CAPITOL—NOW PLAYING

"King For A Night" At Capitol

(A. F. by Guardian's Special Wire) SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 25—The United Air Lines transport plane, missing since Friday with eight persons aboard was found badly wrecked, at the top of Parley's Canyon, leading out of the Salt Lake Valley today.

Don Broughton, pilot of a searching plane, said there was no movement and no sign of life about the craft, which lay nose down, partly concealed by a clump of trees. Frank Caldwell, operations manager of the line at Cheyenne, ordered every effort made to reach the ship. The information he received said the wreckage was only three miles from a highway. He ordered a rescue party to bring out the bodies, indicating a belief that at least part of the group were dead. The operations manager was informed there was no sign of fire about the plane and that it apparently did not crash into flames.

Informed at his home in Lunenburg that there was talk of holding a race within a week or two of the America's Cup meeting, in September, Capt. Angus said he thought that would be "a little too early."

"It'll be around Toronto on the Lakes all summer," he explained, "and we don't plan to bring her home until September."

Fercy—When the housewreckers tore down Smith's house they found a collar-button he lost in 1918. Frige—Well, he knows his own business best, but I would have thought it would be cheaper to buy a new collar-button.

LOCATE LOST AIR LINER

"King For A Night" At Capitol

A generous share of the laughs and the tears in the life of an overnight popular idol are to be found in "King for a Night." Universal's gripping and unusual story, starring Chester Morris, shown for the first time last night at the Capitol Theatre. The picture will remain at the theatre for the next three days. William Anthony McGuire, the noted playwright, has written a realistic and stark screenplay, and all of the players and the director, Kurt Neumann, have contributed to making it an almost perfect piece of entertainment. Morris is ably supported by Helen Twelvetrees, Alice White, John Miljan and Grant Mitchell.

The story is that of a small town in the West where a young boy, son of a clergyman, and a girl, who loves both of whom cheat at love and bring only sorrow and tragedy to him. At the height of his successful career, when he holds wealth and adulation in the palm of his hand, he is overwhelmed by the wrong doing to his loved ones. The climax is vivid and gripping in the logic of its unfoldment.

Photography by Charles Stumar is excellent. Universal not only has given the picture realistic settings but has enlisted the services of real fighters, including a world's champion, Maxie Rosenbloom, to give the ring scenes authenticity.

WILL ASSIST SUGAR BEET EXCHANGE INDUSTRY

(C. F. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Feb. 26—The Dominion government has announced that it will assist the sugar beet industry in Canada, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett told a large delegation of growers today. Representatives of the sugar beet industry from Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia were given a two-hour hearing by the Prime Minister, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, and Hon. Robert Borden, Minister of Agriculture. The government's plan is to establish a sugar beet exchange in Canada, which would be a joint venture of the Dominion government and the growers. The exchange would be financed by the government and the growers, and would be responsible for the marketing of the sugar beet crop. CENTRAL GUARDIAN TO PROTECT REPUTATION OF FISHERY

(C. F. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Feb. 26—The bill for the confiscation of improperly labelled canned fish floundered along in the committee stage of the House of Commons today, encountered an amendment, and finally stood over for further consideration.

Its purpose was to prevent injury to Canada's reputation for canned fish, said Premier R. B. Bennett. He admitted its drastic features and suggested the bill stand over for discussion with officials of the Fisheries Department.

A. W. Neill, Ind. Comm.-Albany, protested against the compulsory feature of the bill which would clothe policemen, excise officers and customs men with power to seize canned fish or shellfish "that bears any false or misleading mark of food which is not the product of the fish as it is correctly labelled." Upon confiscation, the owner of the goods would be convicted automatically and subject to a fine not exceeding $500.

The British Columbia member suggested an ordinary trial be given any owner of confiscated fish and that discretion be given police officers in seizing goods.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, supported the Neill Amendment. As introduced, the bill gave policemen the right to convict when a printing error had been made on the labels and no intent to fraud was in mind.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, supported the bill, claiming the difficulty was to clothe inspectors with sufficient power to curb intentional infractions and safeguard Canada's export trade.

An endeavor had been made by Canada to establish a reputation for its products and this had not been easy as other countries had attempted imitations, said the Prime Minister. There was nothing new in the right of an officer to destroy bad goods, he said. Mr. Bennett was from pointing off something fraudulently or incorrectly represented and which was a fraud on the legitimate producer and on the consumer.

It was admitted the legislation was not perfect, but the change had been recommended by officers of the Department in the light of experience. Not only in stock transactions but in the misrepresentation of the type or origin of goods, there had been a growing tendency to take advantage of a reputation acquired by legitimate producers.

Ball Franchise Transferred

(C. F. by Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Feb. 25—After nearly 50 years of operation in one city, the Jersey City baseball franchise today was transferred to Syracuse, N. Y., at the instigation of President Jack Corbett and with the permission of the International League's board of directors.

