doubting feared to see The God of quaking earth and sky, And stormy wind, and sea;

The God who thundered from the peak Of Sinai's blazing hill The law of holiness to man, That man could not fulfill; The law that showed the way of life To Israel's chosen race, A law to be fulfilled alone By God's redeeming grace.

And thus it was, men did not know Nor were they prone to find God's presence in His only Son So gentle, good, and kind; Who came to do the Father's will, His message to declare, And illustrate to anxious men A Father's love and care.

He stood beside them on the ship On stormy Galilee, He bade their anxious fears to cease And stilled the stormy sea, And lo, the message of the Son The Faithful and the True: Behold the man who seeketh me, He sees the Father, too.

M. McKenzie Charlottetown P.E.I. Easter 1941.

HEADS "BLITZ" DOCTORS

Canada's newest and most exciting army unit is now being organized in Toronto. Its members will do no fighting and carry no guns, but they'll see all the action that's going and then some. Officially they call it the 7th Light Field Ambulance, but in army slang they're the "blitz doctors."

Attached to the 1st Canadian Armored Division, their job is to ride along with the tanks and armored trucks and motorcycles, handling the wounded as they go, clearing them out to the rear. To head this thunderbolt of medical action the army has chosen its youngest R.C.A.M.F. lieutenant-colonel, He is Lieutenant-Colonel M. C. Watson.

Red Cross aids for new Canteen At Halifax

TORONTO, April 13.—(CP)—N. Somerville, chairman of the central council of the Canadian Red Cross Society, announced tonight the organization is contributing $20,000 towards the erection of a new $30,000 canteen and recreation building for sailors at Halifax.

The building will be erected just outside the city on property provided by the naval command. It will be operated by the North End Services Canteen Association, made up almost entirely of naval officers' wives who have been running the canteen in a former church hall since the outbreak of war.

The new project will have a large auditorium with a stage for concerts which can also be converted into a hall for entertainments and dancing. Games, reading and writing facilities and a canteen will also be included.

The Red Cross donation was made at the request of Col. E. A. Deacon, director of auxiliary services for the defence department, and has the endorsement of Rear Admiral Percy W. Nelles, chief of naval staff.

Port of Piraeus Bombed, Athens Radio reports

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—The port of Piraeus, Athens' outlet to the sea, and several other Greek ports have been bombed during the last few days, the Athens radio said in broadcasts heard here tonight.

Two German planes were shot down during the raids, said a summary of fighting since Sunday's invasion of Greece by the Germans. This broadcast was heard by NBC. The Germans also were said to be bombarding Greece with propaganda leaflets urging the Greeks to hand their arms over to German soldiers.

This, the radio said, was termed an insult which made the Greeks more indignant. At Piraeus, of greater importance since the fall of Salonika, the Germans sowed magnetic mines in the harbor, said a Ministry of Home Security broadcast recorded by the C.B.E.

A Yugoslav legation announcement over the Athens radio, heard by NBC, said that Yugoslav troops continuing their drive south of the occupied city of Soutari in northern Albania had crossed the Drin River.

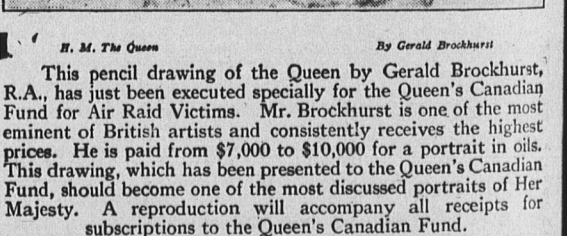

The German air force heavily bombed the Yugoslav cities of Kraljevo, Kraljevo, Arska and Sjenica, the Yugoslavs said. The Athens radio's military review recorded by CBS said more than 400,000 perfectly organized Italians await the arrival in Albania of German forces thrusting across the waist of Yugoslavia.

"The Italians did not send patrols out yesterday," the review continued, "but continued to dig trenches and place barbed-wire entanglements before their lines." The radio said it now had been ascertained that 600 Italian prisoners, including 21 officers, had been captured in Monday's skirmishes.

