Could Not Stand Ticking of Clock

SYDNEY WOMAN SO NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN SHE ALMOST GAVE UP—RESTORED BY TANLAC

"I was so nervous and run-down that life was a burden to me but Tanlac has restored my health," said Mrs. Ronald McNeil, of 61 Ferry St., Sydney, N. S., recently. "I can't express my gratitude to Tanlac because it gave me back my health after everything else had failed," she continued.

"I had a spell of illness last spring and it left me in such a dreadful condition I was afraid I would never be my self again. I had a perfectly terrible cough and was so nervous I could not bear the ticking of a clock in the same room with me. It was almost impossible for me to get to sleep at night and the slightest noise would wake me up and I would toss about for hours without closing my eyes. I would get up feeling worse than when I retired and simply dreaded the day's housework. Every little mole-hill of work seemed like a mountain to me. My stomach troubled me a lot and was so weak I could not ever eat anything heavy, and I was so constipated I had to take a laxative four or five times a week. I tried everything in the way of medicine that I could think of but could get no better and I got so depressed that I often felt like just giving up and crying.

"My husband suggested that I try Tanlac, but I was so run-down that I took two bottles before I could tell it was doing me much good. I determined, however, to give it a fair trial and the next two bottles simply took right hold and made me over into a different woman. My appetite picked up and my strength came back almost in a single bound. My nervousness is entirely gone and I sleep like a child every night. I get up feeling fresh and strong for the days work and eat heartily three times a day without the slightest trouble. I have gained a lot in weight and feel better than I have in years.

"I believe Tanlac will keep any one after a fair trial. It certainly made a different woman out of me."

Tanlac is sold in Charlottetown by Reddin Bros., in Montague by H. J. Mabon, in Georgetown by Seymour C. Knight, in Souris by Jas. G. Ferguson, and in Kensington by Kier & McFadgen.

THE PRAYER OF A TIRED WORKER

I am tired tonight, God. Not discouraged, not overwhelmed with heavy weight of work or worry—nothing like that, God, but just tired—tired, tired.

Sometimes I think that you were made for tired people, God. Because tired people are always so wanting—yearning for love and the kind comfort of a great Mother-Father, as you always seem to be to everyone, God.

I worked hard today, God. I tried to do my work faithfully and well. I know that I did not do it perfectly, but because I am tired tonight, I am very sure that I gave of what I had, with a sincere desire back of my efforts to make all that I did do worth while.

So you will overlook where I failed, won't you, God?

I am tired. But since I tried to do my best, I feel happily tired. Grant unto me, then, O God, that I be given sleep and rest—and that the dreams I have, if they come, may be beautiful and full of pleasant pictures.

Labor Conference Very Badly Upset By Reservations

WASHINGTON, Nov 18.—Reservations to the Peace Treaty adopted by the United States senate raise new difficulties for the International Labor Conference and for the Canadian delegation in particular. One of the reservations include "labor" among the subjects which "are not to be submitted in any way either to arbitration or the consideration of the council or of the assembly of the League of Nations or any agency there of." As the matter stands, this probably precludes the possibility of the United States assenting to any convention adopted by the Internation La bor Conference, which itself is a branch of the League of Nations.

From the outset the Canadian employers' group has taken the stand that Canada should not become a party to any international convention placing restrictions on labor until the United States has first given its assent.

The general employers' group, in fact, with a view to putting the Canadian objection into effect submitted a resolution that any convention adopted to limit the course of labor shall not become effective until it receives the assent of the United States. But the special committee of the conference, which has the matter in hand, has not yet reached a decision on the point.

Canadian Labor's View.

Among the Canadian labor group, on the other hand, the view is held that Canada should work out her own "industrial salvation" without waiting for the lead of the United States. The labor men hold in addition, that economic pressure will eventually force the United States to limit the hours of labor because they say an eight hour day is more efficient than a ten hour day.

In any event, however, the senate reservation will have an important bearing on the conference business.

