AULD—MacDONALD

Zion Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, artistically decorated with early summer flowers, was the scene of an interesting event on Saturday morning, July 1st, 1944, at 11:30 a. m., when Mildred Edna, daughter of Mrs. Allison A. Auld, of Charlottetown, formerly of Kingston, and the late Allison A. Auld, became the bride of Gordon David, son of Mrs. W. H. MacDonald, and the late W. H. MacDonald of Mermaid, P. E. Island.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. C. Webster, pastor of Zion Church, in the presence of relatives and friends.

Mrs. E. C. Johnstone of Charlottetown, beautifully rendered the "Nuptial Music", and also accompanied the soloist, Miss Norene E. Auld, sister of the bride, who, during the signing of the register, sang very sweetly, "I'll Walk Beside You."

Attractively attired in her floor length wedding gown of white brocaded satin, with finger-tip veil, and carrying a shower bouquet of red roses, the bride entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Cpl. T. H. Ferris, of Moncton, N. B., who gave her in marriage. The bride's only ornament was a three-strand string of pearls, gift of the groom.

ter's only attendant, was becomingly gowned in a floor length dress of heaven blue sheer over satin with coronet of blue flowers and veil and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Blair MacDonald of Charlottetown. Messrs. John E. Cousins of Kensington and Mr. Frederick Mutch of Mermaid acted as ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Charlottetown Hotel where the bride's mother and the groom's mother assisted in receiving with the bridal party. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, and vases of pink roses provided the decorations. The toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Rev. G. C. Webster and responded to by the groom.

Later Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald left on a honeymoon trip to St. Andrews, N. B. The bride's travelling costume was a two-piece suit of rose crepe with matching hat and topcoat of white polo with white accessories.

Previous to her marriage the bride was vice-principal of Parkdale School, Charlottetown.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Hugh J. Lamont who departed this life July 1st, 1942.

Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies.
She lives in a land of glory
'Midst the blue and gled of the skies.
And we who dearly loved her,
Whose passing has brought many tears.
Will cherish her memory always,
To brighten the passing years.
It's only "good-night" dear Mother
It is just what we used to say
We will see you again in the morning
At the dawn of a beautiful day.

Ever Remembered by Her Family.

The Man Who Wasn't Himself

By Leslie Cargill

You're going to do it, Richard Joyce asked earnestly.

For good or ill, I am.

There was a man hanging about outside Fawley's house. With little traffic and few pedestrians he was not able to merge into the background.

Sunday is visibility day for guardian angels, Harknes murmured. I'm going to stagger him.

As he crossed the road the detective began to edge away until halted by a brisk call.

Sir? he exclaimed.

Did Inspector Tyrrell send you here?

I beg your pardon I don't know what you're talking about, sir.

You're a plain-clothes detective.

That's my business!

Exactly

You've no right to interfere with me like this, sir.

Probably it is somewhat unusual Can you tell me whether the inspector is on duty to-day?

Not on a Sunday.

Ah! Thanks for the admission.

Seeing you know me Mr. Chetwood, I'd rather you didn't mention this talk to my superior.

You'll not get into any trouble rest assured. I've something rather important to discus with Inspector Tyrrell

Any statement may be given at your discretion, sir. It will be reported by me in the proper way.

So you wouldn't mind publicising this encounter if I made a nice, juicy confession!

That would be different, the day I've grimed

Cable to the Inspector.

Unfortunately it can't be done

I'll be calling on him in the morning bright and early.

I hope sir, it won't be too late was the reply
