COLUMBIAN SURVIVORS LANDED AT HALIFAX

HALIFAX, May 19th.—Four emaciated wrecks of humanity, who twenty hours before had abandoned all hope of life, were tenderly carried down the side of the American Revenue cutter Seneca yesterday morning and taken ashore to hospital here, after an experience such as few men have ever undergone and survived.

They alone of fifteen men who took to one of the life-boats, when the steamer Columbian burst into flames with a series of terrific explosions, on May 3rd, survived thirteen and one half days' exposure.

Eleven of their companions died in the boat from hunger, thirst and exposure. Two or three of them died from hunger and exposure alone, but the majority drank salt water, which drove them insane, and one of the last to die, a giant Russian fireman, tried to murder his five companions then living, and was only overpowered after a desperate battle.

The eleventh man to die, Messarion Steward Privee, expired yesterday morning. He prophesied the disaster shortly after the steamer left Antwerp and added that he had dreamt he would be a fortnight in an open boat. When he expired, the four survivors gave up all hope.

The last of the biscuits, on which they had existed for nearly a fortnight, was gone, and every drop of water was used, and the gates of death were looming large in front of them when the smoke of the Revenue cutter was seen, and after a period of breathless anxiety, they were sighted.

The four survivors were Robert Tier, First Officer, Adelaar Belanger, and Oscar Wendall, seaman, and Michael Ludwigen, fireman. Tier is a native of Liverpool and is only twenty-two years old. Belanger belongs to Sherbrooke, Que., and the other two men are Swedes. Tier is suffering greatly from gangrenous feet and probably will lose both members. His feet became frozen and so swollen that his sea boots would not come off and it was necessary to cut them away from the limbs when he was taken aboard the Seneca. The other men are suffering chiefly from exposure and lack of food.

AROUND THE FUR RANCH

Among the visitors in the city at present who are connected with the fur industry is Mr. John B. Howard, of Newfoundland. Besides being a buyer of raw furs, Mr. Howard deals in live silver and patch foxes and owns a fox ranch in Newfoundland.

In view of the reported death of many young foxes in certain ranches this season the Government has deemed it advisable that a circular stating facts duly authenticated be issued by some one of its departments. In consequence a circular letter has been addressed by Mr. Arthur Newbery, the Provincial Secretary, to all fox ranchers asking for certain information regarding all the silver-black, patch or cross foxes owned by them.

The information asked for is not intended to be used for taxation purposes but simply in the interest of the fox industry, to allay the present feeling of uncertainty that exists in consequence of the heavy loss of pups currently reported, and to restore confidence in the industry. The particulars that are asked for from the ranches are the numbers of pairs of breeders; the number of litters produced this year; the number of pups born to date as far as is known; the number of pups lost as far as is known; the cause of death; if known; the number of young pups living, as far as is known; and the number of litters yet expected. Upon obtaining these particulars from all the ranches the Government will issue a circular setting forth the exact position of the industry as regards this season's production. A considerable number of replies has already been received, and the circular will be published as soon after the remaining answers have come in as possible.

FOR GOOD ROADS.

MONTREAL, May 18.—The adaptability of brick to rural highway construction will be the subject of an elaborate exhibit to be held in Montreal, May 18 to 23, in connection with the First Canadian and International Good Roads Congress. The congress is expected to attract hundreds of engineers and road building authorities from both sides of the border.

Many Dominion cities are large users of brick for urban pavement, but the country road of brick is a comparative novelty in Canada. However, its rapid rise to favor in certain of the States has attracted attention and visit from many Canadian highway engineers. The vicinity of Buffalo and Cuyahoga County, Ohio, which contains Cleveland, are the leading brick road localities of the world.

The success of the brick road has been largely due to its performance under the new conditions of power traffic which have played havoc with older types of road improvements. The hardness of brick enables it to withstand the friction and wear of the rapidly running automobile. This quality so appealed to Governor Glynn of New York states that he recently devoted an entire message to the legislature on the advocacy of brick for all main highways in the state of New York.