NEWEST PORTRAIT OF THE QUEEN

H. M. The Queen By Gerald Brockhurst

This pencil drawing of the Queen by Gerald Brockhurst, R.A., has just been executed specially for the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims. Mr. Brockhurst is one of the most eminent of British artists and consistently receives the highest prices. He is paid from $7,000 to $10,000 for a portrait in oils. This drawing, which has been presented to the Queen's Canadian Fund, should become one of the most discussed portraits of Her Majesty. A reproduction will accompany all receipts for subscriptions to the Queen's Canadian Fund.

"MAN IN THE STREET" GIVES AID TO BRITAIN

PRECIPITATION EXPRESSED IN MESSAGE TO QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND. The spontaneous help that has been given by individual Canadians to the British people is highly praised by Viscount Cranborne, Dominion Secretary, in a message cabled from London.

Lord Cranborne sent this message to the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims, which has just opened its appeal. He called as follows: "The creation of the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims in support of the Lord Mayor of London's Fund is yet another proof of the close bond of affection which exists between the people of Canada and the people of this country—a bond of family which brings each to the other's aid in times of trouble or distress.

"Canada is sending the flower of her youth for the fight; she is turning her industrial plant to the requirements of war; she is pooling with the nations of the British Commonwealth her raw material and is directing her economic strength to the common cause. By doing so she has won the admiration of all who are opposed to the revival of ancient barbarism as manifested by the dictator countries.

"But the many spontaneous and generous gifts which have come from the Canadian man in the street to the man in the street in this country are something even more moving because of their intimacy—the intimacy of our spirituality—the intimacy which makes the physical distance that divides us as nothing. Although you may not have been called on to suffer night-long vigils and hear the drone of enemy bombers overhead and the crash of bombs, the bond is so close that you feel these things with those who have—with the men, women and children who are in the front lines of battle for freedom. You have found homes for our children, you have sent medical supplies for our sick and wounded, mobile canteens for those rendered homeless, clothing for the needy, generous contributions to the Spitfire, Hurricane and Bomber Funds to help rid the British skies of our enemies. Gifts have come from individuals and from organized bodies in a variety of spontaneous and generous gestures.

"Not content with this, you are now creating a new Fund of Canada, to help from all parts of Canada. It is sponsored by the free Press of a free people. It will symbolize the unity which exists in our Commonwealth of Nations and by its token it will have a symbolic significance for the whole civilized world."

REPORT OF C. W. L. CONVENER OF INSTITUTIONS

The following Report was submitted by the Convener of Institutions, Mrs. Stephen Trainor at the Annual Meeting of the Charlottetown Sub-division of the C. W. L. held April 3rd.

As Convener of this Committee, I am pleased to present to the Annual Meeting of this Sub-division a report of the work accomplished during the term April 1940 to April 1941.

This particular activity of our sub-division deals with the matter of providing individual Christmas gifts for the inmates of the Provincial Infirmary, and further in making donations of fruit and candy to the Sisters of the Precious Blood, the Sacred Heart Home and through the Sisters in charge of the Social Service Work.

The spiritual side is also remembered and religious articles supplied where needed. A courteous reception was given your Convener on approaching the charitable donors and their whose contributions made it possible to provide our Annual Christmas Boxes.

Thanks are due P. Healy and Nicholson and B. and D. J. Bligh for tobacco, Sydney Green, DeBlis Bros, Curvell Bros. for candy, Economy and Zakem Grocers for fruit. To every member of the Sub-division who contributed so generously and to the committee in charge of packing and distributing the contents of their efforts, my extended gratitude. Through their efforts, 170 boxes each containing fruit, cake and candy, were sent to the infirmary, one for each individual. A Christmas greeting card from the Charlottetown Sub-division C. W. L. was attached to each parcel. Included in the gifts too were five caskets and two two packages of tobacco. The spiritual need of the Catholic inmates were remembered at this Holy Season and two dozen of

Today's War Map

The British forces in East Africa have captured Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia, which is an important road center and the Italian military headquarters. The garrison there appears to be moving northward to join forces around Dessie with the Italian forces retreating from Asmara, the capital of Eritrea. Massawa, the principal port of Eritrea, is likely to be taken this week and Assab, the port in southern Eritrea, at a subsequent date. The remnants of the Italian forces in East Africa are not in a position to make a prolonged stand. According to one story, Ethiopian tribesmen have broken into Derra Province, northwest of Addis Ababa, which has been surprised for weeks. British forces are battling Gondar. On the map the heavy black line represents the battlefield. The shaded areas are held by the British.