The conference meets in pleniary session again tomorrow afternoon, but the sitting will be brief as no committees of importance are ready to report. Caucuses and discussions during the week-end indicate the likelihood of a compromise on the forty-eight hour week. The special committee decided by a majority vote in favor of the forty-eight hour week for industrial workers as distinguished from the demand of a maximum eight-hour day. Senator Robertson suggested as a compromise a forty-eight hour week with a maximum nine-hour day in industries which have the half holiday on Saturday. The majority of the labor men, it is understood would be willing to accept the compromise providing there was no time limit after which eight hours would constitute a maximum working day.

Japan Expected.

A sub-committee considering those countries which are entitled for climatic or other, to special consideration has had the case of Japan under review. The sub-committee will recommend that Japan be excepted from the forty-eight hour week on the ground of its backward industrial development. The following will probably be the hours per week for Japanese workers: General workers, sixty hours workers in dangerous and special trades, fifty-four hours; workers under sixteen years of age, forty-eight hours per week.

Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, is representing the Canadian workers on the special committee on the forty-eight hour week.

WHISTLE A BIT

Just whistle a bit if the day be dark
And the sky be overcast:
If mute be the voice of the piping lark,
Why, pipe your own small blast.

And its wonderful how o'er the gray sky-track,
The truant warbler comes stealing back,
But why need he come? for your soul's at rest,
And the song in the heart,—ah, that is best.

—Paul Laurence Dunbar.

"Being a constant user of OXO Cubes, I send you some recipes. . . . . Now that beef is so dear I make many dinners without it with the help of OXO Cubes. Some of my friends also use OXO Cubes and find them very convenient."

"OXO Cubes are too well known to need any recommendation; besides being quickly and easily made, OXO is very refreshing, strengthening and appetising."

"My friends ask me what I feed my little girl on, and I tell them OXO. I am convinced that it is OXO Cubes she gets on so well with."

"We have found OXO Cubes a distinct saving. There was never a time when they could be used more than now, seeing the high prices of other foods."

Millions of Germs

Breed in Tooth Film—Keep It Off

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Film Wrecks the Teeth

THAT slimy film which you feel with your tongue causes most tooth troubles. The tooth brush does not end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. In crevices and elsewhere that film clings. That is why your brushing fails to keep teeth white, free from tartar, clean and safe.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So all these troubles have been increasing despite the wide use of the tooth brush.

Dental science, after years of search, has found a film combatant. Able authorities have amply proved this by careful clinical tests. Leading dentists everywhere now urge its daily use.

The method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And we offer a 10-Day Tube free now to everyone for home tests.

See the Results, Then Decide

The results of Pepsodent are quickly apparent. Some are instant. We ask you to see them—watch them ten days—then decide for yourself about them.

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The objec. of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. But science has discovered a harmless, activating method. The inventor has been granted patents by five governments already. It is that invention which makes possible this efficient film combatant.

COUNTLESS SYMPTOMS, SAY PROPHETS, SHOW WINTER TO BE MILD

What sort of winter are we going to have? Some of the old grey beards are already sniffing the wind and looking for signs and symptoms. The oldest inhabitant has never lost his prestige as a weather prophet in the community because of the establishment of weather bureaux. This is his season of the year. It comes as regular as does Indian summer and dog days. The open season for weather prediction and prophecy is upon us.

This winter is going to be a mild one. They all say so. There is not a single objector in the little band of prophets. For why?

Well, there are many indications that there will be a mild winter. There's one, however, that gives them a solid basis for argument. The gulf stream has become all feverish. Always warm, sailors arriving in port state that the gulf stream is so hot that it is almost possible to poach an egg in it. We can't have a cold winter while the gulf stream is in this condition they argue. That is the basic contention.

Then the breast bone of the fowl is of a dark color this fall. When the breast bone is white then that is a sign of snow. The whiter the more snow. There's very poor sleighing on the breast bone of the fowl this fall, so the weather prophets say, who have been fortunate enough to get a meal of which the flesh of the fowl figured.

The Sign of the Squirrel.

People are recalling other mild winters. One of the prophets say that he remembers some years ago there was an excursion by steamboat down the St. Lawrence river on New Year's Day. Another states that he remembers eating his Christmas dinner some years ago at his uncle's house, and that his uncle was ploughing on that day. A poor way to spend Christmas perhaps, but a mighty fine day for the time of year.