Cuyahoga County, Ohio, had nearly four hundred miles of this type of rural road, built at an approximate cost of $1,000 per mile for each foot in width. One effect of these roads has been such a rapid rise in rural land values in the country that their increased tax valuation has more than covered the cost of construction.

The brick are laid upon a thoroughly compacted two inch standing cushion, resting on an unyielding base. A great filler is applied in such a manner as to make the pavement a perfect monolith.

Such roads have won their way to the appreciation of auto owners and farmers alike, being equally passable in any season of the year and so drained that every rain washes them clean. Where other types of road require constant vigilance and constant expense for maintenance, a properly constructed brick pavement, according to government authorities in the States, has never yet been known to wear out.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. IVAN HARDY.

The sudden and unexpected death of Ivan Hardy, aged 17 years, son of Mr. Henry Hardy of Mill River east, awakened much surprise and regret throughout the community. Three years ago he was stricken with paralysis from which he never quite recovered. During those years he bore his afflictions with wonderful resignation. He was never once heard to murmur or complain, but was always so kind and cheerful, ever ready to assist as far as his strength would permit. He was a favorite with those of his own age, and admired by friends and acquaintances of more mature years. But none knew or could appreciate his kind, manly disposition as much as those within the home-circle. There he was always at his best. His many acts of kindness and his interest in the welfare of those around him will long be remembered. On Monday 11th of May, 1914, his young life came to a close, after a brief illness which did not appear serious until the last few hours when the Angel of Death claimed him for his own. "then there appeared a smile so fixed, so true, from that fair brow—Death gazed—and left it there."

Those left to mourn are a father, mother, a brother and sister, namely Edward W. and Ada, who have the consolation of knowing that for him death was a messenger of peace.

Oh we loved him, yes we loved him. But the Saviour loved him more. And he has so sweetly called him. To that blessed, shining shore.

DIED TRYING TO SAVE HIS MOTHER

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 18.—Returning home to his mother, a paralytic could not escape a burning Harry Halstead, 23 years old, threw himself into the flames in a burning apartment house in Brooklyn, last night, in an attempt to rescue the woman. Firemen later found his chartered body. The mother, Mrs. Harry Halstead, 65 years old, had been suffocated, the flames scarcely touching her body. The fire was caused by a lighted match thrown on a table cloth by a servant, 77 years old.

TEN PERSONS DROWNED.

BELIZE, British Honduras, May 19.—Ten persons, including two Catholic Priests, recently from Ireland, were drowned on Saturday night when the sloop El Amo sank. Thirteen were saved. The boat upset in a squall.

GO SHY ON ANTISEPTICS

Too free use of antiseptics was discouraged by Dr. John Baptist Blake, who spoke recently at the Harvard Medical School in Boston, on the Diagnosis and Treatment of Lesser Injuries, including the use and abuse of antiseptics. Dr. Blake held that most wounds can be thoroughly cleansed with hot water and gauze, and that only when a wound is grimy is it necessary to scrub it out with tincture of iodine. Carbolyzed salves, he said, had been known to cause gangrene, and most disinfectants insure the issue.

"As for antiseptics," he continued, "the hope has been to discover something which would kill the disease germ, but not destroy the cell. Contrary to the popular idea, however, such an antiseptic is not known. In the treatment of wounds, there are three fundamental considerations: cleanliness, protection and rest. If there should be an excess of blood flowing from the wound, pressure should be applied directly on it, unless it is an arterial wound. In that case, pressure should be applied between the wound and the heart. Burns and scalds should be treated gently. They should be dressed preferably with baking soda and should be kept warm and amply protected. Burns which may not be very severe in any small locality, when spread over considerable space are often fatal, whereas when a burn is extensive in smaller spots the prospect of death is not always so great."

Kill The Flies In Your House Now

Toronto's Medical Health Officers say: "If you come across any flies in your house kill them now." Therefore all good housekeepers should commence using WILSON'S FLY PADS early and continue their use through the season. Remember that every ten-cent packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS will kill more flies than three hundred sheets of sticky paper. Follow the directions carefully to get the best results.