Unable to acquire adequate playing facilities in Jersey City, where the present grandstand has been in use since 1904, Corbett, who assumed control of the club last year, asked permission to move to the upstate city after Syracuse civic officials had agreed to erect a modern baseball plant seating 12,500.

Norwegian Wins Speed Events

(G. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OSLO, Norway, Feb. 26—(Canadian Press and Associated Press Cable)—King Haakon and a large crowd of enthusiastic fans today saw Ernst Evensen, Norwegian star, win both the 3,000-metre and 1,500-metre races in the International Speed Skating Championships.

Frank Stack of Winnipeg was seventh in the shorter race and 10th in the longer, while Alex Hurd, of London, Ontario, came 11th in each. The 3,000-metre event was skated instead of the 10,000-metre, because of unfavorable weather conditions that made the ice so soft skates went through the surface, causing frequent spills.

Evensen finished the 1,500-metre in two minutes 48.3 seconds, while Stack's time was 2:55.9 and Hurd's 2:57.7. In the longer race Evensen was clocked in 6:11.3, Stack in 6:38.5 and Hurd in 6:43.4.

In the final aggregate point standing Evensen placed first, Stack 11th and Hurd 15th.

Changes Predicted In Act Regulating Radio Licence Fees

(C. F. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Feb. 26—By The Canadian Press—The present session of Parliament will probably see some changes in the law under which the Department of Marine levies a tax on owners of radio receiving sets.

The fee for radio receiving set licenses is $2 a year. Anyone installing a set pays this fee which carries him through to the end of the fiscal year when another payment becomes due.

During the last fiscal year some 761,000 license fees were collected by the department in the neighborhood of $1,400,000. Figures for the present fiscal year are not complete but it is expected they will be somewhat larger than last year.

About 80 percent of all the licenses are issued by dealers in radios. In addition licenses are issued by post offices and other public offices. The Department also has a system of house to house canvasses to check up on delinquencies.

Ordinary issuers of licenses receive a commission of 15 cents but canvassers are paid somewhat higher.

Week-End Storm Delays Traffic

(C. F. by Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, Feb. 26—A wave of bitter cold swept across Nova Scotia over the week-end, carried down from the north by a whistling gale that roared past the coast and struck hard at shipping along the seaboard.

Ashore, the mercury dropped to five below zero, and the cold was intensified by the piercing wind, so, it was even colder, and ice froze solidly on ships as they bucked the wintry blast.

The Lunenburg schooner Harriet and Vivian, fishing out of Halifax, rode out the terrific gale on the banks off Nova Scotia, and then limped into port Saturday to report heavy damage. The foremast was ripped to shreds; a boom was broken, and one of the ship's doors was smashed.

Her forward deck covered with tons of ice, the steamer Oddvar, a 32-day passage from Immingham, England, with coal, high winds had buffeted her as she entered Halifax and water poured over the deck to freeze almost immediately.

Ruge liners making port felt the storm's violence also. The Alatinia and the Pennland rode out heavy seas as they proceeded from New York to Halifax, and frozen spray reached high up on their towering sides as they put into this port today.

No damage was reported on land, but trains were running a full day behind schedule, held up by heavy snow in Eastern Quebec.

Outward bound liners were delayed, awaiting passengers and mail from Montreal. The Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm, due to leave Saturday night did not leave the pier until Sunday night. She was bound for England.

The Canadian National steamship Chomedy, due to sail Sunday night, waited until arrival of the trains before sailing for the West Indies.

NEW CANADIANS WARMLY WELCOMED

(By The Canadian Press)—Fifty-two Polish men and women, sons, wives or daughters of naturalized Canadians reached Montreal today from New York where they had landed from the liner Koculisko.

The immigrants, admitted to Canada because the heads of their respective families are able to take care of them, were soon scattered after their arrival here, and many entered their new homes in Montreal.

Originally to have landed the immigrants at Halifax, the liner Koculisko altered her course and was direct to New York when heavy weather in mid-Atlantic delayed her journey.

An enthusiastic welcome was given the new Canadians as their train pulled in. Handshakes and kisses expressed the joy of husbands and fathers who had not seen their loved ones in some cases for many years.

RETAINS TITLE EAST JAFFERY, N. H., Feb. 25—Emile St. Godard retained his New England sled-dog championship by driving his crack team, led by the heavily-muzzled No. 1 husky "Toby" over the last 30-mile leg in one hour, 35 minutes and two seconds today.

PROTEST IS UPHELD BY OFFICIALS

(C. F. by Guardian's Special Wire) AMHERST, N. S., Feb. 25—University of New Brunswick intercollegiate hockey champion at a meeting of officials of the Maritime Intercollegiate Amateur Union here Saturday.

The officials upheld a previous "gentleman's agreement" by the provincial universities that only 10 minutes of overtime should be played in an intercollegiate hockey match. In the first game of the championship finals between Mount Allison and U. N. B. 30 minutes of overtime was necessary before Mt. A. broke the deadlock. U. N. B. won the second of the two-game total goal series by a one-goal margin, and tied up the round.