While none of the wiseacres expect to see excursions on the St. Lawrence on New Year's Day this year, and it is not argued that much ploughing will be done, nevertheless all agree that the winter of 1920 is going to be extremely mild. The squirrels so hunters say, are not storing up a great quantity of nuts as they do usually. The squirrels know, they claim and that these little animals do not work unnecessarily when mild weather is to be in the ascendancy. At any rate the die is cast and all the weather prophets have staked their reputations on the, statement ha this winer is going to be a mild one.

1920 IS LEAP YEAR, LENT STARTS FEB. 18, EASTER FALLS APRIL 4

With the New Year less than fifty days away interest naturally begins to quicken in the approach of 1920. Already calendars and almanacs displaying the numerals that mark the coming twelve months are to be seen in the stationary shops.

It is almost unnecessary to state that New Year's Day falls on Thursday, for every youngster in Christendom has already consulted the calendar to find out on what day Christmas will come, and has found out that the festival falls on Thursday. Grown-ups being aware that New Year's Day is just one week later, have drawn the natural conclusion.

Old Christmas, the festival this is known by the name Epiphany, the Fete des Rois, and Twelfth Night falls twelve days after Christmas on Tuesday, January 6. Lent will come in fairly early in 1920 for the social season will close with the coming of Ash Wednesday on February 18. February will produce another day of interest to the general public, and that will be Leap Year, though unfortunately the twenty-ninth does not happen to fall on a week day this time, so some of the usual merry-making will be omitted.

Easter will come early—on April 4, which will make the date of the two accompanying holidays, Good Friday and Easter Monday, fall on April 2 and 5.

Fishermen will be delighted to hear that May 24th, 1,19, will come on Monday, Thursday, and July 1, Dominion Day, school and bank holiday, will be a assured to those who want it.

The King's Birthday, June 3, a day, so a week-end in the country is will fall on the same day of the week. School children will be interested in the fact that Labor Day, the first Monday in September, will come on September 6, for the public schools in the city ordinarily re-open on the day following Labor Day.

Several Eclipses.

Thanksgiving Day is a movable feast and its date will remain undetermined until September when the Governor-General-in-Council will proclaim the date of the day set apart for general thanksgiving. If the precedent of the last few years is followed the day chosen will be a Monday in mild October.

Christmas, 1920, will fall on Saturday.

The almanac announces that there will be several eclipses both of the sun and of the moon. Two of these will be visible in Canada, a total eclipse of the moon on October 27, 1920, and a partial eclipse of the sun on November 10th

ALL PASSENGER TRAFFIC STOPS IN GERMANY

In order to save coal the entire passenger service on railways throughout Germany ceased at eleven o'clock on Friday night, and not a single passenger train will run for eleven days.

In Berlin and elsewhere people are sleeping in hotel bathrooms and in all the odd corners, where it is possible to put up a bed. Every hotel in the capital is turning away hundreds of people daily, even though they have wired days beforehand to reserve rooms. The telegraph service is something like chaotic and telephoning is almost impossible. What the result of this traffic stoppage will be to the business world can be imagined when it is combined with the chaos and confusion in other means of communication.

Added to this the greatest confusion reigns in the post office. Letters from all over the country and from abroad are weeks late in arriving. The parcel post offices are endeavoring in vain to cope with the impossible mountains of packets. In some parts of the country the parcel post has been suspended. Stations throughout the country are congested with goods, and to make matters worse canal services are almost at a standstill. The mails all have to be forwarded by goods trains.

In fact the ony travel service of which the country will be able to boast for eleven days will be the Zeppelin service running between the capital and Friedrichshafen.

Berlin's gas and electricity, supported by very small reserves of coal, are again threatened. The bulk of the people have so little light and heat that they are forced to go to bed when darkness sets in.In the west end flats the wealthy people sit at meals wrapped in heavy furs.

Food conditions are perhaps slightly worse than they were six weeks ago in Berlin, and prices show a decided tendency to rise again. Germany indeed is in a sorry condition, and is in one of her severest fits of depression.
