SATURDAY MORNING NOVEMBER 1, 1906.

SMELT SHIPMENTS.

Referring to the letter of R. C. M. in yesterday's Guardian, stating that smelt shipments by express from Prince Edward Island to Boston and New York are sent round by Montreal, causing delay and loss, we yesterday made an inquiry by telephone of Mr. Henderson, Agent of the Canadian Express Company at this port. Mr. Henderson is not aware of any consignments of smelts being sent round by Montreal. He states that none have been sent by express from Charlottetown except by the direct route through St. John and that shipments are made through the Charlottetown agency of the Express Company from various points about the Island as far east as East Point. This statement is hardly reconcileable with these in R. C. M's letter and we are therefore inclined to think our correspondent has been misinformed.

SHOWING BRITAIN THE WAY.

His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, replying to the toast in honor of himself and the Legislature at St. Andrew's dinner drew attention to some importan questions which had been settled by our local Parliament which the British Parliament had yet been unable to solve. Among these were the free, nonsectarian school question, the tenant rights question, the severance of church and state and the prohibitory law. It is indeed remarkable that the Legislature of this small Province should have gone so far in advance of the Mother of Parliaments in measures dealing with such important matters. It has several times occurred that British statesmen have looked to this Island for light, and have seriously considered the question of following our lead. Those who are accustomed to think of our Legislature as possessing very limited powers, especially since the union with Canada may be reminded in this connection that two of the measures above referred to were passed since confederation. The fact is that the provincial Legislatures have still very important powers and responsibilities.

A few days ago a brief abstract of the judgment of Mr. Justice Meagher in the case of R. I. Hart against the Mayor and City Engineer of Halifax was printed in The Guardian. The abstract was incomplete, the omission being supplied below. Mr. Hart took action to have certain payments declared to be illegal and that they should be repaid to the city. Justice Meagher held that the payments were illegal; and that, "the money being the property of the city the Attorney General would neither be a necessary nor a proper party to a suit by the city for its recovery;" but "that Mr. Hart had no status to recover the same without adding the Attorney General as a party." As to this part of the decision last quoted it is understood that Mr. Hart will appeal.

Croup.

A reliable medicine and one that should always be kept in the home for immediate use is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will prevent the attack if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other harmful drug For sale by all druggists.

THE NEW TARIFF.

The general outline of the new tariff given in our Ottawa despatch of yesterday confirms what had been foreshadowed. There is to be a maximum tariff for countries like Germany and the United States, which have rates of customs duties much higher than our own and which are applied to Canadian goods and products; a minimum tariff, how much lower than the maximum we are not told, and applied to goods from countries which give Canadian products as low rates as they give to a most favored nations; and finally a preferential tariff which will be applied to imports from Great Britain and such of the British colonies as give Canada preferential rates.

With the general principles underlying these threefold rates a majority of Canadians will no doubt agree. The plan affords the means for some sort of retaliation against those countries which have long treated us unfairly in tariff matters, and also for extending favor to those countries which have been disposed to treat as in friendly fashion. It cannot be expected, however that in the application of these principles to the 750 items of the tariff there will be by any means so general an agreement. Very probably, too, the abolition of the old free list and the creation of a new list of free goods distributed among the dutiable items may be objected to. The changes in the schedules are so great that no one but an expert with the full tariff before him would be able to tell by how much the general rate of customs taxation has been increased or diminished. It is quite possible too that experts might differ in their estimates in regard thereto.