Officials upheld the previous agreement and the first game was ruled a draw, which gave U. N. B. the title.

An argument over the Nova Scotia intercollegiate championship finals was settled by the decision. They ruled that a sudden-death game should decide the title, with the game being played on alternate years at Halifax, St. Francis Xavier and Acadia.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS BEATRICE CAMPBELL

The death of Miss Beatrice Campbell which occurred on February 12th, at the early age of 24 years, cast a deep gloom over the whole district of Cans Cove.

Miss Campbell was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald N. Campbell and was well beloved by all who knew her and had endeared herself to a wide circle of friends. She was of a kind, amiable and lovable disposition and exemplified a truly christian character.

Her primary education was received at Cans Cove School, and later she graduated from Prince of Wales College and for one year taught in New Argyle School and later for a period at Cans Cove, but because of illness in the family she was forced to relinquish her chosen profession.

She was a member of Patricia Lodge L. O. C. B. A., Cans Cove, and a member of Cans Cove Church.

The funeral service, which was largely attended, took place at the residence of her parents, February 15th, with the Rev. G. Carlyle, Minister of 44th Church, Charlottetown, officiating. His text was taken from these comforting words found in John 14—verses one to three.

She leaves to mourn their loss a sorrowing father and mother and one brother Colin and numerous friends.

Interment took place in Cans Cove Cemetery. The pall bearers were: Everett MacKenzie, Colin MacFarlane, Hugh E. Darrach, John MacEvin, Archie Murray and John Ewen MacEvin.

MRS. WILLIAM GILLIS

Silently and peacefully on Sabbath evening, Feb. 18th, 1934, Mrs. William Gillis of Orwell, passed out of the Shadow-land into the rest of the life everlasting in the 80th year of her age.

During the past two years her health had not been vigorous but she continued the performance of her duties until a few weeks ago. She was suddenly stricken with paralysis from which she never rallied, but passed away on the above mentioned date.

Mr. Gillis passed away almost three years ago in the meantime Mrs. Gillis has been residing with her son on the old homestead. Mrs. Gillis was ever a diligent woman and an expert at fancy work. With her needle she wrought out interesting and beautiful designs, one of which she failed to complete.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Gillis might be termed a "Bairds Rest" for those who have had charge of the church's work during the passing years have testified to the kindly greeting, courtesy and respectance enjoyed within their home. Esteemed and respected they have passed on to be united again in the homeland beyond. Over moor and fen, our departed friend has been gently laid and now the night is gone, and now with the resplendent stars of that new life "shone bright" facts which she had loved long since, and lost awhile, are hers to gaze upon once more.

She leaves to mourn their loss, one son, Duncan, residing on the homestead and three daughters, Katie, Mrs. Malcolm McDonald, Emma, Mrs. Edward Hackett, both residing at Orwell Head, and Jessie, Mrs. J. M. Gillis of Halifax, N. S. Also one sister, Mrs. W. V. J. Young of Wainham, Mass., U. S. A. and one brother, John M. Duncan, of Vancouver, B. C.

The funeral took place on Feb. 20th and the services at the home and St. Andrew's Church were conducted by Rev. H. Pierson, assisted by Rev. D. M. Sinclair of Valleyfield.

In St. Andrew's cemetery she was laid to rest beside her husband and members of the family who had passed on before.

The pallbearers were: John Naddy, A. J. McLeod, James Morrissey, D. J. McLeod, James Hughes and Ewen Gillis.

SAILS FOR HOME (C. F. by Guardian's Special Wire) ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Feb. 26—Nova Scotia Technical Hockey squad called for home tonight after an unsuccessful invasion of Newfoundland. The visitors completed their series here Saturday afternoon and took their third straight defeat at the hands of an All-Star St. John's team, 5-4.

It is so splendidly true. Mr. Booth says: "I have suffered from rheumatism and constipation for many years. I have tried Fruit-a-Tives and found it gave me quick relief from constipation and my rheumatism down to both me any more."

A sworn statement to the above effect was made before a Notary Public at St. John's, Nfld., on Feb. 26, 1934.

ROLLO BAY HOCKEY

A large number of fans packed on Rollo Bay ice on Monday evening Feb. 19th when the Rollo Bay team defeated the Parlo Bay team by a score of 8-2. The Rollo Bay team showed themselves to be admirable sports in defeat with as much to their credit.

The line up: Rollo Bay—Goal, Kenneth Burke; Centre, George Francis; R. Wing, Lloyd Jackson; L. Wing, Sterling Reid; Left Wing, Andrew Paton.

Why Vision Is Neglected

It is true that a person may have defective eyes and not be aware of it. The eyes often overcome their defects. That is, though a defect is present, the eyes automatically overcome it, and the person may see to his satisfaction. This is the cause of much physical discomfort, because the eyes in such cases are naturally neglected and strained.
